Yet the very element of unpreparedness is what invites most accidents, the chief pointed out, particularly when drivers and pedestrians are unprepared to face the cold fact that accidents do happen, and could happen to them.

"In the interest of finding the Merry Christmas we are shopping for, I'm asking all our citizens to think seriously about holiday season safety rules," Chief Cummings said, and listed them as follows:

1. Postpone shopping trips when bad weather prevails, especially if the family car is not fully equipped for snow, sleet or ice driving—from the properly aimed headlights and strong windshield wipers in front to the tire chains in the trunk, or on the rear wheels when needed.

2. Drive with special alertness in heavy traffic, being very careful for bundle-laden pedestrians.

3. Start early, giving yourself plenty of time to shop calmly and without undue, frantic haste.

4. Do your window shopping from the sidewalk, not from behind the steering wheel of a

Sharp Rise in Idle Workers in Past Month

Compensation Paid Now to Over 1,000 in 5-county Area

Unemployment in Minnesota rose from 46,900 in mid-October to 72,200 in mid-November, according to a monthly report issued Saturday by Frank Starkey, Minnesota employment security commissioner.

Slightly more than 1,000 idle workers in the counties of Pennington, Red Lake, Kittson, Marshall and Roseau served by the Thief River Falls employment office are currently drawing compensation, R. S. Eldevik, manager, stated today.

This number, he added, is approximately the same as last year at this time, and he forecasts a winter's peak of 1,400 or more next February.

The 1960 mid-November jobless estimate was almost 13,000 more than that noted a year ago. It was 5.3 per cent of the labor force, compared with 4.4 per cent the previous year.

There were some indications that the state may experience its most severe unemployment since the winter of 1942 when World War II industrial conversion forced thousands out of jobs.

Analysts noted that even during a period of active economic growth, such as the winter of 1959-1960, the state undergoes a 40,000 increase in the number of jobless from mid-November to mid-March.

Economic indicators for growth this year are unfavorable for any hope that the jobless increase can be kept within the 40,000 mark.

During the 1957-1958 winter, unemployment rose from 51,000 in November to 132,000 by March. A similar experience this year (taking into account the fact that the 1958 recession did not increase unemployment sharply until mid-December) would indicate a total of 140,000 unemployed by March next year.

Other employment security department statistics gave further indications of serious joblessness ahead.

Initial claims for benefits, which had been running behind the 1959 totals earlier in the fall, suddenly zoomed ahead.

For the week ending November 25, the benefit claims were 1,150 ahead of the comparative week for the previous year; by December 2, they were 1,317 ahead and by December 9, they were 2,177 ahead with 7,188 new claims filed.

Bemidji Band Has 3 Area Members

The Bemidji State college band, directed by Edgar B. Gangware, has several members from this locality, including Bill Svendsgaard of Goodridge, Kay Wik of St. Hilaire, and Twila Larson of Newfolden.

GIFTS for children at the Cambridge hospital were collected for the fifth year by employes of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company commercial, traffic and plant departments. Clarice Collins, Elsie Higdem and Marge Dunham, from left to right, examine some of the gifts which will make Christmas happier for the children.

MEMBERSHIPS in the Northern Blood Bank association were taken out by over 200 persons Friday and Saturday, December 16-17, and late returns are expected to bring the total near 500, it was reported by Mrs. Curtis Charlson, chairman of the Mrs. Jaycees committee which sponsored the drive. Dell Christianson, left, filled out his application card at the Union State bank booth, which Mrs. Gary Forsberg, center, and Mrs. Ralph Foster, right, maintained. Jolene Forsberg, center, also helped. Other registration tables were set up at the Northern State bank, the S&L store and the Hartz store.

Stores Open Five Nights This Week

With the last-minute rush of Christmas shopping in full swing, local store patrons are reminded that Thief River Falls stores will be open until 9 o'clock tonight thru Friday, and will close Saturday afternoon, Christmas Eve, at 4:30.

Downtown grocery stores will remain open evenings only on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

With Christmas falling this year on Sunday, virtually all local business places will remain closed the following day, Monday, December 26. The same arrangement will be in effect Monday, January 2, after New Years Day.

Stores reported that, in spite of brisk sales in recent weeks, they still have good assortments of items suitable for Christmas giving.

TRF Bank Debits Rise 4 Per Cent During November

Bank debits for Thief River Falls in November rose from $8,336,000 in 1959 to $8,698,000 this year, a gain of four per cent, according to the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. During the same month, Crookston gained 12 per cent from $10,471,000 in 1959 to $11,698,000 in 1960, while East Grand Forks gained 21 per cent from $5,687,000 to $6,908,000. Bank debits are considered an index of business activity.

11 State Electors Cast Ballots for Kennedy This Noon

The formality was part of the electoral college system, by which the presidential winner in each state traditionally wins all that state's electoral votes.

Minnesota electors are present and past DFL leaders and faithful party workers.

Had Vice President Richard Nixon won Minnesota's popular vote in the Nov. 8 election, a slate of Republican electors would have met to cast 11 electoral votes for him.

As it turned out, the Kennedy-Johnson ticket defeated the Nixon-Lodge slate in Minnesota by 22,000 votes.

Representing the Ninth district is Francis Jordan of Detroit Lakes, Becker county DFL chairman. The other two electors were named by the state DFL convention.

In Freeman's office the electors were polled by the person chosen as chairman on how they vote for president and vice president.

The vote certificate will be sealed and sent to Washington, where certificates from each state will be opened at a joint session of the house and senate on Jan. 6, 1961.

The party was attended by 115 people. Out of town guests were C. G. Buoen, general chairman, B. of R. T., Minneapolis; E. R. Olgney, secretary of the general committee, B. of R. T., Stevens Point, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Avis, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rheame, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hegquist, all from Minneapolis; and Mr. and Mrs. L. Engebretson, Soo Line agent, Gully. Victor Aalbu Concedes L. J. Lee's Election

Gonvick Man Drops Election Contest; Loses by 11 Votes

After checking the reports of the ballot inspectors in the 65th district legislative contest, which indicated that L. J. Lee of Bagley had defeated Vic Aalbu of Gonvick for state representative by a margin of 11 votes, Aalbu announced Friday that he had moved for dismissal of the recount proceedings instituted by him.

In the recount, Aalbu had gained a net total of twelve votes, reducing Lee's margin of victory from 23 votes to 11. The decision to drop the proceedings followed an inspection by Aalbu of 27 contested ballots reported by the inspectors in Red Lake and Clearwater counties, which he figured would be divided about 50-50 between the two candidates.

Although the recount turned up several errors in vote counting, Lee held a lead of 11 votes over Aalbu as second high vote getter in a four way race for two posts the new figures show.

Clearwater:
Wichterman	2023
• L. J. Lee	2551
Vic Aalbu	2813
Irv Beyer	672
Pennington:
Wichterman	3146
Lee	2444
Aalbu	2886
Beyer	1280
Red Lake:
Wichterman	1291
Lee	886
Aalbu	973
Beyer	1468

The figures indicate Aalbu gained 10 votes in Clearwater, five in Red Lake and eight in Pennington, for a total of 23; however, Lee gained 11 votes in Pennington county. Ten of Lee's gain was in the second ward in Thief River Falls.

United Fund Drive Nets $8500 to Date, 40 Pct. of Its Goal

Christmas Rush Delays Completion of Campaign in Business District

Christmas shopping and business have slowed down the United Fund drive in Pennington county but a total of $8,500, 40 per cent of the $21,372 goal, had been reached by this morning.

"Scattered but good" returns have come in from the rural area and others are expected this week, according to Albert Koop, rural drive chairman.

Mrs. Agnes Israelson, chairman, and Mrs. R. J. Dryden, co-chairman, of the residential drive have reported contributions have been better than expected. More than $100 has already been turned in to the United Fund office in the Northern Chevrolet company showroom.

Christmas shopping has slowed down the return of envelopes by merchants in the business district drive and Dr. O. D. Beich, chairman, has requested that these contributions be turned in as soon as possible. Some business places with the largest number of employes have not yet reported the result of their drives but are expected to do so today.

Patricia Nadeau Speaks Vows with Charles Davis

Patricia A. Nadeau and Charles J. Davis, both of Oklee, were united in holy matrimony Saturday, November 19, at 10 a.m. in the St. Francis Xavier Catholic church in Oklee. Rev. Paul A. Cardin officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Nadeau of Oklee, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Davis, also of Oklee.

Bronze and yellow mums graced the altar as the organist, Sylvia Remick of Oklee, played the tradional nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white velvet featuring a bouffant skirt with alencon trim lace at the waist. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a modified scoop neckline accented with alencon lace and pearls with long Mary Stuart sleeves. Her three-quarter length veil fell from a crown of lace and pearls and she carried a bouquet of a white orchid surrounded by gold-lipped sprays of feathered mums and fern.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Janet Nadeau of Oklee with Mrs. Jerry Gerardy of Plummer and Jeannie Ergeson of Oklee, sisters of the groom, as bridesmaids. They were attired in identical dresses of gold velveteen with full skirts, three-quarter length sleeves, round neckline and silk organza cummerbunds. The maid of honor carried a bouquet of bronze tone mums while the bridesmaids had gold tone mums in identical bouquets.

Renne Nadeau of Oklee was flower girl and wore a white velveteen dress fashioned like that of the bride with a wide cummerbund and head band of silk organza. Craig Ergeson was ringbearer and wore a dark tuxedo.

Serving as best man was Jerry Gerardy of Plummer, brother-in-law of the groom, with Charles and David Bachand of Brooks as attendants.

A wedding dinner for the bridal party and 50 guests was given by the bride's parents at the Oklee Recreation with a supper at the groom's home given by his parents. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for 150 guests. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table.

Postoffice Clarifies Rule on Carrying 1st Class Mail by Plane

Postmaster R. J. Dryden today made public a statement by the postoffice department clarifying the status of letters bearing four-cent postage which are sometimes transported by airmail on a space-available basis. The statement reads:

"The Department's program for transportation of first class mail by air is not designed to provide service comparable to that accorded airmail. The handling given this 4c letter mail differs widely from the priority treatment provided mail prepaid at airmail rates. Matter bearing airmail postage receives preferred handling throughout the postal service. It is kept separate from the mass production handling of first class letter mail wherever possible and moves through special channels which are geared to the speediest possible movement both at the office of origin and destination.

"Air carriers are required to handle airmail on a priority basis on specified flights and to give airmail preference over all other cargo, including baggage; in loading, unloading and transferring to other planes. First class mail, on the other hand, is transported at the option of the air carriers when space is available and does not move with any stated frequency. Moreover, there is no guarantee that the 4c letter mail will be flown between the points named.

"The marked difference in the handling given 4c letters, as compared wih letters bearing 7c airmail postage, is emphasized in order to avoid any misunderstanding as to the service being provided under the program for transportation of first class mail by air."

Carbon Monoxide Is Winter Peril

State Automobile Group Suggests Precautions

Accidental deaths from carbon monoxide gas poisoning reach a peak during the winter driving season, the Minnesota State Automobile Assn. (AAA) pointed out today, as it called for extra caution by motorists to avoid this tragedy.

Hugh M. Craig, executive secretary of the motoring organization, offered the following advice for motorists to avoid the possibilities of carbon monoxide gas:

1. Never warm up your car's engine in a closed garage. Either open the garage doors, or better yet, drive the car outside to warm up the engine.

2. When your car becomes stalled in snow or mud, or while waiting in the car, don't keep the engine running to keep warm unless fresh air is entering the car constantly.

3. If your car is stuck in a snowbank, be sure to shovel the snow away from the exhaust pipe before starting the engine. A snow-clogged exhaust can force fumes back into the car.

4. When standing in a line of cars, shut ventilators as a protection from the exhaust fumes of the cars ahead.

5. Become acquainted with the symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Children Falsely Report Traffic Mishaps and Fires

Police today reported several calls were made to the department Saturday afternoon by children about traffic mishaps which turned out to be false alarms when police went to investigate.

Police Chief Elton Cummings said the children also made three calls to the fire department.

Cummings emphasized the gravity of such an offense and said the culprits, if apprehended, will be severely dealt with. He said several children about 10 years of age were apparently having a party while their parents were away and that the calls ceased before it was possible to get a lead on their source.

Cummings also reported that complaints were received that two Fosston youths had recently solicited magazine subscriptions in the city and split the entire proceeds between themselves.

The youths have been apprehended and will be brought into the Polk county juvenile court, Cummings said.

4-H Radio Speaking Contest Set Jan. 28 By County 4-H Council

The Pennington 4-H Council set January 28 as the date of the radio speaking contest at their December meeting last week. All 4-H'ers who are 14 years of age or over are urged to use the materials available at the county agent's office and to prepare their talks during the Christmas vacation, stated County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Original information or library materials may also be used in preparing the 5 to 7 minute talk. The topic is "How I Can Help Promote World Peace."

Other events discussed by the council were national 4-H Week to be held March 4-11; dairy demonstrations to be given at the Winter Shows February 21 and 22; and the fire control program.

The Fire Control program is to get under way in Minnesota on March 1. Business firms in the state will be cooperating by purchasing reflectorized signs for cars. 4-H'ers will obtain signed pledges from citizens not to burn off grass or tree cover.

The 4-H building received further attention with Albert Koop explaining the position of the county fair board with regard to the building.

Miss Gregory, Lincoln art teacher, presented an interesting demonstration on Christmas art explaining many decorative items for the home and in gift preparation.

4-H'ers wining Chicago trips presented talks on their experiences. Mary Ann Lendobeja and Bruce Russell reported on their trips to Chicago National 4-H Congress and Robert Rausch on his International Livestock Exposition trip, sponsored by the Jaycees.

The Rocksbury 4-H club was in charge of decorations and caroling. Virginia Finstad, junior leader, introduced the number. Bonnie Finstad and Carol Breiland pantomimed "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth" and Miss Heagle, Lincoln Phy Ed-teacher, led the council in caroling.

The December meeting and the 1960 year were concluded with recreation led by Mrs. Maurice Steiger and Mrs. Robert Hirst of the Black River 4-H club.

Cost of Schooling in U.S. Increases

Grade and High Schools Will Spend $16.4 Billion

The nation's public elementary and secondary schools will spend an estimated total of $16,746,135,000 this school year—more than $91 every man woman and child in the United States.

Reporting this Wednesday, the National Education Association said it represents an increase of $1.2 billion, or eight per cent over last year, and 153 per cent over the $6.5 billion dollars of just 10 years ago.

The total includes almost $12 billion in current expenses, slightly over $3 billion in capital outlay for new buildings, etc., and almost half a billion in interest charges.

The NEA also reported current enrollment in the public schools has reached 37,244,287 including 25,265,620 pupils in elementary school and 11,978,664 in secondary school, a one-year overall increase of 1,296,347.

Elementary school enrollment this year is three per cent higher than last year and 33 per cent higher than 10 years ago. Secondary enrollment is up 4.2 per cent over last year and a whopping 76.6 per cent higher than the 1950-51 figure.

The figures were reported by the NEA's research division in a 32 page booklet, "Estimates of School Statistics, 1960-61."

FIRST Pennington County won first place in the soil testing program conducted in 1960. The top honors come to the county through the work and co-operation of fertilizer dealers, the Chamber of Commerce, the information media and the banks at Thief River Falls, who worked with the county extension office in promoting the program. Shown above is County Agent Pauls Stelmaschuk who was presented a plaque left, by Mr. Rupp, editor of The Farmer Magazine during the Soil & Fertilizer Short Course held in St. Paul a week ago.

Runner up counties in submitting the most soil samples per 100 farms were Roseau, Marshall and Rice.

A total of 165 farmers participated in the campaign, bringing in 667 samples from 20,382 acres, or 13 per cent of the total cropland in production in Pennington county.

Wassail Cheers
With the Christmas holidays fast approaching, you might consider reviving an ancient form of toasting with a "Wassail" Bowl. It's filled with hot spiced beer. For 12 servings, core 12 apples and fill each with a teaspoon of brown sugar. Bake in oven 30 minutes. Combine sugar and spices in a 4 quart saucepan. Add 1½ cups of orange juice, 1½ cups of cranberry juice and 2 quarts of beer or ale. Heat, but do not boil, for 15 minutes. Serve in punch bowl and float baked apples on top. Wonderful for after skiing or sleigh rides, too.
40 to 60 Degrees
Surprising how various countries differ in the temperature of their beverages. Americans seem to enjoy beer chilled from 38 to 42 degrees, while Europeans think that is so cold that one can't savor the flavor and aroma. They drink their beer at 55 to 60 degrees and in England they think it best at room temperature.
Smart Party Plan
While most standard American "cocktails" contain at least 150 calories, a four-ounce cocktail glass of beer contains only about 52 calories! Best of all, beer provides the dieter with healthful vitamins and minerals too. Next time, why not try it?

OF DEER AND DOGS, BOOKS AND BOWLERS

Then there's the Hibbing man who shot a deer out season—in self defense; when the big buck took out after him they circled a tree until the duck hunter got his shotgun in position, then there was nothing to do but report to the game warden, who readily concurred in the necessity. . . In remodeling a Perham home the owner found a copy of Sander's Union Fifth Reader dated 1867, and a "Revised Parser" vintage 1876. . . . David Fareau, White Bear Lake, joins the thin ranks of the perfect-score bowlers. . . Fifty years ago at 5 Fred Scoggin worked with his three older brothers in distributing the Saturday Evening Post in Independence, Iowa; recently at 55 he entertained the city of International Falls where he still sells the Post at his hotel newsstand. As a result of all of which Mr. Scoggin is featured in the December 3 Post. . . Robert Dykhuizen of Wayzata was hard-put to part from his beloved German Shepherd on going into military service, so the obliging recruiting officer enrolled 'em both for basic training in the same Texas camp.

Ron Hanson Scores 40 Pts. to Whip Crookston

Sparked by the record-breaking 40-point performance of lanky Ron Hanson, coach Jack Junker's Prowler cagers marked up their fourth successive win of the season by defeating the Crookston Central Pirates, 70 to 50, in a Northwest and district conference game played here Friday night.

On Friday night, Dec. 23, the Prowlers will travel to Fosston for an inter-district game against coach Stan Otness' Greyhounds, one of the favorites for the 30th district title.

When Hanson, the Prowlers' six-foot seven-inch center, rolled a lay-up into the east basket with 1:23 remaining of the fourth period, the lanky center had tallied his fortieth point to set a new Prowler single game scoring mark. Hanson's total bettered by one point the previous record established by Dave Hanson, who scored 39 points against the Kennedy Rockets in a Region Eight tournament game in 1957.

The Prowlers played their best basketball in the first half of Friday night's tilt, gaining a 16 to 11 lead at the end of the first period, and a 38 to 20 margin at the half time intermission. In the first period, with the Prowlers shooting at the west basket, Hanson notched four field goals and a free throw, getting his fielders from in close.

In the second period, Don Ulferts, showing power on his drive-ins, scored four field goals, and Hanson added three field goals and six free throws to give coach Junker's club a commanding 38 to 20 lead.

Opening the second half of play, the Prowlers appeared sluggish and the result was that the smaller and ever-hustling Pirates took control of the game. The Pirates' with guard Bob Miller, hitting on one-handed shots from the outside, pared the Prowler lead to 44 to 32 with two minutes of the third period to play. Three field goals by Hanson, and a field goal by Gary Anderson boosted the Prowler lead to 52 to 33 at the end of the quarter. In this period the locals were guilty of numerous misplays, being erratic in their floor play and committing minor infractions.

Hanson easily earned the game's high-point honors with his 40-point effort. But runner-up scoring honors were gained by Crookston's hard-driving guard, Dale Johnson, who scored eight field goals and six free throws for a fine 22-point performance.

Thieves Sr. Sextet Whips St. Boniface Elks Sunday 9 to 4

Special Old Timers Tilt Being Planned for Next Sunday on Arena Rink

In an entertaining senior hockey game played on the Arena rink on Sunday afternoon, the Thieves, with Les Merrifield and Jim Hall each scoring a pair of goals, defeated the St. Boniface, Manitoba, Elks Club team 9 to 4.

A special Old Timers game is being arranged for next Sunday night, Christmas, with former Thieves and former Prowlers hockey players meeting in a game.

In Sunday afternoon's tilt here, coach Paul Bedard's Thieves, on goals by Cat Offerdahl, Hall, Merrifield, and Sid Bonaime, moved into a 4 to 1 lead in the first period, Lindsay Gregg, on an assist from Chuck Sabo, accounted for the lone St. Boniface tally.

The Thieves increased their lead to 7 to 2 in the second period, with Merrifield, Hall, and Chipper Strand scoring for the locals.

Joey Poole and Les Merrifield, former North Dakota Sioux stars, performed ably for the Thieves. Ed Thomlinson, who was to have joined the two players to form a "Sioux" line, was unable to be present for Sunday's game.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A New Record

Records, of course, are made to be broken and the fans who were in attendance at the Crookston Pirates vs. Prowler basketball game here on Friday night saw a new Prowler single-game scoring record enter the books. These fans, and they included coach Bun Fortier of the Bemidji Lumberjacks, saw Prowler center Ron Hanson loop in 15 field goals and ten free throws, for a 40-point performance, to better the old mark of 39 points.

It was in March of 1957, during a first round Region Eight tournament game against the Kennedy Rockets, that center Dave Hanson (who, incidentally, is a double cousin of Ron, and who was in attendance on Friday night) scored 15 field goals and nine free throws for 39 points and a record. Dave's mark bettered the total of 37 points that he had scored a week earlier in a district tournament game against the Crookston Pirates.

In team athletic activity, individual records are incidental to the basic aim, which is victory through well-coordinated effort. But is does add some color to the activities to make note of the individual efforts and performances.

Congratulations, Ron.

A Moral Victory

Coach Bob Peters and his East Grand Forks Green Wave hockey squad has every right to feel pleased as they left town on Saturday night after holding the defending Region Eight champion Prowlers to a 2-all tie. It marked the first effort of the East Grand Forks school in class A competition in Region Eight hockey, and the tie game should certainly be a boost for the East Siders and give the boys much needed encouragement for this season's play and for the succeeding seasons.

While the Prowlers were disappointed in being held to a draw, and realize that they did not play a very effective brand of hockey, it must be admitted that the Green Wave were an aggressive and ever-hustling squad. The East Side forwards were very persistent and effective in their backchecking and provided protection for their masked goalie, Dale Stauss.

The Prowlers had quite a margin in the on-goal shot department, with Stauss being credited with 27 stops, and Tom Teal of the Prowlers having but eight saves. That the Green Wave squad should come up with a capable goalie is to be expected as the East Grand Forks coach, Peters, is a former goalie, and a good one. Peters, who was declared ineligible during his sophomore year at North Dakota university, is a native of Fort Frances, Ont., and as a junior goalie up there he showed tremendous promise. In fact the Detroit Red Wings of the NHL made arrangements for Peters to attend a tryout camp, and it was on this point that Bob was declared ineligible for college play.

Experiment

Sports Illustrated magazine reports the results of an experiment conducted by Michigan game and fish experts as follows: "Put six experienced hunters inside a mile-square fenced woodland. Then add 39 deer. Question: how long before one of the hunters spots a deer? Michigan scientists recently made this test. The answer: four days."

There is a marked similarity between this report and the experiences of the Jim Disse deer hunting party. The only difference being that in the Disse party there were seven hunters, one of whom was experienced, and they weren't restricted by any fences.

Sentiments

We received a welcome note, written very neatly, by a southpaw, we believe, that contains some sentiments about sportsmanship that merit repeating.

The note, from a sports fan in the Goodridge area, states that "Sportsmanship is something that . . . you cannot steal or buy . . because it is a product of . . . how hard you really try . . . It's the spirit of the heart . . . you put into a game . . . to play it fair . . . without regard for any claim to fame . . . It is the emblem of your soul . . . as you are real sincere . . . in striving to be worthy of each handshake and each cheer . . . and more importantly . . . the strength to take it standing up . . . when you feel you should have won a medal or a cup . . . Sportsmanship is honest play and taking things in stride . . . as you perform your best so God . . . is always at your side."

Mike Aune Scores Four Field Goals for Locals

EGF Hockey Team Ties Prowler Six

Trailing by a 2 to 0 score with less than six minutes of play remaining in the final period, coach Bob Peters' East Grand Forks squad, on a pair of unassisted goals by defenseman Bob Kobetsky, gained a 2-all tie with the Prowlers in a Region Eight hockey conference game played here Saturday night. The two teams played a five-minute overtime period, but were not able to break the deadlock.

This week, on Friday night, coach Gene Sack will take the Prowler squad to Crookston for a conference game against coach Dave Hendrickson's Crookston Central Pirates.

The Prowlers 'B' squad coached by George Schlieff, will meet the Red Lake Falls 'A' squad here on Tuesday night, Dec. 20, at 7:30 P.M. And on Friday night will play a preliminary game at Crookston against the Pirates' 'B' squad.

After being held scoreless in the first two periods of play on Saturday night, although the Prowlers gave East Grand Forks' goalie several anxious moments, coach Sack's club entered the scoring column at the 3:10 mark of the third period when Keith Poppenhagen's shot, from twenty feet out, hit the right-hander corner of the north goal. Dennis Erickson set up the play by giving a pass to Poppenhagen.

The East Siders rebounded with a goal at the 6:42 mark when Kobetsky, recovering the puck in the Prowler zone, angled a shot into the south net from twenty feet off the left of the cage. And with but seconds of play remaining, and the East Siders skating short-handed, Kobetsky came in on a solo rush to lift a backhand shot into net for the tying goal, scoring at the 11:25 mark.

Problems of Credit Plague Farm Supply Co-ops in Minnesota

Declining farm income, added production costs, drought and poor crops in some areas all have contributed to the large credit increase.

In a 1959-60 credit practices survey of 52 farm supply cooperatives, Victor F. Amann and E. Fred Koller, agricultural economists at the University of Minnesota, found credit transactions now account for 68 per cent of all sales. This compares with 52 per cent in 1950.

Total sales in these associations increased from just under $17 million in 1950 to over $24 million in 1959—a rise of 45 per cent. At the same time accounts receivable shot up by 245 per cent, rising from about $721,000 to nearly $2.5 million.

Although credit is available to most farmers through production credit associations, local banks and other lending institutions, the amount of open account credit continues to climb because farmers find it more convenient and because they consider it as credit without interest charge.

Associations with the smallest sales volume have had a larger increase in receivables than the average of all associations. And those with the largest percentage increase in sales also had the largest per cent increase in receivables, an indication that they boosted sales by granting easier credit.

Amann and Koller found wide variation in the use of credit from season to season. Monthly accounts receivable have peaked at 114 per cent of the monthly average in October and dropped to 77 per cent in January, low point for the year.

Credit sales have shown a greater variation than accounts receivable, running up to 130 per cent of the monthly average in May but only 79 per cent in December.

A decline in total sales and credit sales during part of the crop season is not reflected in the level of accounts receivable—evidence that a large part of the supplies which are charged are not paid for until after harvest.

One measure of the effectiveness of credit policies is days' sales in receivables, found by dividing accounts receivable by average daily sales. This ratio more than doubled between 1950 and 1959, climbing from 15.2 to 31.2 days over that period. Financial analysts suggest a desirable goal of 15 days.

Supply cooperatives are now carrying a greater proportion of their credit for longer periods. The proportion of total accounts which were outstanding over one year nearly doubled in the past decade, ranging from 5.2 per cent in 1950 to 10 per cent this year.

Past studies, say the economists, indicate that the longer an account is outstanding the greater is the probability of loss, especially for products like petroleum which are consumed while they are on account.

Farm supply cooperatives have had relatively little success in convincing farmers to shift to financial institutions for their credit needs. There has, however, been some increase in use of outside financing for petroleum purchases.

Many cooperative managers say that a good credit risk for the bank or other lending agency is also a good risk for them. But supply cooperatives are not financial institutions and money tied up in receivables might be invested more profitably elsewhere.

Not all credit sales are bad sales, Amann and Koller point out. Some organizations can handle large amounts of credit successfully.

But the credit problem is becoming more acute. Management must understand that a loose credit policy is a costly and inefficient way of doing business. Patrons should be encouraged to obtain their credit needs from specialized credit agencies. Cooperatives would benefit from better collection methods which would enforce their stated credit policies.

Editorials . . .

"Of all the old festivals, that of Christmas awakens the strongest and most heartfelt associations. There is a tone of solemn and sacred feeling that blends with our conviviality, and lifts the spirit to a state of hallowed and elevated enjoyment. The services of the church about this season are extremely tender and inspiring. They dwell on the beautiful story of the origin of our faith, and the pastoral scenes that accompanied their announcement. They gradually increase in fervor and pathos during the season of Advent, until they break forth in full jubilee on the morning that brought peace and good-will to men. I do not know a grander effect of music on the moral feelings than to hear the full choir and the pealing organ performing a Christmas anthem in a cathedral, and filling every part of the vast pile with triumphant harmony."

—Washington Irving

The Proper Approach

Good citizens of several southwestern Minnesota communities are saying nasty things about each other because they cannot agree on whether there should be more state-supported colleges in the area, and if so, where they should be located. Considering the financial condition of the state at the present time it probably would be well to let these good citizens continue their argument for a few years and delay action until they have come to some reasonable understanding among themselves. If by that time the state has become solvent again, maybe something should be done about it. Certainly now is not the time.

Up here in northwestern Minnesota our situation is less controversial. In this corner of the state we are not in need of more schools of higher education. The most urgent need, from the standpoint of the state as a whole, as well as the best interests of this area, is to improve the schools we now have.

The state now supports two State colleges, one at Moorhead and one at Bemidji. The Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston has served a useful purpose over a period of many years. The Area Vocational School here at Thief River Falls, established more recently, is growing steadily and is serving an area need. There is a privately operated college at Moorhead that is gaining recognition thruout the area, and our good neighbors over in North Dakota are favoring us by operating universities at Fargo and at Grand Forks, and a vocational school at Wahpeton. Fergus Falls is approaching its community problem by establishing a junior college.

Some of the good people at Crookston would like to have the farm school converted into a college, operated as a branch of the University, and their position is understandable. Some of us here in Thief River Falls would be happy if the state would expand some of its activities in our community. We know, however, that there is not a need for a third college in northwestern Minnesota, and a college at Crookston, which is within easy commuting distance from the University of North Dakota, cannot be justified just to serve the desires of the Crookston community. Minnesota just isn't that rich.

Here in northwestern Minnesota the need is not more schools but better schools. And when we say better schools we do not mean more elaborate facilities or expanded curriculums. As we see it, the farm school at Crookston probably would be improved by expansion. The state colleges at Moorhead and Bemidji probably are already overexpanded, and would provide a better service for the area if they concentrated more on the essentials. They now are extravagant and wasteful—wasteful of taxpayers' dollars and students' hours.

Education is a problem of top importance to all of us, but it is a problem upon which good people disagree. The most severe criticism of educational processes and practices comes from educators themselves, and that is as it should be.

At a recent national gathering of educators in Boston, the Commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Education said some interesting things. He advocated a full school day and a full school year as "a must."

> "The present practice of operating school 180 days per year (or less) is a bequest of an agricultural society of the last century and is now as outmoded as a classroom lighting system based on the kerosene lamp," he said.
> "Mediocrity has no place on the American educational scene, and to attempt to move forward with mediocre teachers parallels the money-saving scheme of the penny-pincher to operate his high-compression car engine on low-octane gas."

In other words, before we add more school facilities, let's be sure we are using our present facilities to the maximum of their capacity. And let us maintain high curriculum and teaching standards. As our school operations become more efficient, and as we eliminate the foolish frills, the cost of maintaining higher standards will be within our means.

And this should be the approach to the problem of higher education in northwestern Minnesota, and in southwestern Minnesota. This is the approach the Legislature should insist on for the operation of our public schools at all levels.

The New Cabinet

All of the top positions in the Kennedy Cabinet have now been filled and we no longer need to speculate on the nature and the character of the administration that will direct our government during the next four years. Reactions thruout the country seem to be generally favorable. Considering all of the conflicting interests that must be reckoned with in the selection of Cabinet members, Senator Kennedy's starting line-up for these difficult assignments must be given a high average rating.

During the time that these selections were being made, we heard little about Senator Lyndon Johnson, vice president-elect. We get the impression that this job of being president is going to be a one-man show, or possibly a two-brothers act. This is going to be one of the interesting angles to watch after the curtain goes up and the action starts.

While it may be said that the new Cabinet is representative of some of the special-interest groups and factions within the Democratic party, it appears that the cabinet members are much more conservative than the party leaders who drafted the convention platform.

Danger Ahead

Minnesota has already established a new record highway death toll as we are reminded that we are moving into one of the most dangerous periods of the year for highway accidents. It is during the year-end holiday driving season that our highways are most hazardous, and that is the time, of course, when we should be most careful.

A spokesman for the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators calls attention to the causes of accidents that, while always present, are a greater menace during this holiday season. Speeding, drunken driving and fatigue account for most of the trouble. Many of the occupants of cars whose drivers are both sober and alert are the innocent victims of another driver's recklessness or incapacity.

Because holiday accidents are so preponderantly due to avoidable causes the traffic administrators suggest these rules for making highway travel more safe:

> "Be courteous, cautious and considerate, as you surely would be on an average day or trip. Avoid driving when fatigued; keep alert with frequent coffee breaks. Always keep a window open in the car; fresh air helps prevent drowsiness. And obey all traffic regulations."

Canadian View

President Eisenhower's appeal for greater participation by allied nations in the costs of defense and aid to underdeveloped nations, as a means of maintaining a strong dollar, has met with a generally favorable response thruout the free world. In neighboring Canada the following observations by the Montreal Star are typical:

> "During the earlier postwar years, half the world was suffering from a dollar shortage. Now the United States has decided to take steps to protect the stability of its own currency, and this turnabout will come as a surprise to many. The American problem was described by Governor Coyne in his recent Toronto speech as follows:
>
> "For the past year or two the United States has been concerned, and the outside world has been concerned, about a so-called deficit in the U.S. balance of payments which has caused an outflow of gold from the United States to Europe. Actually the United States does not have a balance-of-payments deficit in the usual sense, not an excess of imports as in the case of Canada, but there has been a capital outflow on the part of both foreigners and Americans, part of which takes the the form of a withdrawal of gold."
>
> "President Eisenhower has sought to control this situation not by interfering with normal investment processes, not by diminishing its military and foreign aid programs, but by cutting down on what might be termed 'frills'.
>
> "It is a major proposition of the free world coalition that the defense of its values rests fundamentally upon American strength. There will be no complaint therefore about the emergency measures now taken though some of them will undoubtedly diminish the degree of prosperity in the countries which have benefited by American spending. There is, however, another lesson which is that, as the partners and allies of the United States gain in economic strength they must pick up more of the burden carried so unflinchingly and for so many years by Washington.
>
> "There have indeed been many warnings to this effect for some time past. They should be heeded, for if the remedial measures now proposed are not sufficient, they will inevitably be followed by others. From a political point of view this may be no bad thing. So long as the United States was paying so large a part of the total costs of free world defense, Washington was entitled to call the tune. Some of its allies raised objections to this. But the trend of the future will be to spread the burdens more evenly. American domination of the coalition thus becomes less. The alliance should become more of a partnership in which more than one voice is to be heard in the big policy-making decisions."

Farm & Home Week at 'U' Opens Jan. 17

Program January 18 to Feature Home Gardens

An all-day program tailored to fit the needs of home gardeners will be a feature of the 59th annual University of Minnesota Farm and Home Week on the St. Paul campus in January, according to J. O. Christianson, director of agricultural short courses.

"Horticulture for town and country living" will be the theme of the day's sessions scheduled for Wednesday, January 18. Other Farm and Home Week programs are planned for Tuesday, January 17 through Friday, January 20.

Planning the home grounds, preparing the soil for planting, selecting trees and shrubs and planting the flower garden are topics to be covered at the morning session which opens at 9 a.m. in Room 102, Horticulture building.

Suggestions on the home fruit planting, the vegetable garden and the indoor garden will be given during the afternoon program. Speakers will be University horticulturists and soils specialists.

Home gardeners will have an opportunity to ask questions on garden problems of a panel composed of Roger Conklin, Ramsey county agent; George Roadfeldt, Hennepin county agent; John Lofgren, University extension entomologist; and Herbert Johnson, University plant pathologist.

All sessions of Farm and Home Week are open to the public free of charge. In addition to the horticulture session, programs have been planned on almost every phase of homemaking and agriculture. A complete program for Farm and Home Week may be obtained by writing Office of Agricultural Short Courses, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

Concordia College Plans Party Here

Annual Event Scheduled Wednesday, December 29

That's the line that will announce to Cobbers in a three-state area the opening of another Concordia Christmas radio party. All ears will be on Fjelstad Hall north lounge at Moorhead at 9:05 p.m., December 28.

Telephone or telegram messages received for the 15-minute broadcast will be transmitted over WDAY, Fargo, and KFYR, Bismarck. A Concordia operator will be on duty between 7:30 and 9:05 p.m.

Jim Anderson will MC the program coordinated by Carol Haynes. Both live in Moorhead. Christmas greetings will be extended by President Knutson.

Students and prospective Cobbers are invited to attend a party in the city nearest them. Local chairmen and the cities where parties will be held include Carol Nesland and Jan Torgerson, Thief River Falls.

In event of disaster, the 50,000 radio-dispatched trucks in commercial fleets are available for rescue or relief operations. Some 2,000 radio transmitters are now operated by firms using trucks.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

A serious erosion problem faced Williard Kreitlow in 1945 when he took over his 205-acre farm near Howard Lake. Fifty percent or more of the topsoil already washed away from slopes which ran as steep as 19 percent. Kreitlow contour stripped his entire farm, shaped and grassed the gullies and established a rotation with more land remaining in grass.

According to J. E. Ellis, Wright county conservation agent, Kreitlow's conservation measures have boosted his crop production, saved his machinery and increased the livestock carrying capacity of his farm.

Terracing is now an indispensable part of regular farm work for Donald Sendager, Tyler. But this hasn't always been the case. Sendager says, "I was all ready to work my terraces out when we got 3 inches of rain in 20 minutes. The terraces saved 5 acres of soybeans for me." Twice in three years terraces have helped save Sendager's crops by preventing run-off water from accumulating in a low area. Although the low spot is tiled, the tile can't take care of the surface water. Sendager is a cooperator with the Lincon County Soil Conseravtion District.

Diversion terraces really do a good soil conservation job for the Tradup Brothers, who farm near Elgin. "Two years ago," they report, "we built a diversion terrace above one of our sloping fields to keep the water from running all over. Now we want to do the same thing above the rest of our fields." The Tradups have added over 2,000 feet of diversion terraces this past year. They are cooperators with the Wabasha County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Life Expectancy up 22 Years Since 1900

The average infant born in this country today can expect to live almost half-again as long as one born in 1900, Health Information Foundation reported last week.

In its monthly statistical bulletin, "Progress in Health Services," the Foundation discussed the medical and social implications of increased life expectancy.

"Life expectancy," the Foundation pointed out, is a hypothetical measure often used as an overall indicator of health levels in a population. Expressed as a number derived from a "life table," it shows for a given time-period the average lifetime to be expected by a population if at each successive age it experiences the mortality rates prevalent during that time-period.

A baby born in 1900, H.I.F. said, could expect to live 47.3 years, while one born last year has a life expectancy at that time of 69.7 years—the highest ever recorded in this country for the total population.

Although both males and females have benefited from increasing life expectancy in this century, greater gains have been made by females. Thus, while life expectancy for males rose from 46.3 years in 1900 to 66.4 in 1958 (a gain of 20.1 years), the comparable rise for females was from 48.3 to 72.7 (a gain of 24.4 years).

The Foundation pointed to a number of social consequences arising from the trend toward longer life, notably: a record growth in the number of aged persons, an increase in the working lifetime of the average person, a decline in the number of orphans, and a general postponing of widowhood to the later years.

According to George Bugbee, Foundation president, the increase in life expectancy is "one of the most fundamental changes to affect our country in this century." Not only has the average lifespan lengthened, he said, but "the years of working life have greatly increased and family life has been strengthened. The great majority of parents to day will not only live to see their children grow up, but can also look ahead to some reasonably active later years."

On November 10, 1960, the U.S. Marine Corps celebrated its 185th birthday.

Governor-elect Elmer L. Andersen was presented with a prize Minnesota turkey this week by Fillmore Trites, Henning, Minn., president of the Minnesota Turkey Growers Association. Trites made the presentation as he invited Andersen to speak at the state convention of the association on Feb. 3 and 4.

Andersen pledged his support to programs designed to maintain Minnesota's position as the nation's number one turkey producer.

An identical turkey was presented to Governor Orville Freeman in appreciation for his efforts in behalf of Minnesota's turkey industry.

Safety Council Urges 'Dry' Holiday Parties

The National Safety Council again is urging business and industry to dry up the Christmas office party.

"Our figures prove," said the council, "that the early hours of the Christmas holiday are the most dangerous. And many of these highway accidents can be traced back to the office party and its flowing bowl."

This is the third straight year the council has asked its 8,000 business and industrial member concerns to take a long, hard look at their office parties and either keep the cork in the bottle or eliminate the parties.

The effort to remove highball hilarity from office parties is a highlight of an intensive campaign the council is waging to hold down the year-end accident toll, traditionally the heaviest of the year.

The campaign will begin December 1 and continue through New Year's day. Its theme will be "Keep Christmas in your driving."

The council is seeking the active support not only of business and industry, but of religious leaders of all faiths, public officials, traffic police and civic groups in a united nationwide effort to hold down the usual year-end surge of accidents.

Discuss Development of Thief R. Watershed

Minn Historical Society

Army Engineers and Other Officials at Meeting on Tuesday

Problems to be considered in the development of the Thief River watershed were discussed at a meeting sponsored by the Thief River Watershed Development association at the Rex Cafe Tuesday noon. Present at the meeting were representatives of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Soil Conservation Service, the federal Fish & Wildlife service, the state division of Game and Fish and local representatives of agriculture, sportsmen's clubs and business.

The meeting was called at the suggestion of Col. W. B. Strandberg, chief engineer of the St. Paul district of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers who was uncertain as to whether there is justification for continuing the survey of the Thief River to determine the adequacy of the present channel of the river in relation to drainage developments in the eastern area of the watershed.

This uncertainty, he stated, was due in part to a decision by landowners in the upper reaches of the Mud river not to proceed with a proposal for drainage improvement submitted by the Soil Conservation Service under the provisions of the small watershed act.

He was concerned, he said, about the extensive holdings of land in the area by the state and whether the state would pay its share of the cost of the proposed drainage. He also expressed concern about what appeared to be a lack of cooperation by the various interests in the area in an effort to agree upon a plan that would best serve the interests of all of the groups.

Harlan Backhus, assistant state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, reviewed briefly the proposals that had been submitted to land owners in the Mud River area of eastern Marshall and Beltrami counties. He stated that the estimated cost of the complete plan was $1,500,000. This cost could be reduced by about one-half, he said, if the improvement were limited to eastern Marshall county. If approved by Congress the federal government would participate in the cost to the extent of one-half.

William D. Sweeney explained the position of the Fish & Wildlife service in relation to the area. Regardless of the Mud Lake operation his agency would be interested in the preservation of wild life habitat in the area, he said. He explained that the drainage of all lands above

Local Junior College Group Takes Stand on Institutions in Area

The Thief River Falls junior college committee met last Wednesday evening to record their thought on the subject of higher education in Northwestern Minnesota. A round table discussion developed and from it came the following five-point resolution.

It was the consensus of the committee that the position of Thief River Falls on higher education should be:

1. That Thief River Falls support the junior college development proposal as a better means of obtaining higher education for obvious reasons.

2. That if junior colleges are developed, it should be done by means of a state subsidy program somewhat commensurate with present state branch appropriations.

3. That Thief River Falls favor the improvement of Bemidji State college to better saisfy the needs of Northwestern Minnesota higher education.

4. That Thief River Falls favor the continuance of the Crookston N.W. School of Agriculture and Research center as it is presently being operated as there is a need for an institution of that type in this area.

4. That Thief River Falls favor and promote the improvement of its area vocational school on the basis of its merits and on its record proving its worth and need.

Participating in the discussion was Dr. A. E. Jacobson, chairman; Dr. M. D. Starekow, Dr Orlon Beich, A. L. Williamson, Superintendent Marshall Hankerson, Don L. Olson, W. E. Dahlquist and Roland K. Larson. Other members not present are C. L. Charlson, Don M. Olson, Jim Winjum, Sr., Jim Roche, Arnold Pearson and J. J. Womack.

The group also discussed state school aid appropriations and it was the consensus of the group that local school officials should be instructed to aggressively attempt to at least maintain the present foundation aid system. the results of the meeting are to be presented to local legislators, Sen. Roy Wiseth and Reps. L. J. Lee and B. M. Wichterman, and local people who will be lobbying in the 1961 session of the legislature.

Bruce Russell, State Champ in 4-H Tractor Program, Is Honored

Bruce Russell, 16, of rural Thief River Falls was honored at a luncheon at the Rex cafe in Thief River Falls Tuesday, December 20, by officials of the Standard Oil company, for being the Minnesota state champion in the 4-H tractor program.

As state champion, Bruce was awarded an all-expense trip to the 39th annual National 4-H club congress held in Chicago November 27 to December 1 by the Standard Oil Foundation, sponsor of the 4-H tractor program in Minnesota and 13 other midwest states.

Council Meets with Business Agent of Union

Action Deferred on Proposed Pay Raise for City Employes

First reading of an ordinance setting the mandatory retirement age of city employes at 65 years was heard at the regular monthly meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, December 20.

Also included in the ordinance was a section clarifying the position of regular and shift employes in regard to holidays and vacations. Wording in the original ordinance in regard these matters had raised some questions as to the intent of the council.

The retirement section of the ordinance also includes a grace period of three years for employes near or beyond the 65 year limit to take into account those who had not made retirement plans.

The session, which was an unusually long one, was principally concerned with questions presented by Earl Arneson of Minneapolis, business agent of the Teamsters union which represents city employes.

Arneson opened with the question of whether the council had a counter proposal to the union request for a $26 a month cost of living increase for supervisory employes. Other city employes will receive an increase of five cents an hour plus a cost of living increase determined by the U.S. department of labor index which will be available about the middle of February.

Following prolonged discussion on the matter, the council countered with an offer of 5 per cent for most supervisors which brought about considerable discussion on the responsibility of various supervisors and the pay received, particularly in the case of the airport supervisor.

The matter was tabled for further consideration.

Harold Johnson, superintendent of the water department, presented a map of water main breaks during the past three years as requested at an earlier council meeting. The breaks have been mainly in th west section of the city south of Sixth st., the map showed, and have been caused mostly by corrosion of pipes by soil.

According to Johnson, there have been 61 water main breaks in the city in three years which cost $11,893 to repair. He asked for additional time for further study of possible new valves in the west side area, enlargement of some mains and other matters before making an estimate on the cost of replacing the mains.

D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer, also recommended more time for study of the situation adding that the possibility of locating a new water tank in the west section of the city should be considered when considering replacing existing water mains.

TRF Schools Meet Requirements for TB Control Award

No Infection Is Found in Any of the 2,838 Persons Tested, Mrs. Race Reports

All Thief River Falls schools have met the requirements of the American School Health association for the control of tuberculosis and have applied for certification said Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse.

The response to the Mantoux testing program in November was very gratifying, and the results, too, were most satisfying, she stated.

From a total of 2,838 tests given by Dr. Flancher in the five schools, there were only nine new reactors among the students and five among the adults. These people were given a chest x-ray along with the old reactors, and no evidence of disease was found on anyone.

Participation of 95 per cent of the student body and 100 per cent of the school personnel is required for certification. The cooperation of the parents and students was so unusual that every school more than reached 95 per cent, said Mrs. Race.

Two schools, St Bernard's and Northrop had 100 per cent tested, Washington had 99 per cent tested and Knox 98.7 per cent.

Lincoln high, even though lowest, had 96.3 per cent participation. The area vocational school took part in the tuberculin testing survey also, with 98 per cent participation.

NEXT JAYCEE MEETING TO BE THURSDAY, JANUARY 5

Due to the rush of the Christmas holiday season, the next meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce has been put off until Thursday evening, January 5, John Eisbrener, president, stated today.

CONGRATULATIONS were extended to Bruce Russell, second from right, and his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Russell by A. K. Reed, right, manager of the Duluth sales district of the Standard Oil company at a luncheon in the Rex cafe Tuesday noon, December 20. Bruce, a member of the Steiner 4-H club, won the state championship in the tractor program. He won a trip to the national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago November 27 to December 1, given by the Standard Oil Foundation, sponsor of the 4-H tractor program in Minnesota and 13 other mid-west states.

Christmas Rites Set by Churches

A full schedule of festival services has been arranged by Thief River Falls churches for the week-end. Trinity church will hold services Christmas Eve, Saturday, at 10:15 p.m., and on Sunday at 9 and 10:15 a.m. Zion church plans Christmas Day rites at 9 and 11 a.m.

GIVES OUT YULE BASKETS

Envoy Carl Paulson of the Salvation Army stated today that a number of out-of-town needy families have been notified to call at the Army hall before 5 p.m. today to receive their Christmas baskets, while Thief River Falls recipients have been notified to call Friday from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m.

Merchants Decide to Close Friday Nights until Before Easter

Stan Pladson, retail trade committee chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, stated today that results of the 1961 retail store hour questionnaire have been tabulated and compiled.

A large portion of the ballots distributed were returned showing that 28 businesses "do not" want year-around Friday evening openings and 10 businesses "do" want 12 month evening service. Thirty-eight businesses cast their ballots. "The consensus of the vote," according to Pladson, "was that TRF retail stores will not be open on Friday nights from January 1 until two weeks previous to Easter."

Additional comments made for future consideration, Pladson stated, were that Monday nights be thought of as a possibility, that when stores are going to open nights they remain closed until noon on the same day, that stores be open two nights or more per week, that we leave the issue status quo, that the spring opening be made into a gala promotion and that stores stay open Monday and Friday nights and close Saturday noon.

"This varied comment," states Pladson, "indicates that the TRF merchants are interested in best serving the trade area and that the questionnaire idea in itself was a good one."

Window Display in Ward Store Set up by Local Students

Lincoln Distributive Education Class Sets up Attractive Display

As most passers by have probably noticed, the center window of the Montgomery Ward building has been decorated by the Lincoln high school Distributive Education class. Since the project was first mentioned by Roland Larson, Chamber of Commerce executive secretary, and discussed with Clifford Wiklund, high school D.E. coordinator, it has served as a good lesson in school-community cooperation for the students involved and for the businessmen downtown. The props, merchandise and mannequins were provided by local merchants and the ideas and work of setting up the display were taken care of by the D.E. class.

The Northern Woodwork Co provided the students with the picture window frame in the window, Hamilton's Clothing loaned their mannequins and some of the clothing. Poppler's brought in the furniture, Penney's clothed the young lady in the window, the Junior shop clothed the baby and the Jewel Box provided the glassware seen on the coffee table.

Other merchants who gave of their time, materials or advice were Don M. Olson of Coast-to-Coast, Bob Bredeson of Bredeson's Cleaners, Gene Gaer of Ben Franklin, Bill Eckstrand of Ace Hardware, and Bruce Hall of Hall's Flower Shop.

The project was good experience for the Distributive Education students, said Wiklund, and they sincerely hope that they have accomplished their purpose, which was to brighten up an important downtown corner which otherwise would have looked rather drab during the holiday season.

Large Audience at Lincoln Christmas Pageant Tuesday

High School Choirs and Orchestra Combine to Give Enjoyable Program

An audience that filled the Lincoln high school auditorium Tuesday evening enjoyed the presentation of an excellent Christmas pageant and concert given by Lincoln students.

The program opened with vocal selections by the Lincoln Singers and by seventh and eighth grade vocalists, followed by the pageant adapted from "Ben Hur", which offered unique scenic effects, including a group of angels hovering against a realistic sky background. Robert Egge, English instructor, served as narrator.

The Lincoln concert choir, directed by Bryant Ulseth, also rendered a cantata, "The Wondrous Story", accompanied by the orchestra under the direction of James Solsten.

Final Hearing on Ditch 76 Tonight

The final hearing on repairing County Ditch 76 south of St. Hilaire will be held this evening, Thursday, at 7 o'clock in the court house, County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr stated today.

95,737 Acres in Pennington Co. to Stay in Soil Bank

Contracts to Terminate on 1,309 Acres in 1960, Says ASC Office Manager

A total of 95,737 acres of cropland in Pennington county will remain out of production under Conservation Reserve contracts in 1961, according to Patrick W. Culkins of the county ASC office. This land will remain in reserve under contracts entered into in earlier years of the program. It may not be cropped or used for grazing for the life of the contract. An annual payment is made in the fall of the year near the close of the cropping season.

Contracts will terminate on 1,309.6 acres of county land at the end of 1960. Land emerging from the Conservation Reserve because of contract termination may be kept idle for twice the number of years it was under contract without reducing future acreage allotments on the land. This is provided under a new law effective last fall, which ASC officials hope will encourage participants in the Conservation Reserve to keep former allotment crop acreage in vegetative cover after contracts expire.

Nationally, Mr. Culkins said, contracts expire on about 90,000 acres at the end of 1960, leaving approximately 28.6 million acres in the Reserve in 1961.

Sandra Nordling, G. Hendrickson Are Wed at Oslo

Sandra Marie Nordling of Oslo became the bride of Gordon Peter Hendrickson of Grygla at a double ring ceremony in Zion Lutheran church at Oslo, November 19, at 8 p.m. Rev. Paul Guldseth officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nordling of Oslo and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hendrickson of Grygla.

Miss Lynda Durkin of Oslo presided at the piano for the nuptial music. Mrs. Clarence Peterson of Goodridge sang "I Love You Truly", accompanied by Mrs. Earl Peterson and Duane Rabeseth of Oslo sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Durkin, while the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of lace over net and taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline and long sleeves which came to a point at the wrist. The bodice and bouffant skirt were covered with appliques of lace pattern. Her three-quarter length veil fell from a white pearl crown and she carried an orchid with feathered carnations on an open Bible, belonging to her sister, Arlys.

Serving as maid of honor was Margaret Ann Nordling, sister of the bride, of Hermidale, Illinois, with Mrs. Virgil Collins, sister of the groom, of rural Thief River Falls, and Miss Arlys Nordling of Oslo as bridesmaids.

The maid of honor wore a green street-length dress featuring three-quarter length sleeves and scoop neckline while the bridesmaids wore identical beige dresses. All wore white feather hats, decorated with sequins. Their pearl and rhinestone earrings were a gift of the bride. Baby variegated bronze roses surrounded by yellow and bronze mums made up their bouquets.

Debby Rude of rural Thief River Falls was flower girl and wore a white dress similar to the bride's. Tommy Collins was ring bearer for his uncle and carried a white velvet pillow.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Nordling wore a Nile green jersey dress and Mrs. Hendrickson chose a light blue dress of acetate rayon. Both wore corsages of bronze roses and carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception for the couple was held in the church parlors. A three-tiered wedding cake baked by Mrs. Rudy Rude, sister of the groom, was decorated with yellow roses and topped by a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Rudolph Eggen of Warren, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Beatrice Stokkas of Oklee, aunt of the groom, cut and served the cake while Mrs. Gunda Myrum of Oklee, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Carl Anderson of Oslo, aunt of the guest book was Arlette Flaten bride, poured. Serving at the of Grafton, North Dakota, with Lelita Kallenback and Myrna Peterson arranging gifts. Waitresses were Carol Eggen of Warren, Ruby Eggen of Grand Forks and Carol Juelson of Grygla. Mmes. Freedmon Martin, Carl Hoff, Garnet Durand, Harold Olimb, Alfred Loge and Wm. Hoff assisted in the kitchen.

Following a wedding trip to Winnipeg the couple are making their home on a farm near Goodridge. The bride is a 1957 graduate of Oslo high school and a 1959 graduate of Mayville teachers college. The groom is a graduate of Goodridge high school and attended vocational school here and Bemidji State college. Both are grade teachers in the Goodridge public school.

North Central Has Carried 1,000,000 Passengers in '60

System Reaches New Milestone for Local Airlines Last Sunday

North Central this weekend became the first of the nation's local airlines to carry more than a million passengers in a single year, according to Frank N. Buttomer, vice president, traffic and sales.

Buttomer said the millionth passenger of 1960 was boarded Sunday.

"This is a milestone, not only for our company but for the entire local carrier group," Buttomer said, "and assures our continued leadership in this branch of the airline industry."

Buttomer said the company's growth is best dramatized by the fact that it took 7½ years of operation to get the first million passengers, two years to board the second million, and 16 months for the third million.

"This, however, is the first time any of the locals has even approached the million figure in any one year."

The Minneapolis/St. Paul-based airline increased its system by nearly 30 per cent this month with the addition of 15 new Michigan cities, bringing its route mileage to nearly 6,900. North Central became an international carrier Dec. 1 when it inaugurated service to Canada at Port Arthur/Fort William, Ont., from Duluth, Minn./Superior, Wis., and from Houghton/Hancock, Mich.

Merry Christmas

We wish you, your family and our many friends everywhere the joys of an old-fashioned, merry Christmas and holiday season.

Public Opinion

Editor the Times:

My column, Candid Comment, is more and more infrequent with the passage of time, it seems, but I feel certain current developments, justify the time and effort in pecking out a few words of comment. The opinions contained herein are based on the verfied facts available to anyone who seeks certain truths about the subject.

Like everyone else, the writer was appalled by the loss of life caused by last Friday's mid-air collision, and feel the public should know certain information which never seems to reach the open. It is for this reason it is necessary that this article be printed in the public opinion column, rather than under my usual column heading.

The writer of this piece has been a pilot (approx. 1200 hrs.) since 1912 and has been studying aviation news and other literature constantly to stay informed since becoming involved with flying. Thus he considers himself better qualified to speak on such matters than the average layman, or even more experienced non-pilot newsmen who must depend on second-hand material for information needed in writing an aviation piece. While there are many excellent sources of material available to writers, there is no substitute for first-hand experience.

Which leads us to the point involved, that the resignation of General Elwood Quesada as administrator of the Federal Aviation agency is a good thing for civil aviation as a whole, and it is hoped President-elect Kennedy will appoint a man more experienced and in sympathy with civil aviation.

Quesada had a fine military career and his appointment to head FAA in 1958 was hailed far and wide as a most excellent choice. It was felt he would do a job in civil aviation comparable to what he had done as an air force leader.

The very qualities which made him such a good air force officer, if anything, had a derogatory effect in his duties as FAA administrator and his tenure in that office has been marked along the way by often violent disagreement between the office he holds and those whom his rule affects. Attitudes held toward Quesada by such aviation organizations as the Airline Pilots' association (ALPA), Aircraft Owners and Pilots' association (AOPA), Flying Farmers, state aviation operators associations, aviation trades associations and the like have grown from casual, to cool and finally, downright frigid the past year or so.

Probably, to sum up his faults briefly, one would have to blame his unpopularity on two major points; lack of appreciation of the problems affecting the various segments of aviation (there are many) and lack of finesse in his dealings with civil aviation as a whole.

Quesada forgot, apparently, that when he was a general he had almost unlimited financial resources with which to buy equipment. Civil aviation, particularly the lower echelons, has to make do with whatever the individual pocketbook will cover. For instance, if the low-salaried owner of a $500, fifth-hand Cub is required to equip it with radio equipment of almost equal value in order to base it in the Minneapolis area where he lives, that man naturally isn't going to like the fellow who made the ruling. And so on up the line.

For instance, one proposed new ruling by the outgoing FAA head would have made it almost necessary for aerial applicators such as our local Rantanen Flying Service to hire a bookkeeper for every plane in service. Obviously the operator couldn't afford it, nor could the farmers afford his services. It is small wonder the flight service operators in a neighboring state voted unanimously to have their state aviation director write demanding Quesada's resignation—after he made a series of proposals adversely affecting their livelihood. (The director wrote, too, with gusto!)

Rather than welcome the voluntary testimony of pilots who reported near collisions similar to Friday's disaster, Quesada made it a practice to penalize pilots who reported such instances whether it was their fault or not. This resulted in the drying up of a source of information which, after study, could have led to better traffic control and less chance of mid-air collisions. Just what, if any, connection this may have with last Friday's collision cannot be conjectured. In any event, the policy of punishing pilots who try to help achieve greater safety is foolhardy.

While the exact cause of last Friday's collision is yet to be pinned down the administrator has made uncalled-for statements which tend to make one of the airlines involved the goat in the case. A violent controversy has resulted from this bull-in-the-china-closet handling of affairs. It would have been far better if no statement whatever had been made until something definite can be proved.

Another feature of Quesada's reign in FAA is that, contrary to the law, in Quesada's eyes the accused is guilty until proved innocent. Most of those accused by FAA stay guilty, too— very few can afford to appeal to a federal court for redress!

This abuse of power during Quesada's administration has been so flagrant that Sen. Clair Engel (D-Cal.) and Rep. Williams (D-Miss.) chairman of the house aviation sub-committee introduced nearly identical bills in their respective houses of congress in 1960 to curb the almost unlimited power of the administrator given him under the federal aviation act of 1958, a hastily-drawn and passed bill which came in the wake of the mid-air collision over the Grand Canyon earlier in 1958. The two bills by Engel and Williams were not acted upon but will be re-introduced. How they will fare is anybody's guess.

All in all, this problem is not for Washington alone to discuss but for all of us because all of us are affected by our loss of privilege in using the air-space above us. There has been too much dictation from the top, too little representation from the bottom, in aviation affairs.

This writer is but "a small voice crying in the wilderness" against the wrongs being perpetrated against all of us in the name of aviation safety. Unless you, the public, wake up soon, you may discover you no longer have the privilege of flying in the air above you except in a commercial airliner or a military plane. "Safety regulations" which seldom are applicable to non-commercial aviation, and which often border on the ridiculous are fast making it too expensive for anyone else to own a plane. But, you'll be paying for aviation facilities just the same.

Merry Christmas and Happy Income Tax Returns!

TRF Municipal Court Metes out Penalties

Four persons were arrested by the highway patrol. Edward Van Overbeke, Chatham, Ont., forfeited $20 bond on a charge of driving a truck over the legal length.

John Henry Hansen, city, forfeited $17.50 on a speeding charge, while Stanley B. Lemky, [illegible] 2 pleaded guilty to failure to heed a stop sign and was fined $15. Lloyd R. Knutson, city, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $17.50.

Sheriff Charles Richards had two persons in court. Rueben Carl Hanson, St. Hilaire, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants and was fined $100 and his license was revoked.

Duane Kulseth, Virginia, was fined $25 on a citizen's complaint of careless driving. Kulseth had pleaded guilty last week but sentencing had been adjourned until this Monday's session.

Kulseth also was found guilty after trial of another charge of careless driving, also on a citizen's complaint, and was fined an additional $25. An accident was involved in each case.

All other cases were brought by city police. Ernest A. Rud, Middle River, pleaded guilty to misrepresentation of age by a minor (19) in order to buy liquor and was fined $25.

Five persons forfeited $10 bond each on parking violations after warrants had been issued. They were Ed Grosz, Moorhead, William Cook and Richard Leaf, Minneapolis, Howard Megorden, Detroit Lakes and Lee Brayton, Rochester.

An error appeared in last week's court story in which Walter Johnson, Goodridge, was listed as having been fined $150, suspended, for selling beer to a minor. He was actually fined $100 with $50 suspended.

Mud Lake would add to the difficulty of maintaining satisfactory water levels within the reserve but saw no reason to believe that the interests of his agency could not be protected without obstructing the development of the watershed for agricultural purposes and he gave assurance that the Fish & Wildlife service would cooperate in every way in the development of a plan that would best serve the needs of all in the area.

V. E. Gunvaldson of Bemidji, regional game manager of the division of game and fish, stated that the division's position was basically the same as that expressed by Mr. Sweeney for the federal Fish & Wildlife. He said that at no time had the division resisted development of the area for agricultural purposes, that its officials believed in cooperation and would go along with any program that could be developed.

Expressing the views of land owners in the area were Oliver Howland of Grygla, Delmar Hagen of Gatzke, Sophus Bjertness county commissioner of eastern Marshall county, Senator Roy Wiseth of Goodridge, Judge Paul A. Lundgren of Thief River Falls. Replying to charges that the state was acquiring land in the area for wildlife purposes contrary to a promise by Dr. Selke, Commissioner of the Department of Conservation, that no action would be taken toward developing an expanded program until the study of the area and an overall plan of development had been completed, Mr. Gunvaldson stated that no lands had been acquired for such purposes. Residents of eastern Marshall county stated the Mud River development plan had been tabled but had not been rejected.

Following a general discussion of the problems, Robert Calton, chief of planning and reports for the St. Paul district of the U. S. engineers, explained that while much preliminary work in the survey of the Thief River has been done, to complete the report would be costly and could not be justified, unless there were reasonable assurance that a sound development program, supported by all groups, could be financed and would be approved.

At a short business session of the Watershed Development Association, it was decided that the steering committee for the proposed Mud River project should call another meeting of land owners in that area for a final determination of their position in regard to the recommendation of the Soil Conservation Service. Another committee will be named, representative of the various groups interested in the Thief River watershed, to study land classification possibilities in the area with the view of determining a policy of development that will be satisfactory to both agriculture and the agencies speaking for wildlife.

The meeting was opened by Julian Rodahl, president of the watershed development association, who called on W. E. Dahlquist to preside.

Council Confers with Union Agent Tuesday Evening

Elton Cummings, police chief, introduced John Zeigler, Jaycee safety committee chairman, who presented a model bicycle safety ordinance for the council's consideration and possible adoption. The matter was referred to the city attorney for study.

Robert Wurst, city attorney, reported that the committee concerned with the improvement of the river pool had met with representatives of the county, affected townships and legislators who had responded favorably to the proposal. Wurst told the council that Rep. Ben Wichterman had asked him to be in St. Paul to help draft special enabling legislation this week for presentation to the state legislature and asked council approval for the trip. The council acted favorably in the matter.

Renewal of 24 cigaret licenses was approved as was a fidelity bond for Daniel A. Illies, airport supervisor.

Building permits totaling $6,375 were approved. They included: Orin Benson, Highway 59 E., domestic garage, $1,000; Henry Hoard, 325 Zeh st. W., domestic garage, $375, and Shetler's Feed Mill, 700 block on Davis av. N., addition, $5,000.

Following the reading of a petition from Duane Ostrand, 909 Tindolph av. S., that his property be annexed to the city, the council ordered the city attorney to prepare an ordinance for that purpose.

Following final readings, two ordinances were adopted by the council. The first sets load limits on city streets at five tons per axle during most of the year and three tons during the spring breakup period. The second ordinance raises the garbage collection fee from 50c to $1 a month but increases the number of pickups from two to three a week.

Resolutions were adopted for the payment of $12,909.86 for work done in the city. Included were: J. J. Nagel, storm sewer district two work, $196.60; Stewart & Walker, Inc., engineering in storm sewer district two, $108.23; Central States Construction company, storm sewer district three work, $3,804.55; Stewart & Walker, Inc., engineering on 1960 street improvement project, $2,777.17; Acme Construction company, 1960 waterworks improvement, $29,292.61; O. P. Electric, waterworks improvement, $2,972.42, and Mahnomen Construction company, gravel for 1961 street improvement project, $2,661.12.

The council approved a letter to be sent by the purchasing department to all departments in regard to the handling of purchase orders.

Mayor Orin Green reported that taxis will meet all incoming passenger trains. He also requested the council to act in the matter of complaints made to the police department by the Stewart hotel manager. The council directed the city clerk to write the manager that the city is doing its best to cooperate in the matter of parking in the loading zone in front of the hotel and asking for her cooperation in regard to the matter.

First Baptist to Offer Christmas Cantata Sunday

"The Music of Christmas" is the cantata which will be presented by the chorus choir of First Baptist church on Christmas evening, Sunday, at 7:45 p.m. Most of the numbers are based upon less-used Christmas carols and melodies. Some old favorites will be used, however. There are ten selections which cover the Christmas story as recorded in Matthew and Luke.

Besides the numbers by the entire choral group there will be numbers by both the women's and men's chorus and the "Harmonettes" trio. Soloists will include Lucille Melby, Marji Dalzell, Gloria Melvie, Carl Gustafson, Morgan Ellingson and Rev. W. R. Dalzell.

The program will be in the form of a candlelight service and is open to the public. Rev. Dalzell is director of the choir.

A Real Finisher

The fans who were in attendance at the senior hockey game at the Arena on Sunday afternoon, between the Thieves and the St. Boniface Elks Club, were treated to an entertaining exhibition of hockey.

One of the features of the game, which found the local squad scoring a 9 to 4 triumph, was the play of right wing Les Merrifield. The chunky winger, who was a star member of the North Dakota Sioux sextets of the past several seasons, proved to be an expert at finishing off scoring plays. In the first period, Les picked up a loose puck in center ice, raced in on goalie Len Weeks and, with a deft feint, drew the St. Boniface netminder out of the cage and then flipped a backhanded shot into the North goal. Weeks was sprawled helplessly on the ice when Merrifield tapped in the goal.

In the second period, Les broke in on the net for another shot, and this time Weeks, anticipating another deke, refused to be decoyed into a move. But Merrifield, instead of sweeping across the goal mouth, whipped the puck into near corner of the net, again surprising the St. Boniface goalie.

Another feature of the game was the playmaking and skating of center Joey Poole. The former Prowler all-state tournament choice was tremendous. He, too, was a member of the North Dakota Sioux a couple of years ago, and last season was a member of the Minneapolis Millers of the International league. Joe and Les, who have completed their college athletic eligibility, are continuing their studies at North Dakota. Joe is in Phy. Ed., while Les is in Engineering.

It is to be hoped that Ed Thomlinson, another former North Dakota Sioux player, and who was to have been here on Sunday, will be able to join Joe and Les to form a line. What a skating trio this will be! It is an inspiration for the city's younger hockey players to watch such players as Joe and Les in action.

There is to be an "Old Timers" game at the Arena on Sunday evening with a couple of teams of former Prowlers and Thieves engaging in an exhibition. There will be a number of players home for the holidays, and they will be anxious to take a turn or two on the Arena ice. Game time is at 8:00 p. m.

The Second Time

When Mike Hajostek brought his Red Lake Falls Eagles hockey squad into town on Tuesday evening for a game against the Prowler 'B' team, it marked the second time that a former Prowler hockey player had sent a team against his old school's team. Mike's Eagles, a young squad, dropped a 4 to 2 decision to coach George Schlief's 'B' squad in a game played on the Arena ice.

The Prowler 'B's' on goals by Jim Ranum and Wayne Loeffler, gained a 2 to 1 lead in the first period. Ducky Hanson notched the tally for the Eagles. And after a scoreless second period, the Prowlers added a pair of goals in the third period when John Weigelt and Ranum scored. Louie Proulx's score, early in the period, knotted the game at 2-all, only to have Weigelt bang in a rebound to break the tie.

Mike, who is in his first year as varsity hockey coach at Red Lake Falls, was a Prowler hockey player during the early 1950's. In 1952-53, he, along with goalie Bill Maruska, co-captained the Prowler hockey squad.

The first former Prowler hockey player to coach a high school team against the Prowlers was Jimmy Doyle, an all state tournament defenseman with the Prowlers back in 1945. Jim, who attended Michigan State University, and was captain of the Spartan hockey squad in his senior year, was coach of the Warroad Warriors for a couple of seasons. Jim is far removed from ice hockey these days, being a teacher in the Fort Lauderdale, Florida, school system.

The Curlers

The rink skipped by Herb Hartje won the bonspiel that was concluded at the Fair Grounds curling arena on Sunday evening. Hartje's quartet defeated the Otto Saugen rink in the finals.

League play will commence after the New Year holiday, and skips are busily engaged in forming rinks. Everett Amundgaard is endeavoring to form a rink that will have Otto Ruprecht and Everett Yonke as members. Yonke is a bit hesitant about joining the squad as he is too busy with his farm work. He did say, though, that if he was able to hire three or four good men to do his work, he would be able to find a couple of hours a week for curling.

That should be quite a rink, and it should add considerable "color" to the activities at the Fair Grounds curling club.

Middle River Quint Edged by Nordics

Newfolden Scores 29-27 Victory Friday Evening

The Newfolden Nordics downed the Middle River Skippers, 29 to 27, in a game played on the Skippers' court on Friday, Dec. 16. This gives the Nordics a 2-1 record for the season. Their two victories have been in sub-district 32 competition.

At the end of the first quarter, the score was tied, 8-8, with the Nordics forging into a 15 to 10 lead at halftime. The Skippers began to come from behind in the last half and were down 22 to 18 at the three-quarter mark.

In commenting on the game, Coach Frank Kohoutek of Newfolden, stated that the game could have gone to either team. He thought the game was featured by two active zone defenses, poor shooting, and erratic ball handling. He said that his Nordics still have a long way to go if they hope to get into contention for any tournament honors.

Don Anderson was high point man for the Skippers, and the game, with 10 points while his teammate Arman Kiel notched 7 points. Howard Davis led the Nordics with seven points.

Coach Sheldon Elseth's Nordic "B" squad won their first game of the season, 25 to 18.

Next opponent for both squads will be Badger as the Nordics travel for their last game before the holidays on Friday, December 23.

Should Teach Safety to Bike Recipients, Says Safety Leader

"Thirteen boys and girls who may have received Christmas bicycles last year won't be here to receive gifts from loving parents this holiday," Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director, warned parets today.

"Thes are the boys and girls who rode their bikes to death in Minnesota traffic during the first ten months of 1960. During the same period last year there were but four.

"An important factor to consider about these deaths is that 11 of the youngsters died in rural areas, with only one in an urban community.

"All youngsters will have great fun with a bike; but that fun will be short-lived if the parent who made a present of that bike failed to also give proper instruction and safety rules of its use."

When you give a child a bike, or a wagon, sled or roller skates, you give that child the opportunity to move out into dangerous vehicle traffic on the streets. Parents must take the responsibility to teach their youngsters the proper way to use them, the safety director emphasized.

Sieben offered these tips to go along with Christmas toys:

1. Remember that bicycle riders must obey the same traffic rules as the drivers of automobiles. Unless children are taught the rules they won't know them.

2. Remember that the bicycle or trike must fit the rider. Getting a bike that the youngster can "grow into" is a dangerous practice.

3. Safety hints for pedestrians can apply to youngsters out at night. Have reflectors on the bicycles, use reflectorized materials to outline the bike, encourage use of light colored clothing as a protection.

4. Local ordinances most often cover use of bicycles, each rider should know what he should do and what he must not do to follow the law and be safe.

Nearly One Million Acres of Trees Are Planted This Year

U.S. Soil Conservation Service Aids Farmers in Tree Planting Projects

Farmers and ranchers cooperating with the nation's 2,863 soil conservation districts and others receiving assistance from the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service planted 984,567 acres of trees in fiscal year 1960, USDA announced today.

In addition, they planted 4,346 miles of field windbreaks and 650,000 rods of hedgerows, and established woodland improvement on 1,977,000 acres and woodland protection on 11,500,000 acres. Woodland improvement includes thinning, harvest cutting, brush control, pruning, and cull elimination. Protection includes fencing, grazing control, fire breaks, and erosion control.

Cumulative totals for these woodland practices in soil conservation districts at the end of the fiscal year were: Tree planting, 7,750,000 acres; field windbreaks, 38,940 miles; hedgerows, 8,276,000 rods; woodland improvement, 17,446,000 acres; and woodland protection, 60,350,000 acres.

State forestry agencies cooperated with SCS and soil conservation districts in providing services to farm woodland owners and most of the planting stock came from state nurseries cooperating with the Forest Service, USDA officials said. The States also provided specialized forestry assistance in fire prevention, disease control and marketing where resources were available.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN WINS WITH DUCK STAMP DESIGN

A Minneapolis man has won the migratory waterfowl hunting stamp contest sponsored by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Edward A. Morris drew the winning design, a black and white wash drawing of a mallard hen and eight ducklings. Selection was made from nearly 100 drawings submitted to the 12th annual "duck stamp" contest.

Name Committee for Winter Shows

George Nornes of Climax Heads Group to Map Ideas

George Nornes, vo-ag instructor at Climax, has been named chairman of a new special events committee for the Red River Valley Winter Shows, B. E. Youngquist, board of managers president, announced this week. The committee, comprised of Mr. Nornes, Mrs. Sonya Knapp, home economics instructor; Marlin Johnson, assistant county extension agent in West Polk county; and Ray Eggert, Beltrami farmer, has the following responsibility:

The planning and devising of a human symbol for the Red River Valley Winter Shows. "We are working toward something which will come to be associated with our valley and the Winter Shows wherever it is seen or spoken of," said Chairman Nornes. "Comparable ideas might be King Boreas of the St. Paul Winter Carnival and Bemidji's famous Paul Bunyan."

The committee has contacted all county agents and vo-ag instructors in the valley in regard to selection of two young "20th Century Farmers" in the counties of the Red River Valley each year to stand as the symbol of farming in this region and the progress denoted by the Winter Shows exposition each February.

Time Shortened to Qualify for Social Security

The 1960 amendments to the social security law reduce by about one-third the length of time a person has to work under social security to qualify for benefits for himself and his family. Under the new rule, persons reaching retirement age in 1960 need only three years of work covered by social security to qualify for payments instead of the 4½ to 5 years required by the old law, according to Walter D. Kistler, manager of the social security office at Grand Forks.

State Occupied with Vital Super-bridges

Six bridges that cost $1 million or more each have been built in Minnesota in the past 10 years along with hundreds of smaller briges, according to a report by the state highway department. The total expenditure for these six bridges amounted to $12½ million. All are located over rivers and two are multi-million dollar bridges.

The biggest bridge built during the period is the $1½ million Newport-So. St. Paul bridge over the Mississippi River, opened to traffic in the fall of 1959. The four-lane bridge is 1,870 feet long and carries Interstate Route 494.

The other multi-million dollar bridge is the $2.8 million structure carrying Interstate Route 35W over the Minnesota River at Bloomington. The 1,387 foot long bridge was completed in December, 1959.

The other four bridges include one at Hastings carrying T.H. 61 over the Mississippi River, completed in November, 1951 at a cost of $1.7 million; a bridge at St. Cloud carrying T.H. 23 over the Mississippi River, finished at a cost of $1.2 million in October, 1958; the $1.1 million span completed on T.H. 240 over the Mississippi River at Clearwater in November, 1958; and the $1.1 million bridge carrying T.H. 169 over the Minnesota River at Le Sueur, completed in August, 1960.

In addition to these, there are presently six bridges under construction that will cost $1 million or more each, and among them is the biggest bridge ever to be constructed in the state. This is the $20 million structure to carry Interstate Route 535 over St. Louis Bay between Duluth and Superior, a joint project between Minnesota and Wisconsin. The more than 1½ miles long bridge is expected to be completed by the fall of 1961.

Work is also underway on the $3.1 million twin bridges on Interstate Route 91 at Sixth st. in St. Paul, scheduled for completion in late 1961; a $1.7 million bridge on T.H. 256 over the Minnesota River at Mankato, now nearing completion; and the $1.9 million bridge on T.H. 5 over the Mississippi River at Fort Snelling to be finished in late 1961.

Contracts have recently been let on foundation work on two other major bridges over the Mississippi River, one at Lexington avenue in St. Paul for Interstate Route 35E and one at Dartmouth av. in Minneapolis for Interstate Route 91.

The cost of bridges is paid with both state and federal funds, the state's share being 50 per cent for bridges on regular trunk highways and 10 per cent on the Interstate routes.

Editorials . . .

"It is a beautiful arrangement, derived from days of yore, that this festival which commemorates the announcement of the religion of peace and love, has been made the season for gathering together of family connections, and drawing closer again those bands of kindred hearts, which the cares and pleasures and sorrows of the world are continually operating to cast loose; of calling back the children of a family, who have launched forth in life, and wandered widely asunder, once more to assemble at the paternal hearth, that rallying place of the affections, there to grow young and loving again among the endearing mementos of childhood."

—Washington Irving.

What Is Colonialism?

The St. Paul Pioneer Press is indignant because our delegate in the United Nations did not vote on a declaration sponsored by 43 Afro-Asian nations calling for an end to colonialism. "Maybe there was a 'joker' of some kind in the resolution itself," the Pioneer Press concedes, but concludes that, "lacking any full explanation of the situation, the abstention looks like a very unwise move."

The language of the resolution quoted by the St. Paul paper indicates quite clearly that the declaration called for drastic action that even a sympathetic delegate might not be willing to support. The declaration called for "immediate steps" to transfer power to people of colonial territories to run their own governments. This transfer, according to the declaration, should be made "without conditions or reservations and without distinction to race, creed or color."

Colonialism is a long word and has many shades of meaning. Just when a settlement becomes a colony and just when a colony becomes a nation, has not been clearly defined. The French "colonialism" in North Africa presents an entirely different problem from that which existed in French Equatorial Africa. We are sure the French government acted properly in recognizing the independence of the equatorial country but we are not sure that what was right for Equatorial Africa would be the right answer for Algeria. Nor do we think that we should serve notice on the French to get out of Algeria forthwith.

We think the American delegate who abstained from voting on the declaration as it was worded represented our national position properly.

Russia Has Most Subs

For many years the estimates of "Jane's Fighting Ships" have been accepted as the best authority on the naval strength of nations thruout the world. A recent edition of this "bible" of world naval power reported that Russia now has more submarines than all the rest of the world, including at least a half dozen atomic subs built or being built.

The report estimated the number of Russian submarines at from 150 to 500, including at least six nuclear-powered and six guided missile undersea craft either built or under construction.

Our underwater strength was reported as 173 submarines, 17 of them nuclear-powered and with three equipped to launch missiles. We were credited with 38 nuclear subs built or under construction, with a goal of 75 operational nuclear subs planned by 1967.

According to Jane's, the United States still has "incomparably the biggest and best-balanced navy on and under the sea," but editor Raymond Blackman warned that many of our ships are of wartime origin and to that extent obsolete.

This all adds up to a good reason why the Russians would like to have a few submarines bases closer to our mainland—Cuba, for instance, or at any of thousands of suitable sites on other islands or the mainland of Central America.

Minneapolis Weeps

Suburban areas are not responding enthusiastically to the tax proposal made by Minneapolis, asking for authority to levy a tax on incomes earned within the city. Most of the residents of some of the suburban communities are employed in Minneapolis, and they do not take kindly to the idea of being taxed to support the city.

From the comparisons that we have been able to make, taxes are not now excessive in Minneapolis in comparison to what is levied against property thruout the state. And Minneapolis has a big advantage, taxwise, in that it has the tremendous valuation of the business and industrial area upon which to draw for its municipal and school needs.

Minneapolis does not appreciate the great contribution the rest of the state makes to its welfare and development by the millions of dollars brought to the city by the University of Minnesota each year. There might be some justification for a special tax on the city of Minneapolis by the state for a fair share of the cost of maintaining the school in its present location.

Correction

Several weeks ago we commented on the appropriation request by the Division of Game and Fish of the Department of Conservation. We stated the request represented a $22 million increase over what had been appropriated for the present biennium. It has been called to our attention that we used the twos too freely. The $22 million figure was the total amount of the request which was $2 million greater than what had been asked for two years ago. We are glad to make the correction.

Price Rigging

An anti-trust suit against 29 electrical manufacturers, including some of the biggest and most prominent names in the industry, resulted recently in admissions of guilt by all of the defendents. As explained in a Wall Street Journal editorial, these companies

"were charged with conspiring among themselves to fix prices for electrical equipment and, further, to divide up the share of the market in certain products. The manner in which this was done, according to the indictment, was direct and brazen; it was alleged that officials of these companies had affairs so organized that they had even worked out code words to convey price and marketing information to one another."

Not one of the 29 companies denied the existence of the illegal conspiracy which, as quoted in the Wall Street Journal, the Attorney General said involved, "as serious instances of bid-rigging and price fixing as have been charged in the more than half-century life of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act."

"No one will be easily persuaded that this is simply one of those instances where the complexities of ambiguities of the law caught people unawares. Men who make up code words to secretly pass information are not ignorant of what they are doing.

"We confess we find the whole thing incredible. These are no fly-by-night companies operating on the ragged edge of respectability, nor are the individuals men who naturally take a light view of the law. So inevitably the thought comes that there is something more here to be looked at than a few men's mistakes.

"What sort of pressures, by design or circumstances, would push men in such positions to such actions? Too much pressure to "get out and sell"? An ill-advised system of rewards, either in commissions or promotions, that unconsciously pushes a man to reach farther and farther, until soon he has gone too far? These questions go to the nature of basic management policies.

"And so, too, do the questions about how this sort of thing can happen without the awareness of the men who have the final responsibility for the affairs of a company, its chairman, president and directors. It is one thing to realize that the men at the top cannot possibly keep track of everything, but it is something else to say they should not be aware of something so widespread and so long-continued.

"This is, plainly, no trivial case. And its importance goes beyond the mere fact that some companies and some individuals have violated the law. The court will take care of that. But the questions of ethics and responsible management cannot be evaded by these companies, or by others whose conduct affects the good name of the whole business community."

This is one exposure that probably will have far-reaching beneficial effects.

'Peace Scare'

(Business Week)

One of the favorite themes of Soviet propaganda is the line that the United States continues to wage the cold war because, without the support of billions of dollars spent on defense, its economy would collapse.

It's bad enough when this line is peddled by this country's enemies but worse when it comes from American businessmen. Not long ago, one American businessman—who deserves some better claim to fame than this — declared: "The greatest threat that faces America today is the chance that Russia's Nikita Khrushchev may come forward with a genuine peace proposal . . . It would throw us into an industrial tailspin."

This line is dangerous, not merely because it supports Communist propaganda but even more so because it's stupid and misleading. In 1944, United States defense expenditures totaled $88.6-billion; in 1947 they were down to $11.4-billion. This was a total drop of $77.2-billion—and it came at a time when gross national product was running a little higher than $200-billion. The United States economy rolled with the punch and went on to the greatest postwar expansion in its history. Today defense spending is less than $50-billion, and GNP is $500-billion.

There are, of course, some important differences between the United States economy today and its state immediately after World War II. Nevertheless, there is no reason in the world why wise government and business policies could not once again give us a reconversion to a peacetime economy without major catastrophe.

Indeed, if we were able to cut out billions of dollars of spending on defense and let people hold onto their own money by reducing taxes, this would probably provide a major stimulus, not a drag, to economic growth. Not all the defense savings would have to be returned to the people in the form of tax reduction. There are plenty of important jobs—education, urban redevelopment, resources, and the like—that could well benefit by more public support.

Unhappily, there seems to be little prospect of establishing genuine peace. But if one thing is clear, it is that this country need not fear peace. There are ample ways we could spend the released resources on making human life better.

ANNOUNCING PAYMENTS TO RAMBLER BUYERS AS RAMBLER'S SALES VOLUME INCREASES

Why You Should Join Rambler's New Crusade For Adequate Progress Sharing With Customers

"I believe participation by all consumers in economic progress is absolutely necessary in meeting the nation's economic needs."

GEORGE ROMNEY
President, American Motors Corporation

Rambler's rise to a top position has put us in position to undertake a new crusade. This program, which could provide greater individual and national benefits than any we've yet undertaken, calls for customer progress sharing.

As volume goes up, costs come down. So, sharing economies that would result from a 50% Rambler sales gain over last year for the period December through March could provide payments to customers of $18,698,062.

But, before presenting our new Rambler crusade, let me review some highlights of the first one.

When we forged our basic Rambler concepts, U.S. cars were in a size, horsepower and styling-change race that cost the car buyer money. So, we developed the compact, economical, modernly engineered Rambler.

CONSUMER BENEFITS FROM LOWER PRICES

Because of low volume, we had to price our first Rambler Americans about equal with Chevrolet and Ford, traditionally "lowest priced."

As our output and economies increased, we shared the resulting economic advantages with Rambler customers. Despite inflation, we kept prices low. We also concentrated on durability and quality. That is why Rambler excels in trouble-free operation, as shown by trade surveys made by others.

What has this done? It has increased our sales—made us a vigorous new competitive factor, compelling all competitors to introduce compact cars. Their compact cars unquestionably are better buys than their big cars, because their big cars don't have the compacts' advanced engineering.

Despite these moves to meet Rambler competition, Rambler American models are now priced not only below competitive big cars but below their economy compacts as well.

In addition, Ramblers provide customers several exclusive trouble-free engineering advances such as the acid-proof, rustproof Ceramic-Armored muffler and tailpipe.

The Rambler line includes three basic sizes of compact cars—Rambler American, Rambler Classic and Ambassador, the latter two developed after the original American series.

RAMBLER SALES SOAR

In two years, Rambler's per cent of market has more than doubled. For the last 38 straight months, Rambler sales have established a new record for that month. We want to continue this growth by serving you even better.

THE NEW RAMBLER CRUSADE

Our new Rambler crusade, like our compact crusade, is based on sharing Rambler progress with car buyers.

We believe the new Rambler crusade has timely significance. Our country currently is experiencing a mild economic slowdown—with rising foreign competition and weakness of the dollar. Our larger competitors are considering partial manufacture and importation of cars for the U.S. market from abroad. There is a general profit squeeze.

We believe the greatest single economic cause is that relatively too much of the fruit of industrial effort has been going to a few well organized economic groups, not to the consumer.

CUSTOMERS TO SHARE RAMBLER PROGRESS

We decided there was something we could do. We decided to share future progress with ALL customers who take delivery of a new Rambler or new Metropolitan between December 1, 1960, and March 31, 1961, from an authorized Rambler dealer (excluding governmental sales), giving them most of the benefit of additional cost reduction resulting from further increases in Rambler sales volume.

This can mean a sharing with Rambler buyers during the 4-month period of government savings bonds (Series E) with a maturity value from $3,679,850 (10% sales increase), to $24,930,750 (50% increase). See chart for details.

HOW PAYMENTS TO BUYERS WILL BE DETERMINED IN AMERICAN MOTORS' CUSTOMER PROGRESS SHARING PROGRAM

		DECEMBER (Dec. sales)	JANUARY (Dec. Jan. total)	FEBRUARY (Dec. Jan. Feb. total)	MARCH (4 month total)
50%	$125	45,247	97,671	140,139	195,946
40%	$100	42,231	91,159	130,796	182,883
30%	$ 75	39,214	84,648	121,453	169,820
20%	$ 50	36,198	78,136	112,111	156,757
SALES FOR SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR		30,165	65,114	93,426	130,631

NOTE: In all cases, "BUYER(S)" means a person who actually takes delivery, not places an order.

WHY IT WILL PAY YOU TO BUY NOW. This unique program is cumulative and retroactive. Early buyers can get more, but never less bonds, than buyers in succeeding months. Your Rambler dealer will be happy to give you the complete details of the plan but here is a quick example of how it works and keeps on working for you:

If December Rambler deliveries increase 20% over last December, December buyers of new Ramblers or Metropolitans will receive $50 bonds. As the four-month period progresses, additional bonds will be mailed to the December buyers each time the cumulative sales reach a higher bond payment sales level.

Also, if sales increase for the four-month period exceeds 50%, proportionate additional payments will be made to all buyers during any of the four-months.

Monkeys are caught by filling a coconut shell with chopped coconut meat. The monkeys grasp a fistful and, unwilling to let any go, cannot withdraw their paws. So, they are easy victims. The U.S. consumer is not yet as scrawny as shown, but unless there is a more equitable division of the productivity increases, he will get that way. One of the three American groups must let go and set an example—or all will be captured and, along with the consumer, all will suffer.

BOTH CUSTOMERS AND AMERICAN MOTORS GAIN

You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by joining this crusade. The same is true for us.

You can't lose because Ramblers are better than big cars and the best of the compacts. Ramblers are more trouble-free, more useful, lower priced.

You make your regular deal in the regular way for a new Rambler. You then may share proportionately in the economies and profits of higher Rambler volume in December, 1960, and the first three months of 1961.

We gain by acquiring more Rambler owners, which will make our growing market even larger in the future. That's because Rambler owners become Rambler salesmen and are the most loyal "repeat buyers" of any make.

Ask your neighbor all about his Rambler, then join the Rambler crusade. Join us in focusing the nation's attention on the essentiality of equitably sharing economic progress with ALL consumers if the WHOLE NATION is to prosper.

George Romney

P.S. Some may say one company can't do much about national problems as big and complex as those cited above. Well, that's what skeptics said about Rambler's first crusade. Let's remember, every great thing is born small. If this new Rambler crusade is right, it can succeed and spread, just as the compact car concept did.

Mr. Romney's recent New York Press Conference on "Customer Sharing and the Nation's Economy" attracted nationwide notice. For complete text of his statements, write American Motors, Box 29, Detroit 32, Mich.

Education Groups in State Urge Sales Tax

Enactment of a states sales tax and state income tax withholding was recommended Monday in St. Paul by the Coordinating Committee on Education, composed of seven major statewide education groups.

The committee also recommended that the windfall from the first year of withholding be used over a four-year period to keep state aids flowing smoothly to Minnesota schools.

The proposal for income tax withholding is not a new one for the coordinating committee, but the call for only partial "forgiveness" during the first year, with the one-time-only windfall used over four years, is a new approach.

And the sales tax recommendation represents a departure from the group's legislative stand of recent years, which has been a declaration of support for the lawmakers in whatever steps they considered necessary to raise new funds for education, whether a sales tax, higher income tax rates or something else.

The coordinating committee's recommendations to the 1961 legislature, adopted unanimously Monday in St. Paul, declare that maintaining the present level of state school support—in addition to other state obligations—points inevitably to the need for a major new revenue source.

"With this in mind," states the report, "we wish to recommend the passage of a sales tax.

"The committee has studied several sales tax proposals but due to the complexity of the tax, we are not in a position to suggest the details or the means for apportioning the proceeds.

"We do feel, however, that a sales tax, if it is to provide the revenue needed by the state of Minnesota, should tend to broaden the tax base rather than to shift the burden of support from one taxpayer to another."

State Patrol to Be on TV Next Monday

Labor Day Campaign to Be Featured on CBS Network

The Minnesota highway patrol will be featured on a nationwide television show over the Columbia Broadcasting System television network, Monday evening, December 26. Entitled "The Great Holiday Massacre" the show is one of CBS Reports.

Leo M. Smith, chief of the patrol, announced that special crews from the network spent the Labor Day weekend following the activities of the special saturation squad assigned to the metropolitan area at that time. Over five miles of motion picture film, both silent and sound, were exposed by the production crews in recording the work of the patrol and its handling of traffic and accident emergencies.

Smith reported that similar crews were stationed in five other states, but that Minnesota will be given the major share of the time of the program.

Wetlands Areas in State Increase

A recent report from the Minnesota game and fish division reveals that 83,331 acres of valuable wildlife wetlands have been brought into state ownership as of the end of November.

Acquired under the Save Minnesota's Wetlands program, the lands are contained in 934 tracts in 70 counties.

Minnesota's program for saving and developing its wildlife wetlands has been recognized in the United States and Canada as one of the presently outstanding conservation efforts.

The Greatest Gift

It's wonderful to receive "the world" for Christmas—but think how much more wonderful it would be if we could give Christmas to the world! If the true Christian spirit could permeate the globe, all fear of war, destruction, extermination, would be over.

It is only through the Church that Christian teachings can hope to reach to the darkest corners on earth, bringing enlightenment in their wake. By proclaiming God's eternal message, the Church can bring the hope of peace closer to reality.

But if Christmas is to be given to the world, then all of us must first do our part by living our own individual lives in the Christian way. Start now—by attending regularly the church of your faith.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Dredging of River Pool Is Topic Tuesday

Township Officers Express Favorable Views on Project

Township officials of Rocksbury, North and Smiley met Tuesday afternoon with representatives of groups sponsoring a river cleaning program to discuss the possibilities in a development project that could go beyond the needs for health and sanitation in the city of Thief River Falls. William LaFave of Jobs Incorporated presided.

W. E. Dahlquist was called on for a report on the purpose of a meeting that had been held with the city council urging that consideration be given to the creation of a special commission to be established under the direction of the district court.

This commission would have the authority to dredge the river above the dam for the health and sanitation needs of the city. It was recommended that the commission also be given broader powers to improve the channels of the Red Lake and the Thief rivers above and and below the city upon petition.

Judge Paul A. Lundgren reported on progress being made to secure special legislation authorizing the creation of such a commission and outlined briefly the authority that such a commission probably should have.

Following a discussion of the various phases of the problem, members of the township boards expressed themselves favorably on the general plan as it had been presented.

The twentieth annual weed and seed inspectors' short course will be held on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota January 9-12, it was announced today by J. O. Christianson, director of agricultural short courses. Ed Moren, Pennington-Red Lake county weed inspector, will attend.

The course is offered by the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture in cooperation agriculture, dairy and food divi- with the state department of sion of plant industry.

The first 3½ days of the course will be for weed and seed inspectors only. Sessions the last half day are open to anyone who is interested, according to Richard Behrens, associate professor of agronomy, and Sigvard Bjerken, state supervisor of weed control, who are co-chairmen of the program committee.

A special group of subject matter reports on insect and weed problems will be presented the last half day for those not taking the entire course.

Arrangements for enrollment may be made through the Short Course Office, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

His predictions for 1960 proved to be 80 per cent correct, and for the past 20 years have ranged from a low of 78 to a high of 95.

area institute for science ers will be held at Lincoln chool Friday and Saturday, January 20 and 21, sponsored by the Minnesota Academy of Science under a grant from the National Science Foundation.

Immunization Urged to Continue Decline in Preventable Ills

Cases and deaths which continue to occur in Minnesota from such preventable diseases as diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), poliomyelitis, and tetanus (lockjaw) indicate that much remains to be done, even though the death rate from all communicable diseases has dropped from 58.5 per 100,000 population in 1949 to 43.5 in 1958.

During the five-year period 1955-59 the following cases and death were reported to the state health department: 214 cases of diphtheria with 20 deaths; 1,370 cases of pertussis with four deaths; 989 cases of poliomyelitis with 37 deaths; and 38 cases of tetanus with 12 deaths.

Many of these 2,611 cases and most of the 73 deaths could have been prevented if every susceptible person had received the proper immunizations as a preventive measure, according to Dr. D. S. Fleming, director of the division of disease prevention and control.

The value of immunization in the prevention of disease is reflected in two studies, one of diphtheria and the other of polio cases and deaths.

In 1959 there were 860 cases of diphtheria reported to the U.S. Public Health Service. In a cooperative study of these cases with the states involved, the immunization status was obtained in 755 cases. Only 46 patients had been fully immunized, representing an immunization failure of six per cent. No deaths were reported among these patients, and only five deaths occurred in persons who had been immunized at some time in their lives. A total of 41 deaths occurred among the 55 persons (74 per cent) with no prior history of immunization.

Polio epidemics, such as the one in Minnesota in 1952 in which 3,926 cases and 206 deaths were reported, could still occur unless a greater proportion of the population is protected. Of the 200 paralytic cases reported in Minnesota in 1959, 158 (79%) occurred in persons who had received no Salk vaccine or less than the three doses recommended as the primary series. Of the 17 deaths reported, 11 victims had received no vaccine. Four others had received less than the recommended primary series.

5 Fosston Boys to Pay $700 Damage

Involved in Halloween Escapade Near Fosston

Five Fosston juveniles have been order to make restitution for more than $700 in damages resulting from Halloween forays in the Fosston area.

Juvenile Judge Philip Anderson of Crookston said Thursday the youths will pay for damage to a school house five miles east of Fosston, a number of county highway road signs they admitted destroying, and damage of $500 involved in the burning of hay on the farm of Chester Olson in Columbia township.

A 19-year-old youth appeared earlier in Crookston municipal court on charges in connection with the hay-burning incident. Charges were dropped after he, too, agreed to make restitution.

Judge Anderson said the procedure was made possible by a 1959 Minnesota law which gives juvenile courts authority to assess damages.

Permission Asked to Cease Soo Train St. Paul to Duluth

Seeks ICC Authority to Discontinue Service by Two Passenger Trains

Loss of mail revenue and a decline in patronage have forced the Soo Line to plan the discontinuance of its passenger trains between St. Paul and Duluth-Superior.

The trains, Nos. 62 and 63, would be discontinued on February 1, 1961, according to an application filed Friday with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The daily round trip between St. Paul and Duluth costs the Soo Line about $114,000 a year more than the revenue derived from the trains operation.

Highways serve all points on the route of trains 62 and 63. All communities served by the trains would continue to have express service, either in conjunction with rail freight service or over the highways. The "Metro plan" of highway mail distribution already reaches most of the communities along the trains' route. The Post Office will provide satisfactory Star Route mail service to all points.

In establishing its "Metro" plan in the spring of 1960, the postoffice found no further use for the Railway Postoffice car carried on trains 62 and 63. Loss of mail cost the Soo Line about $10,000 a year, or about 60 per cent of the mail revenue earned by the trains.

Patronage of trains 62 and 63 has been declining for many years. In 1959, the average traffic load per train-mile on No. 62 was 10.11 persons. On No. 63 it was 11.37 persons.

Construction Down Sharply in TRF in 1960

Building Permits Total Only $138,250; $645,471 During '59

Building construction work in Thief River Falls in 1960 registered a sharp decline from recent years, according to a tabulation of permits issued by the city council during the year, it was announced by Roy J. Langevin, building inspector.

Permits approved this year numbered only 38 and called for a stated outlay of $138,250, less than one-fourth of the 1959 total of $645,471, when 72 permits were issued, the largest of which, in the amount of $90,000, covered construction of the new Hartz Stores warehouse.

In 1958, 52 permits were approved, representing an outlay of $348,300, while in 1957 73 permits were issued, covering an estimated expenditure of $387,781.

Commercial projects covered by 1960 permits included the erection of a restaurant by Wm. Kvalsten on Third st. at Knight av.; addition to the Falls Motel; addition to Shetler's hatchery and feed mill; and remodeling of the David Drotts building on LaBree av. N.

Only five new dwellings were built in the city this year, representing a total outlay of $78,500 or an average of $15,700. However, several other substantial homes were built just outside the city limits. In addition, ten home remodeling projects cost $21,000, and 17 domestic garage were built at a total cost of $12,350.

SPEEDY DELIVERY was given this piece of mail from Germany, despite the inaccurately spelled name of this city and the fact that post offices both here and in Germany have been under heavy pressure the past few weeks. That the envelope addressed to Mrs. Emerson Sell bore "Phief Riever Volls" as the city address and arrived at the right destination in record time is a credit to the post office lads who handled it. The envelope shown above contained holiday greetings for Sgt. and Mrs. Emerson Sell from Mrs. Sell's mother, Mrs. H. Mieclever, Schwabach, Germany, and was posted Dec. 19, arriving here via airmail Dec. 23.

Sgt. Sell is the army recruiter here and his wife is a native of Germany. They were married while he was stationed in that country. He is a native of Grand Forks.

The three schools presented "Christmas in Other Lands" with every child taking a part. Individual school staffs and Miss Susan Eckel, elementary school music instructor, were in charge of preparing the programs.

Eight nations were represented by costumed children from each of the grades including Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Germany, the United States, England, France and Holland.

Knox school's program was attended by an audience of 525 Tuesday afternoon, Northrop's Wednesday program by 350 and Washington's program Thursday by 325.

Legislature Opens Session Tuesday, Jan. 3

Battle in Senate Between Liberals & Conservatives Seen

One of the opening events in the Senate after the Minnesota legislature convenes January 3 will be a renewal of the liberals of a fight they know they can't win.

Conservatives outnumber liberals 43-24 and therefore have the responsibility and privilege of organizing the Senate. Liberals have served notice they will make a floor fight at the earliest opportunity for a proportionate share of the standing committee assignments and for the right to choose their own assignments.

Liberals argue that some of the older conservatives have many more committee assignments than they can handle.

Conservatives say that when the Rules Committee and Committee on Committees, both for obvious reasons made up entirely of conservatives, are left out of consideration, liberals do have their fair share of assignments.

Some conservatives say privately they would be willing to let the liberal group say which of its members should serve on each committee. They believe this might create a real problem for the liberal leaders and possibly considerable dissension among members of the group.

When liberals took over control of the House in 1954, after many years of conservative control, they gave conservatives a reasonable share of the standing committee assignments, but were careful to maintain working control of every committee. They did not let conservatives choose their committee assignments. This was done, as had been under conservative control, by the speaker.

Both liberals and conservatives in the House have held their caucuses, choosing Rep. Ed Chilgren of Littlefork, speaker last session, and Rep. Lloyd Duxbury of Caledonia as their respective candidates for speaker. With the House made up of 73 liberals and 58 conservatives, Chilgren is a certain winner.

Senate liberals have reelected Sen. Harold Schultz of St. Paul as their leader. Just before the session opens, they will caucus again to choose their candidate for president pro tem — a post which carries a certain prestige along with the right to preside over the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor.

Senate conservatives have set a caucus for January 2. Principle business will be selection of a majority leader—with no opposition in sight to the reelection of Sen. John Zwach of Walnut Grove. The choice of a conservative candidate—and sure winner—for president pro tem appears to lie between Sens. Norman Larson of Ada and Daniel Feldt of Minneapolis.

SUGAR BEETS

The following report on developments in the sugar beet industry in the Dakotas and Minnesota is taken from the Dakota Farmer of December 17. It contains information of general interest to the people of this area.

Sugar beets will be a new cash crop next season on a limited number of Dakota farms which are fortunately located and able to qualify for grower contracts. The lifting of federal beet acreage restrictions following the cancellation of Cuban sugar allotments in this country has made this expansion possible.

Since beets are grown only under contract with a sugar company, relaxing acreage restrictions does not open all areas to potential beet production. Growers must be located where their beets can be shipped to an existing sugar factory, and the factory must have the capacity to process a larger volume than it now is handling.

The Utah-Idaho Sugar Company operates the only Dakota sugar factory, at Belle Fourche, contracting for beets on the Belle Fourche and Angostura Irrigation Projects and in northwestern Nebraska.

The American Crystal Sugar Company has served the Red River Valley dryland producers for 38 years, with plants at East Grand Forks, Crookston, and Moorhead. Beets grown on irrigated land in Williams and McKenzie counties are processed by the Holly Sugar Company at Sidney, Mont.

The U and I plant, built in 1927, has capacity to process an additional 10,000 acres of beets. The company is embarking on a program of beet acreage expansion on irrigated land in South Dakota and northwest Nebraska. Also, it is setting 20 tons per acre as the production goal on present and future acreage.

Little expansion is anticipated on the Belle Fourche and Angostura projects, whose irrigation water supply has been short the past two seasons. Part of the added acreage will be on pump-irrigated farms in Beadle and Spink counties and some possibly in southeastern South Dakota.

Beets were produced experimentally in Beadle county this past season. The success stimulated formulation of the James Valley Sugar Beet Growers association. Seven hundred to 1,000 acres of beets may be contracted under irrigation in this area next year. U and I plans a receiving station, probably at Hitchcock.

Prospective beet growers in Yankton, Union, Clay, and Turner counties also have formed an association. If sufficient acreage can be signed up, production may begin in this area, also, in 1961.

In the Red River Valley, where about 103,000 acres of beets were grown in Minnesota and North Dakota in 1960, the American Crystal Sugar company has announced an 11 per cent increase in acreage for 1961. The greatest part of the expansion will go to new growers.

Discouraging expansion now is the fact that (1) the loss of Cuba as a sugar supplier may be only temporary, and (2) the present federal Sugar Act expires next March 31.

Holly Sugar Company expects acreage to increase about 10 per cent in its Sidney factory district—amounting to about 1,400 acres in North Dakota. All of this is under irrigation, and most of the expansion is on farms where beets already are a crop. Most of the interest in new contracts is coming from landlords rather than farm operators.

The Holly factory, too, is running close to capacity. Officials explain that the processing season cannot be lengthened much without deterioration in the beets.

Sugar beets are a high-cost crop to produce, but returns also are generally good. The national average beet yield for the United States last year was 18.8 tons per acre. Growers served by U and I averaged $14.83 per ton of beets in the 1957-1960 seasons. The gross income to the grower from an 18.8-ton crop at this average price would be $278.80 per acre.

U and I figures that the cost of production of an 18.8-ton crop should not exceed $125 per acre. This includes taxes on land, depreciation on machinery, water assessment, seed, fertilizer, hired help, and the operator's time.

Subtracting $125 costs from the $278.80 gross income would leave a net income of about $153.80 per acre for the beet producer under Dakota conditions.

Beets are grown under contract, with the sugar company supplying the seed and specifying cultural practices. Company fieldmen will be negotiating contracts shortly after January 1.

The beet contract usually calls for an initial payment to be made at the end of the processing season. This amounted this fall to $10.50 per ton in the U and I area and $8.57 in the Red River Valley. Subsequent payments will be based on the sugar content of the beets and the net selling price of sugar.

A BUILDING providing almost five acres under one roof is the design of the proposed new home of the RRV Winter Shows shown here in an artist's conception. It will occupy the west-central portion of the 20-acre site southwest of Northwest School, Crookston, facing Highways 75 and 2. The higher central portion is an arena planned to seat 5,000 spectators for demonstrations, judging and larger meetings related to farming. "The building is designed to serve the Winter Shows better than ever and yet also be of year-round availability to 4-H, FFA and FHA, Homemakers, stock shows and sales, demonstrations of machinery—anything and everything of a Valley-wide nature which will help the farming business," said B. E. Youngquist, president of the board of managers and superintendent of Northwest School and Experiment Station.

A campaign is now on to complete raising the $450,000 needed for the new building and it is planned to break ground in May.

1,057 New Active TB Cases Reported in State Last Year

Campaign Must Continue, Says Judge Kjos, Head of Pennington Co. TB Assn.

Three new active cases of tuberculosis were reported every day during 1959 in Minnesota—1,057 new active cases during the year.

Still many people believe tuberculosis has been practically eliminated from society.

Tuberculosis remains a serious communicable disease in Minnesota, the state department of health reports. It is contagious, common, chronic. It is caused by infection with the tuberculosis germ. It attacks healthy lungs and unless halted, invades other organs.

Helping to control this disease and eventually eliminate it is the major task of the tuberculosis organization, said Judge Herman A. Kjos, Thief River Falls, president of the Pennington County Tuberculosis and Health association. He urges everyone to help by sending in the money for the Christmas Seals he received in the mail in mid-November.

Around 245,000 people in Minnesota received tuberculin tests to check for TB infection in surveys conducted last year with the aid of funds raised in the annual Christmas Seal campaign. Over 140,000 chest x-ray films were financed.

In Pennington county about $300 in Christmas Seal money was spent last year to help finance tuberculin testing and follow-up chest x-rays of those who reacted to the test.

Three-day Convention to Open December 30

Mr. Vernon Snell of Grand Rapids, Minnesota, has extended an invitation to the Thief River Falls congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses to attend a three-day convention to be held at the National Guard Armory in Grand Rapids December 30 thru January 1. Mr. Snell is the presiding minister of the Witnesses in Grand Rapids.

The theme of the assembly is "Be Taught By Jehovah." The program will begin at 6:45 Friday evening, December 30, when Walter R. Wissman, district representative and chairman for the gathering, will speak on the assembly theme.

Saturday will feature a talk on "Dedication and Baptism" by Mr. Wissman, after which new witnesses for Jehovah will be baptized.

Highlight of the assembly will be a public discourse by Mr. Wissman at 3 p.m., Sunday. He has chosen for his subject "Is God Interested in the Affairs of Men?"

NEW HARDWOOD PARK

Along the spectacular bluffs of the Mississippi and its tributaries, 120 miles from Twin Cities to Iowa border, Minnesota has a new Memorial Hardwood State Forest covering some 200,000 acres in seven counties: Dakota, Goodhue, Wabasha, Winona, Houston, Olmsted, and Fillmore; and including the wooded valleys of the Vermillion, Cannon, Zumbro, and Root Rivers. To offset removal of land from tax rolls and to help meet the costs of park maintenance, there will be from this vast area continuous annual income from timber sales and leases.

Advises Barley Test Now for Smut Disease

A barley grower's best insurance against 1961 losses from smut disease is a seed test long before the crop is planted, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Only one sample has been sent in from Pennington county this fall. This was an excellent sample testing two per cent smut. Last year samples ran as high as 18 per cent.

Loose smut is a seed-borne disease that can't be controlled by chemical treatment. Heavy infections can cause severe losses in yields—possibly as much as 30 per cent. But the infection can't be detected without a laboratory test or growing a sample to maturity—and the only practical way to avoid crop loss is to avoid planting infected seed.

That's where the University's seed-testing program comes in.

For only $5 a grower can have a barley sample tested that will give a reliable check of the loose smut infection in a lot of grain.

The laboratory test is a painstaking process. Technicians separate the embryos from kernels in the sample. The embryos are then cleared, stained and individually checked under a microscope to find the rate of infection. A report of the test is returned to the grower.

Farmers would do well to have the seed tested before it is cleaned and treated. That way there is no risk of complete loss if grain that has already been treated—and is therefore useless for feed—is found to have a heavy loose smut infection.

It's easy to have your barley tested. Simply make up a one-pint sample by taking probes from 8 to 10 places in the bin. Mark the sample "smut test" and enclose a check in the amount of $5 per sample made out to the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, along with your name, address and sample identification.

Send the sample to the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, University of Minnesota, Institute of Agriculture, St. Paul 1. The samples are turned over to the university for testing.

W. von Braun Film to Be Presented Thursday at Falls

Deservedly heralded as one of the most important pictures of our time, Charles H. Schneer's enthralling "I Aim At The Stars," the Wernher von Braun story, will open shortly at the Falls Theatre with Curt Jurgens playing the rocket scientist. "I Aim at the Stars" truly is an important picture not alone for its presentation of the life of a man whose career is still soaring, but also for the excitement, drama, history and controversy which has always surrounded him.

The truth has been turned into one of the most absorbing of all dramatic conflicts: the role of the scientist in this troubled atomic world of today.

"I Aim at the Stars" is meaningful entertainment, absorbing and challenging its audience from the beginning right on through von Braun's most desperate time when, after the first Russian sputnik, he placed America in the race for space with his crash program for the construction and successful launching of the Explorer I.

Area 4H Institute to Be Held Jan. 17

N.W. School, Crookston to Be Scene of Session

"Learning Experiences in 4-H Club Work" will be the theme of the 1961 4-H Leaders' Institute to be held throughout Minnesota during January. The institutes will be held on an area basis with representatives from six to eight counties attending each meeting. Dates and locations of district institutes include Jan. 17, Crookston, Northwest School of Agriculture.

"Planning for Learning," "Learning Through 4-H Judging Activities" and "Learning Thru Wise Project Selection" are some of the topics that will be discussed.

Mrs. Eleanor Gifford, state home economics agent, and state 4-H club staff members from the University of Minnesota will conduct the area institutes.

Information gained by those who attend the training sessions will be presented to other leaders at county leader training meetings. These institutes are held each year to help leaders do more effective work with their local club members. More than 9,000 adults in Minnesota are 4-H club leaders.

VA Hospitals Serve More Older People

25 Per Cent of Patients Are Now Age 65 or Older

A recent survey by the agency shows 25 per cent of its hospital patients are age 65 and over, as compared to 5 per cent ten years ago.

Almost 45 per cent are 55 or over, and only 1.4 per cent are under 25 years of age.

The age distribution of veterans hospitalized by the VA is of increasing interest to the agency in its adaptations of programs to needs of the aging; its work for the forthcoming White House Conference on Aging; and its long-range planning.

The real peak in numbers of veterans needing medical care will come with aging of World War II veterans.

The average age of World War I veterans is 66 years and the average age of World War II veterans is 41. Today, of the 22½ million veterans, about 6½ million are 45 and over; but in 1970, there will be nearly 14 million veterans 45 and over.

Deer Were Plentiful

Jim Kimball, director of the game and fish division of the department of conservation, estimates this year's deer kill at from 80,000 to 85,000. This kill was not as great as in 1959, when the estimated count was 105,000, but Mr. Kimball attributes the decline to the less favorable hunting conditions this year.

Even though the kill was down from 1959 it nevertheless was a substantial meat harvest. The records of recent years justify the annual season which was a highly controversial question a few years ago. There may come a time when deer will be scarce again in Minnesota but apparently the scarcity will not be caused by the hunters.

Egg Prices

Egg prices have been favorable for the producers this winter, as was predicted they would be a year ago. Last week, at a meeting of the Minnesota Poultry Hatchery Association and Minnesota Egg Producers association in Minneapolis, members were told that the present favorable prices would continue several months and then decline. Prospects point to larger flocks, and lower egg prices starting the latter half of next year.

The report on the meeting said nothing about what the egg producers might do to prevent the low prices predicted for next year. We do not know whether the possibilities were discussed. Presumably no action was taken. Eggs will be cheap again. Senator Humphrey will scold, and no doubt a benevolent government will again buy a part of the surplus for a school lunch program.

Maybe the producers could do something in their own behalf. Maybe the periodical and predicted depressions could be avoided by controlling the peaks.

Egg production has become a mass-production operation. Small flocks no longer are important factors in the market. Egg production is a highly specialized operation, and it therefore should be easier to control production and marketing than it would have been when small flocks, maintained as a sideline operation, were the main source of the market supply.

Possibly both the government and the industry would be better off if the government dollars now going into the purchase of surplus eggs were loaned to the industry for the purpose of regulating its own production and controlling those popular but market-breaking peaks.

This Man Rusk

The appointment of Dean Rusk as head of the State Department was the big surprise in the Kennedy Cabinet announcements. In the naming of Rusk to this key post, President-elect Kennedy by-passed Adlai Stevenson and Chester Bowles, the two party wheel horses who had been recognized most prominently among the possibilities. Rusk was a politically unknown, but he has an excellent record in diplomatic service and his appointment has brought a very favorable reaction.

According to Business Week, Dean Rusk will take office with more practical experience in diplomacy and foreign policy making behind him than any Secretary of State in history—including John Foster Dulles.

Reviewing Rusk's background, Business Week reports:

> "The way Rusk handled himself during the tragic days of national division over China policy and the Korean War is a measure of the man's mettle.
>
> "In 1949, Rusk was Acheson's wheel horse in the State Dept. As Deputy Under Secretary he was chairman of all the area and specialized Assistant Secretaries.
>
> "Early in 1950, the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy and the entire right wing of the Republican Party launched a massive assault on the State Dept.'s China policy, accusing Acheson of having "lost-China" and questioning his loyalty. Rusk volunteered to take a demotion to Assistant Secretary for Far Eastern Affairs in order to try to counter political attacks. The fact that he emerged from this very rough battle personally unscathed is a tribute to his political and diplomatic skill.
>
> "As top Far Eastern policy man under Acheson, Rusk had some other hot ones to handle. He advocated strongly U.S. intervention in Korea. But he resisted attempts by some of the Pentagon brass to enlarge the war, and he had a voice in Truman's recall of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from Korea. And Rusk had a say in "leashing" Chiang Kai-shek by stationing the Seventh Fleet between Formosa and the mainland."

Commenting on why Rusk was given the No. 1 post in preference to Stevenson and Bowles, Business Week states:

> "The reasons behind the Rusk appointment and the assignment of Stevenson and Bowles to lesser positions shed some light upon Kennedy's assessment of the strengths, weaknesses, and potential of all three men.
>
> "One Kennedy intimate said: "There were no sour notes from anywhere. Mind you, Rusk was not everybody's first choice. He lacks Stevenson's brilliance, prestige abroad, strong political following at home. But he is more decisive than Stevenson, his policy thinking is closer than Stevenson's in some respects to Kennedy's, and he will let the President call the main shots—which might have been hard for Stevenson at times.
>
> "He lacks Bowles' human warmth and infectious enthusiasm. But since Bowles will be No. 2 at State these qualities won't be lost. And it may be a good thing if they're tempered occasionally by a cool customer like Rusk. Rusk doesn't have Fulbright's feel for Congress nor his close relationship with Kennedy and Johnson. But neither is he from Little Rock."
>
> "This man adds: 'Rusk brings little or no domestic party strength to the Administration. But he brings no political liabilities either.'"

TRF Quint Nips Fosston 60 to 33

An inspired Fosston Greyhounds team after holding the Prowlers to a 17 to 15 score at the end of the first period of play in a game played at Fosston on Friday night, tallied but one field goal in the second period, and but five points in the third period as the rangy Prowlers took their fifth straight triumph, winning by a 60 to 33 score.

Coach Jack Junker's Prowlers will be idle until Saturday, Jan. 7, when they meet the Ada Vikings at Ada. And on Wednesday, Jan. 11, the Bemidji Lumberjacks will meet the Prowlers here.

In Friday night's tilt at Fosston, the Prowlers sped away to an 8 to 0 lead in the opening minutes, with Ron Hanson scoring a pair of field goals, and Gary Anderson and Eddie Lietzow adding a field goal apiece.

Coach Stan Otness' Greyhounds, with some outside shooting by guards Mark Carlin and Jim Foster, and a pair of rebound goals by Bruce Erickson, rallied to trail the Prowlers by but two points at the end of the first period, 17 to 15.

Foster's long toss into the east basket in the opening seconds of the second period evened the game at 17-all, but from then on the Prowlers took control of the game. The Prowlers held the Greyhounds scoreless during the remainder of the second period while tallying 13 points to gain a 30 to 17 lead at the halftime intermission.

In the second half, the Prowlers added eight points to their total before Fosston, on Carlin's field goal with 3:30 of the third period to play, scored for the Greyhounds.

Holding a comfortable 46 to 22 lead entering the fourth period coach Junker inserted the Prowler reserves into the game.

Ron Hanson, playing but three periods of the game, tallied 21 points for the game's high point honors. Don Ulferts, with 13 points, and Gary Anderson, with 12 points, also hit in double figures.

Fosston's Bruce Erickson, who proved to be an able rebounder, gaining good position on the Prowler defenders, scored 13 points for Fosston.

Losses by Fire in U.S. in November Total $84 Million

Estimated fire losses in the United States during November amounted to $84,340,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported.

According to Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager, this represents an increase of 7.3 per cent over losses of $78,582,000 reported for November, 1959, and a decrease of 9 per cent from losses of $92,730,000 for last October.

Losses for the 11 months of 1960 now total $1,055,921,000, an increase of 5.8 per cent over the first 11 months of 1959, when they amounted to $950,629,000.

These estimated losses include an allowance for uninsured and unreported losses.

Game and Fish

This is a reminder to all sportsmen that the 1960 Minnesota game and fish licenses expire as of midnight, Dec. 31. Ice fishermen, in particular, should make a memo of this fact and obtain their 1961 licenses this week.

Fishing reports out of Lake of the Woods this past week haven't been too encouraging. And, too, the ice is quite treacherous. Vic Wickstrom of Newfolden was out on the ice at Morris Point last Sunday, and he stepped through an airbubble, dunking one leg into the water up to the hip. The Newfolden party didn't fish very long, about an hour, as a storm came up, and Lake of the Woods isn't very hospitable in stormy weather, winter or summer.

Warning should be given to the fishermen who intend to fish Lake of the Woods in the province of Manitoba to the effect that the provincial authorities intend to enforce the no live-bait law. A fisherman is not allowed to use live minnows while angling in Manitoba waters.

Roy the Coach

Roy Pederson and his "Piney Woods" collegians—a group of vacationing college students — played Wally Grovum's Bums in an informal basketball game on the Auditorium court on Wednesday night. The score, after an hour or so of play, was 86 to 57 for Roy's club. Somewhat of a surprise that the Bums were defeated.

The starting lineup for the Bums found Grovem and John Drury at the guards, Dave Hanson at center, and Dean Anderson and Darrell Rude at the forwards. That's a pretty good lineup.

Roy's club was made up of such players as Jimmy Nelson, Dennis Bakke, Ken DeLap, Jim Bennes, Dave Rasmussen, Evan and Ken Jones, Steve Embury, and a couple of others. From the sidelines it was apparent that Roy's squad was better conditioned, and this factor provided the win.

Said Wally Grovem after the game, "The reason the Bums lost the game was because we were suffering from a virus." And that statement is perhaps true enough. One of the symptoms of this virus is a roll or two of fat around the midriff.

First Ratings

Art (Basketball) Johlfs, an authority on state high school basketball, has issued his ratings of the season. Here are the state's top teams: Austin, Bemidji, Minneapolis Roosevelt, Duluth Central, Minneapolis Southwest, Robbinsdale, Edgerton, Granite Falls, Red Wing, Brainerd, Willmar, Thief River Falls, Mankato, Alexandria, Moorhead, St. Paul Central and Worthington. This rating places the Bemidji Lumberjacks in second place, and the Prowlers in twelfth place.

According to Johlfs, the pairings for the state tournament could develop in this manner: region 3 vs. region 7, Granite Falls against Duluth Central; 4 and 6 may have Red Wing against Alexandria or Moorhead; 1 and 5 could bring together Austin and Minneapolis Roosevelt; and 2 and 8 might find Edgerton meeting Bemidji. Right now Johlfs can see Red Wing playing Duluth Central and Austin vs. Bemidji in the semi-finals. Then, on that final night, still many weeks to go, he hazards a carefully calculated guess that Austin will defeat Bemidji for the state crown.

Miscellany

Arlan Hjelle, member of the state tournament Prowler hockey squad last season, and who had been attending Bemidji State college, is now employed at Rochester and a member of the Rochester Mustangs of the Central hockey league. . . . Did you know that Warren Johnson and Glenn Gumila, who now live in Crookston and do a great amount of high school athletic officiating, were all-conference basketball players during their college days at Hamline? Warren, a center, was an all-conference choice during the 1938 and 1939 seasons; and Glenn, a guard, was an all-conference selection in 1942 . . . The local curling club has purchased a set of matched rocks. The stones, and there are sixteen in the set, are imported from Scotland and Canada. And a considerable sum of money was expended on the purchase as the rocks come to $67.50 a pair. The new set is being used on the number four sheet of ice at the curling club.

Tom Lindberg Scores 12 Points for Locals

Tom Lindberg, rolling in four field goals in the second period, and adding a pair in the fourth period, led coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' squad to a 48 to 32 win over the Fosston 'B' squad in a preliminary game at Fosston Friday night.

The locals held a 12 to 7 lead at the end of the first period of play, and a 26 to 15 margin at the intermission.

Slow Down and Live!

Hockey Prowlers Whip Crookston

Coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers defeated the Crookston Central Pirates, 3 to 0, in a Region Eight conference game played at Crookston on Friday night.

On Wednesday night, Dec. 28, with the face-off slated for 8:00 P.M., the highly-rated Minneapolis Roosevelt team will play the Prowlers on the Arena ice. The Minneapolis team, coached by Bob Johnson, has been installed as one of the favorites for the Minneapolis city championship.

In a preliminary game played on Friday night, coach George Schlieff's Prowler 'B' team trounced the Crookston Central 'B' squad, 12 to 1. Elroy Frolland and Wayne Loeffler each rapped in three goals for "hat trick" performances.

In the varsity game, the Prowlers held a marked advantage over coach Dave Hendrickson's youthful Crookston club. Goalie Tom Teal of the Prowlers had but two saves, while the Pirate netminder was credited with twenty-two stops.

Tim Teal, scoring in the first period and again in the second period, led the Prowler scorers with a pair of tallies. Jack Houfek accounted for the other Prowler goal, scoring in the second period with Tim Teal and Larry Poole being credited with assists.

Low Bids Listed on Highway Jobs

Detroit Lakes Project Will Cost $594,684

Apparent low bids amounting to $4,566,028 have been received on 11 highway improvement projects, State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman announced. Seven projects are on regular trunk highways and four are on Interstate freeways.

On the biggest project, Hallett Construction Co. of Crosby submitted the apparent low bid of $1,201,047. The project calls for miscellaneous grading, concrete paving and plant-mixed bituminous shoulders on 7.1 miles of Interstate Highway 35 in Pine county.

Ashbach Construction Co. of St. Paul submitted the apparent low bid of $1,047,911 on the second biggest project. Work involved includes grading, base, road-mixed and plant-mixed bituminous surfacing and concrete paving on .4 mile of T.H. 5 in St. Paul across from Fort Snelling and construction of three bridges.

All projects are scheduled to begin in 1961. Included is Becker County, T.H. 10—Gravel base, concrete paving and plant-mixed bituminous shoulders on 10.7 miles between a point one mile east of Lake Park and Detroit Lakes; Hallett Construction Co. of Crosby, $594,684; lowest of seven bids. Work is to start June 12, 1961 and is to be completed in 70 working days.

Marki[illegible]ther step by Northwestern Hospital in providing training for hospital personnel for the community and the state, the first student in the new medical laboratory assistant program will begin her work in Thief River Falls Tuesday, January 3.

Miss Joleen Sue Stafford of Grove City, Minnesota, who has completed two quarters of class work at the University of Minnesota, will begin a six-month period of supervised clinical training in the Northwestern hospital laboratory leading to a University certificate as a non-professional laboratory assistant.

Northwestern hospital is one of 14 in the state outside Minneapolis and St. Paul which are affiliated with the University in the program of training much needed laboratory assistants. Approval of the local hospital's affiliation for participation in the training was received earlier this year.

According to Norman Peterson, hospital administrator, the program will benefit students of this area who wish to enter the laboratory field. Following the two quarters of work at the University of Minnesota, they can take their six months of training at their local hospital while living at home and minimizing expenses.

Following the six-month tenure at Northwestern hospital, graduates of the program are eligible to write their examinations for a certificate of completion of the course for medical laboratory assistants which are offered by the general extension division of the University. They are also eligible to write the examination for certification by the Minnesota Society of Medical Technologists and the Minnesota Society of Clinical Pathologists.

The course is intended to train nonprofessional laboratory assistants whose place in hospital work should not be confused with that of the registered technologists.

Many opportunities for employment in this field are available and those interested in entering training are urged to contact the Northwestern hospital administrator, Norman Peterson, for information.

Chief E. Cummings Has Advice for New Years Celebrants

Chief Says Unsafe Speed and Drinking Account for Most of Accidents

"I appeal to all our citizens to help end the old year, and start the new, in a safe and sane manner," Chief Cummings said.

The chief referred to a survey published by the National Safety Council concerning motor vehicle deaths over the 1959 New Year weekend. It showed that 371 lives were lost throughout the nation —the "highest 3-day total ever recorded for New Years, almost equalling the 1951 and 1950 4-day death tolls of 375 and 377 respectively."

"If a repeat of that performance is due, I certainly hope that our city, at any rate, will have no part in it," Cummings commented.

He pointed out that the council's survey named unsafe speed as a factor in 52 per cent of the accidents. "Certainly improper speed should have no place in our New Year driving plans—and particularly if a bad turn in the weather should cause hazardous road conditions," the chief emphasized.

Drinking was cited as a factor in 38 per cent of the accidents.

The National Safety Council study noted that every non collision accident occurring in urban areas, and three in every five non-collision accidents occurring in rural areas, involved a drinking driver.

"This may seem like a pretty grim method of wishing everyone a Happy New Year," Cummings concluded, "but that's exactly what I have in mind in bringing these matters to public attention."

Mercury Expected to Rise to Near 30 Today; —20 Tues.

Detroit Lakes Records National Low Mark of 35 Below Zero Tuesday

Temperatures are expected to be almost tropical in comparison to Tuesday's readings which set a new seasonal record.

The KTRF weatherman predicts highs today of near 30 with westerly to southwesterly winds of 10 miles an hour. The skies are expected to be mostly fair with brief periods of light snow and slowly moderating temperatures today, tonight and tomorrow. The low tonight is expected to be near 18 degrees.

Tuesday, December 27, is the day which will be remembered for some time for its lack of warmth. In Thief River Falls, the early morning reading was —20 and the daytime high was —1. Detroit Lakes set a national low for that date with a —35. Fargo and Valley City recorded —31 and Grand Forks, Crookston and Thief River Falls had comparatively mild —20's.

The cold did not remain long, however. Readings at all points climbed the following day with a 23 recorded locally.

Auto Hits Bridge Near Highlanding; Occupants Unhurt

Automobile Driven by Arlene Christianson Skids on Icy Highway

Two persons escaped injury early Monday morning when the car in which they were riding struck a bridge, caromed off in a skid and wound up in the roadside ditch at Highlanding.

Deputy Sheriff Eugene Prestegaard said Arlene Christianson was the driver of a car owned by James McCrum, Grand Forks, the other occupant, when the mishap occurred.

According to Prestegaard, the car was going south on SAR 21 toward Highlanding and apparently the driver had not slacked speed enough to negotiate the slight curve before crossing the bridge. When she braked to slow more the car skidded into the bridge on the right side, glanced off, skidded backward through the bridge and into the ditch on the south side of the bridge.

Although damage to the 1953 model car was considerable neither occupant was injured. Prestegaard said damage to the grill, right front fender and bumper and other slight damage would probably amount to at least $200. Charges, if any, against the parties involved were not given. The road was icy and treacherous at the time of the mishap, Prestegaard said.

Four Fined in City Court on Tuesday

Sheriff Brings in One Case and Police Three

A light session of municipal court was held Tuesday before Judge H. O. Chommie, with only four cases heard.

Sheriff Charles Richards had one case, that of Lawrence Boutain, city, who pleaded guilty to illegal use of license plates and was fined $15.

All other cases were brought by city police. LaVern D. Relerson, Holt, pleaded guilty to driving the wrong way in a one-way alley and was fined $10. Herbert Megorden, Lake Park, forfeited $10 on a night parking violation after a warrant had been issued because the original ticket had been ignored.

Mrs. Darlene Peterson, city, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $20. Her case was an outgrowth of an accident in which she hit a parked car.

ACP Practices for 1961 OK'd by State ASC

U. S. Cost-sharing Programs Revealed by Culkins Shortly

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced today that the Minnesota ASC development group in St. Paul had approved 1961 ACP practices which were selected and recommended by the Pennington county group on November 4.

Culkins said that all approved practices would be offered to Pennington county producers who request federal cost-sharing for carrying out soil and water conservation practices on their farms in 1961.

The opening date for requesting federal cost-sharing under the 1961 Agricultural Conservation Program has not been definitely established by the Pennington county ASC committee as of this date. However, as soon as the opening and closing dates of the 1961 program is determined it will be announced thru the Times, Culkins stated.

Culkins stated further that all practices available to farm owners and operators in Pennington county for the 1961 program year would also be released for publication as soon as the practice specifications and rates of cost-sharing were completed by the county ASC office.

Six Members Named to Board of Chamber for Two-year Terms

The Chamber of Commerce office announced today that the board of election judges has counted all ballots returned by the deadline and have revealed the names of the six men elected to two-year directorships.

There were some close contests in the balloting, according to Manager Rolly Larson, adding that not winning is no discredit to the other six candidates.

Noteworthy, said Larson, is the fact that there is no duplication of occupation on the board which, properly, should be a cross section of the membership.

Election of Chamber officers by the 1961 board will be conducted at a meeting next week.

Peak Day Was Monday, Dec. 19, with Total of 26,572 Machine Cancellations

The Thief River Falls postoffice registered a slight drop in letter and parcel cancellations during the two weeks holiday mailing period from December 10 thru 21, R. J. Dryden, postmaster, reported today.

He added, however, that due to the local office now serving as a sectional center partly processing mail for 33 nearby communities the total number of pouches received rose from 1,261 in 1959 to 6,186 in 1960, while the number of sacks leaving rose from 3,891 last year to 6,306 in 1960.

Machine cancellations during the period this year were 208,831, fractionally below the 1959 total of 209,675, and the peak day was Monday, December 19, with 26,572, compared to 25,263 on December 21, 1959.

A total of 6,486 packages was mailed this year, below the figure of 7,034 for 1959. Receipts during the two weeks period this year were $13,665.56, $1,100 more than the total of $12,566.52 in 1959.

Ormond Johnson Again Heads Band

Renamed President, with Earl Lindahl as Director

The annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Legion Municipal band was held Monday evening. The main business was the election of officers.

Ormond Johnson was reelected president, Charles Larson was named vice president and special representative to the high school band, Curtis Harris was reelected as secretary-treasurer and Earl Lindahl director.

The annual budget was explained by President Johnson. He stated that it had been necessary to ask for an increase over last year's appropriation from the city and that the city council had granted the request.

Johnson praised the increased activity of the band the past year as being a factor in the council's decision. Following the business meeting an informal social was held.

Soo Line Merger Effective Jan. 1

Three Companies to Join under Name of Soo Line Railroad

The Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railroad, which since the sawmill days of a half-century ago has provided the city of Thief River Falls with its largest industrial payroll, will be merged next week with the Wisconsin Central and Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railroads to form a 4,800-mile, seven state system, which will be operated under the name of the Soo Line Railroad company.

Although the signing of various documents this week will put the final touches on the merger, the gears of the new railroad really will start meshing Jan. 3 in Minneapolis, when the 30 directors of the three lines get together to choose new officers.

Trade speculation points to the naming of Leonard H. Murray, 47-year-old head of the South Shore, smallest of the merging companies, as president of the new line.

G. A. MacNamara, 66, chief of the present Soo Line, and Edgar F. Zelle, 70, head of the Wisconsin Central, are at or near retirement age. MacNamara has told associates that he will not be president and chief executive officer of the new line but will become chairman of the board.

The new Soo Line will link three largely complementary railroads that handle between 70 and 80 million dollars worth of business a year and have total assets of $220,110,000. The present Soo Line operates mainly in North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, the Central in Wisconsin and northeastern Illinois and the South Shore across northern Wisconsin and Michigan.

After this week shareholders in the three former roads will receive stock in the new company on the basis of one share for each one of old Soo Line stock, 2.05 shares for each share of Wisconsin Central and .75 of a share for each one of South Shore.

Until now the three carriers, all controlled by the Canadian Pacific railway, have had a close working arrangement but have maintained seperate corporate structures, each with its own officers, stockholders, financial books and rail equipment.

The Soo Line actually has been the "operating agent" for the Wisconsin Central for half a century. Co-ordination of the South Shore with the other two lines has been less extensive, includ-

Lions Club Winner of Salvation Army Yule Cheer Drive

Win a Inter-service Club Contest to Raise Money for Army Christmas Fund

At the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon, members were informed by Envoy Carl Paulson of the Salvation Army that the club had won for the third successive year the inter-service club contest to see which group could collect the most contributions for the Army's Christmas cheer fund.

Mr. Paulson stated that the Lions had turned in $86, more than twice as much as any of their rivals, who included the TRF Legion post, Junior Chamber and Rotary club. By virtue of its victory, the Lions club will receive permanent possession of an attractive brass bell.

Following a report by Dr. O. D. Beich, chairman of the sight conservation committee, the club voted to supply a pair of spectacles for a girl from a local needy family.

Guests at the meeting introduced by Cliff Bookman were his son-in-law, Darrell H. Linthacum of California; his nephew, Robert Race of Great Lakes naval training station, and the latter's friend, Jaime A. Alvarez of Barranquilla, Colombia, South America who is receiving training with the U. S. Navy for nine months under United Nations sponsorship.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Dahlen, Jeanne, Shellie and Rosemary spent Wednesday in Winnipeg.

No Big Changes Due in 1961, Says Roger Babson

Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for 1961

This year I have divided my forecast into eight sections as indicated by the following eight headings. Instead of covering general business as a separate topic, I am sure that a reading of the following will give a clear idea of my thoughts on general business. Naturally, my first subject will be the political outlook.

Politics and the New President

I do not expect any big changes under President Kennedy. If he had won by a landslide I would be quite worried, but with a narrow plurality in the electoral college and only a small fraction of 1% over Nixon in the total popular vote, I think that our new President will be very much on his good behavior. Certainly he will not have much influence with either the Republicans or the Conservative Democrats of the South. He may make radical recommendations in his inaugural address to "save face," but most of these will not become legislation.

He will recommend certain new welfare legislation, which will include medical care for the aged, an increase in Social Security, a new minimum wage, increased public housing, help for the distressed areas, and more aid for education.

Commodity Prices, Including Gold

Higher prices of commodities at the retail level are more or less certain, but wholesale prices will probably decline in most instances. Prices will not rise because of inflation during 1961. The first of the price advances will be absorbed by the manufacturer. Owing to the increased competition in all lines, wise manufacturers and retailers will keep their selling prices down. This means that their profits will be less if they are unable to reduce their own costs. All of this means that general business may show less increase in activity and profits in 1961 than in the previous year.

Now, in relation to gold: Three-fifths of the Free World's gold comes from African mines; one-fifth from Canada, and the balance from the U. S. and elsewhere. There are many rumors that the U. S. will "revaluate," creating a higher price for gold. This will not happen during 1961; and I think that the price of many gold stocks will decline during 1961. The very discussion in Congress of possible devaluation would cause us to lose more gold. Everything will probably be done to avoid such a discussion and I believe President Kennedy will publicly state that he is opposed to it.

Temporarily dollar devaluation might be a shot in the arm for American business, but it will not cure the causes of whatever else is causing the pain. Not only would foreign banks withdraw gold before such legislation was passed; but if such legislation should pass in the U. S. it would be followed by similar legislation in England, France, Switzerland, Germany, and other important countries. I advise investors now to forget this question of gold devaluation and not speculate.

No Big Changes Due in 1961, Says Roger Babson

late in gold stocks at this time. Leading gold stocks are now selling 25% or more above their price of a year ago. Another thing that investors should remember when buying Canadian gold stocks is that a number of Canadian gold mining companies are now receiving a subsidy from the Canadian government to keep them from being shut down by high labor costs. This subsidy would come off as the price of gold rises.

Stocks and Bonds

It is unpopular for me to take a bearish position in my Annual Forecast. Most of the newspapers and my readers like optimistic forecasts. In all the years I have been making these forecasts, last December was the first time that I refused to take a definite position. At that time the Dow-Jones Industrial Average was 670 and today it is fluctuating around 600.

Corporation earnings reports now coming out are not good. In many cases the gross is kept up or perhaps increased, but the net is off. Many companies will show a decline for 1960 compared with 1959. Prosperity has continued so long that most manufacturers, retailers, and consumers are assuming it will last at least another year. I cannot honestly agree with this. Therefore, I feel that 1961 will see lower prices for the Dow-Jones Industrial Averages. I hope that many readers with small businesses are showing a profit. Those who are not should begin to reduce their loans and "trim their sails".

In many cases good bonds now yield more than good stocks. This is unfavorable to the stock market and favorable to the bond market. Therefore, I believe that bonds will continue around their present levels in 1961. Many readers will be wise in shifting now from certain stocks to bonds. There will be reductions in stock dividends; hence it would be much better to hold bonds with fixed-interest payments rather than risk a reduction in the dividend payments of stocks. I especially call readers' attention to "tax-exempt general obligation municipal bond". These are the fixed-interest municipals of cities with a direct lien on all the taxable property in the city. I would advise against holding bonds of such large cities as might be vulnerable to bombing in case of World War III.

My favorite municipals are those of the capital cities in the interior of the country; in fact any growing interior city should be a high-grade investment. These bonds must pay their interest irrespective of business conditions. The capital cities are especially helped by having the payroll of the state governments.

Living Costs and Inflation

Living costs may rise somewhat during 1961 due to the increase in population and the desire for more comforts and convenience. A person like myself, who has had children and grandchildren, knows how each succeeding generation considers as necessities what the parents considered luxuries. This, together with the higher cost of labor, is the primary reason for today's record-high (127.3) cost of living.

As there is only so much land available, rents will increase slowly. There, however, need not be a higher cost for food. The farmers are constantly raising greater crops which are being processed in more economical ways. The only reason for the cost of food to increase is the dependence of so many housewives on package "mixes". Ultimately all vegetables will be wholly or partly cooked and purchasable in containers.

Wages will hold up although there will be more unemployment in 1961. This means that take-home pay will be less for most families.

Inflation is not to be feared during 1961. With his small popular vote plurality, Mr. Kennedy will be very slow to do anything to hurt the purchasing power of the dollar. Barring World War III, I believe that the dollar will be just as sound a year from now as it is today. Our U.S. dollar is looked upon by he world as a standard.

Farm Income and Prices

Good crops and moderate prices indicate a fair year in 1961 for farmers. I, therefore, look for a reasonably heavy volume of the things farmers buy during 1961, including equipment for getting on with less help. The farmers cannot expect any boom, but profits, on average, should be at satisfactory levels. My forecast, in detail, is:

Larger volume of marketings should more than offset any reduction in farm prices. Therefore, 1961 cash receipts for farmers should be slightly higher than 1960's $11,300,000,000 net. I furthermore learn that the intelligent farmer is reducing his indebtedness, which is always an optimistic sign. As I dictate this forecast, I am told that growing conditions are favorable in most sections, with sufficient moisture in the ground and other seasonal optimistic factors. The prices which farmers will receive in 1961 for crops will, of course, depend upon weather; but, each year, agricultural science is helping the farmers to avoid early frost losses and to secure needed moisture.

Employment, Wages, and Taxes

Strike activity may well be at a postwar minimum during 1961, with any dislocations limited to independent separate companies. First important industrywide negotiations will come in the auto industry, but not until September 1961. Railroad cannot strike until November 1, 1961 at the earliest. Most steel contracts hold until June 30, 1962.

The average employment in 1960 was about 67,000,000 workers. I forecast that 1961 will average a million fewer wage-workers. Countrywide, unemployment reached as high as 4¼ million in 1960, and for 1961 may hit 5½ million. The basic difficulty is that while industry is cutting back, the labor force is becoming larger. This means that it will be more difficult for those getting through schools and colleges to get positions in 1961 unless they are well trained in business, mechanics, or electronics. Certainly, the demand for executives will be less in 1961 than it has been for some years. Those executives who now have positions should strive to do better work, not ask for increases, and do everything possible to hold onto their jobs.

Labor leaders hope to have a key to the White House with Mr. Kennedy as President. This may apply to the settling of strikes and contract disputes. The AFL-CIO will influence more votes in Congress during 1961-62 than in 1959-60. The conservative Southern Democrats, however, will unite with Republicans to block radical labor legislation. Congress certainly will not outlaw the "right-to-work" legislation which has been passed in certain conservative states, nor will labor get a revision of the Taft-Hartley Act. Congress will not compel industry to collect dues from union members, but may temper the recent Court decisions ruling against excess union spending.

All the above means that labor will be able to hold its own during 1961 and secure some small increases in wages, pensions, and improved working conditions; but this may not be what labor expected to get from the election of President Kennedy.

The Federal Government will not increase income taxes during 1961; but may close some loopholes and increase certain excise taxes.

Building and Real Estate

Looking back over the years that I have been making these Annual Forecasts, it seems that building and real estate have been the last to profit from a boom, and the last to suffer from the following reaction. Readers all know that from its World War II low point new building, especially of homes, gradually rose to an all-time high in 1959. Part of this growth has been due to increased population and higher incomes.

In addition to the natural growth to which new building was entitled, it was greatly encouraged by loans to veterans without any down payment, the acceptance of twenty-year mortgages by banks in place of a maximum mortgage of five years, and by subsidies of various kinds. Like all stimulants, however, these have gradually become less effective. Hence, a decline in new building and new home construction is only natural to expect in 1961.

I do, however, forecast that a move for urban renewal will be urged and secured by the new President. This means pulling down the slums of large cities and substituting brick apartment houses with playgrounds. When any new building is built, it increases the value of the adjoining land and increases real estate taxes.

Therefore, 1961 may see real estate prices hold their own and even rise in certain sections. Small farms near cities will continue to increase in price, and this will be true of most well-drained suburban property. Every family is justified in mortgaging to buy a home in 1961, but I doubt if 1961 will be a good year to speculate in real estate. The bloom is surely off in Florida, where the supply of new houses temporarily exceeds the demand.

World Outlook

I cannot conscientiously close this Forecast for 1961 without calling readers' attention to the unsatisfactory situation that we find the world in today. I do not need to comment on Russia or China, as readers are well acquainted with conditions there. I, however, must add that Mr. Kennedy is agreeable to a Summit Conference as he is itching for a talk with Mr. Khruschev; Kennedy has already stated that he is willing to put Formosa under the United Nations.

Readers should note the headway which the Communists are making in other parts of the world. Southeast Asia, for instance, is a very rich area. It is envied by both China and Russia. We may expect continued revolts in South Vietnam, Cambodia, and Laos.

I am especially troubled about the way the Communists are working into Central and South America. I know South America very well. It has virtually no "middle class." There are a few rich, but millions of very poor. The Communists are organizing great strikes in Latin America. As these strikes accomplish something for the wageworkers, they give the Communists good ammunition for further progress. This situation has been intensified by the agents of Castro.

Another very sore spot is Africa, which I visited two years ago. South Africa will blow up of itself, without any help or hindrance from Russia. The Congo, however, which the United Nations is now trying to straighten out, is a serious problem; and the Congolese feel that their condition would be improved by Russia's help. The great African question, however, will be concerned with the new countries which have been given their independence from the colonial system they have been under for 150 years. Here, Russia, Belgium, and France are playing a waiting game to see if the new nations can make good by themselves.

I cannot imagine the Russians now going to war over Berlin. I am more disturbed about the gains in the Communist vote in European countries. For instance, the Communists in Italy received only 19% of the vote in 1946, but 28% in 1960. Even in France, the Communist vote is again increasing. The money interests of France want the Algerian rebels stamped out for good, while the farmers and small businessmen want DeGaulle to give Algeria its freedom. When I was in France a few weeks ago, it was generally conceded that if DeGaulle should suddenly drop dead, chaos might reign. I dislike to end this forecast with these pessimistic comments; but even if our country is going along on an even keel, some occurrence in some other part of the world could upset all our plans. HENCE, BE SURE YOU HAVE MADE A WILL!

Coast-to-Coast Stores Buys Rival

Buys Janney Semple Hill S & Q Store Division

The sale of Janney Semple Hill and Company's S and Q Hardware Store division to the Coast-to-Coast Stores Central Organization, Inc., was revealed today. Both firms are leading Upper Midwest wholesalers supplying their member stores with "hard line" merchandise and operational assistance.

Janney's board chairman, Benton J. Case, in making the announcement, pointed out that his company would continue to operate its Janco division, which sells floor covering and appliances, and also continue to serve their industrial and national accounts from the firm's Hopkins warehouse.

Arthur C. Melamed, president of the Coast-to-Coast Stores, indicated the purchase involved "several millions of dollars in inventory and included the transfer of all Janney trade names including the well known Janney Best paint lines."

Case revealed that the Janney Semple Hill Company owned stores will operate in the future under the Coast-to-Coast Stores Franchise plan.

In August of 1958 Coast-to-Coast Stores purchased the West Coast division of Marshall-Wells Stores and then followed this up five months later with the purchase of the combined Kelley-How-Thomson, Marshall-Wells Company in Duluth.

Federal Land Bank Reduces Interest

Cuts Rate ½ of One Pct., Effective January 3d

M. D. Avery, president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul, announced today that the interest rate charged by the land bank on new loans will be cut ½ of 1 per cent, effective January 3, 1961.

Mr. Avery stated: "This action is in line with a long-time policy of the land bank to provide farm mortgage credit to farm owners at the lowest possible cost consistent with sound operations. In addition to lowering interest rates on new loans to 5½ per cent, the board of directors of the land bank system, to reduce until further notice the interest charges to land bank borrowers whose loans carry an interest rate in excess of 5½ per cent. Such reduction may continue indefinitely." This rate reduction will be effective on installments due, on and after February 1, 1961.

The Federal Land Bank of St. Paul, which makes loans through Federal Land Bank Associations, has over 325 million dollars in loans to farmers in Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and North Dakota. This reduction in interest rate will result in substantial savings each year to thousands of farm owners in the four states. It is the fourth time the land bank has voluntarily reduced the interest collected on outstanding loans.

Dept. of Agriculture Says Food Costs Will be About Same in 1961

Mr. and Mrs. Consumer will be paying about the same for food next year as they did in 1960—and there will be even larger supplies of most food items.

Meat. Prospects are for meat productin to incease enough to supply each consumer about four pounds more than during this past year. That increase will be mainly in beef, particularly in the grass-fed beef used for hamburber, pot roast or stew. Retail prics of this beef may average lower next year.

Supplies of pork will be smaller in the first half of 1961. Total production for next year is expected to be only a little above 1960.

Poultry. Recent increases in broiler chick hatchings point to a large supply of broiler-fryers into the first quarter of 1961. Increased turkey output is indicated for next year, particularly in heavy turkeys. The larger supplies may mean lower retail prics. Supplies of eggs will be smaller, especially in the first half of 1961.

Dairy products. Increase in milk production next year probably will be greater than the advance made this year. Commercial supplies of dairy products are expected to reach a record high.

Vegetables. Slightly more potatoes are on hand for winter markets than a year ago. Supplies of sweet potatoes, however, are almost a fifth smaller.

Stocks of frozen vegetables in cold storage were larger on November 1 than any quantity ever reported. Canned vegetable packs were larger this year than a year ago.

Fruits. From now until mid-year, total supplies of fresh and processed fruits will run a little smaller than for that period a year earlier, partly because of this fall's smaller crops of apples and pears. Supplies of fresh citrus fruits will be about the same as this year, but less frozen concentrated citrus juice is in prospect. Imports of bananas will be generous. The quantity of dried fruits will be about the same.

Cereal food products. They will continue in good supply because of record large stocks of corn and wheat.

Fats and oils. Supplies will be large, though down somewhat from 1960's record supplies.

Sugar. There will be plenty of sugar from record crops of beet sugar and mainland cane sugar. Sugar will also be imported from various countries.

Soo Line Merger Becomes Effective Early Next Week

What led to the merger of the three lines, a tieup that has been two years in the making?

"I have long thought that the three lines, because of their common majority ownership, their historical and economic relationships and the complementary character of their lines, were well suited for merger," Soo Line President MacNamara said.

"Moreover, each of these roads is seriously in need of savings and other advantages merger can produce," he added. Particularly in recent years each company has suffered from the inroads made in earning power by competitive forms of transportation, rising wages, higher material costs and increased rates."

The main thing the merger should accomplish, one official said, is to achieve savings thru elimination of duplicate staffs, operations and facilities. The companies have pegged these savings at $1,260,000 annually within a period of four years.

"Because of the close tieup of the three roads in the past, the savings won't be so spectacular as in other mergers," a Soo Line spokesman pointed out.

As a result of job protection agreements with rail unions, the merger will mean a net cut of only about 100 jobs from the total of 7,250 persons now employed by the three railroads. By not filling job vacancies which occur in the future, however, the companies figure they will start achieving major economies in about four or five years. Some foresee a reduction of as much as 30 per cent in the basic operating staff.

It was during the depression years, when both the Soo and Wisconsin Central went into bankruptcy, that the proposal for a merger of the two lines and another bankrupt Canadian Pacific affiliate, the South Shore, first was brought up. That first attempt, however, never got out of the talking stage.

The merger of the three roads this week will be the fourth among United States railroads this year, including the purchase of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railway November 1 by the Chicago and North Western.

And so as the festive air of Christmas is past, we wonder what the New Year will bring to each of us. Blessings of health, shelter and freedom from want and worship is our wish to each and everyone.

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will; When the road you're trudging seems all up hill; When the funds are low and the debts are high; And you want to smile, but you have to sigh; When care is pressing you down a bit; Rest, if you must, but don't you quit.

Life is queer with its twists and turns; As everyone of us sometimes learns; And many a failure turns about; When he might have won had he stuck it out; Don't give up, though the pace seems slow; You might succeed with another blow.

Often the goal is nearer than; It seems to a faint and faltering man; Often the struggler has given up; When he might have captured the victor's cup; And he learned too late, when the night slipped down; How close he was to the golden crown.

Success is failure turned inside out; The silver tint of the clouds of doubt; And you never can tell how close you are; It may be near when it seems afar; So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit; It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

Prowler Sextet Takes Mpls. Roosevelt 2-0

It was a three-loss trip for coach Bob Johnson's Minneapolis Roosevelt hockey squad as they made a three-game sortie into Region Eight this week. On Monday night, the Roosevelt team dropped a 3 to 2 decision to Warroad at Warroad; on Tuesday night, at Roseau, they lost a 2 to 1 game in overtime to coach Oscar Almquist's Rams; and on Wednesday night, at the local Arena, the Teddies were beaten by coach Gene Sack's Prowlers, 2 to 0.

The Prowlers, with a mark of three wins and one tie, will next see action on Tuesday, Jan. 3, when they play in the Lions tournament at International Falls. The Prowlers, who won the tournament last year, will meet coach Larry Ross' International Falls club in a first round game.

In Wednesday night's game here, and which was played before a near-capacity crowd, the Roosevelt squad held a slight edge in the play in the first period. In the opening period, the Teddies tested goalie Tom Teal with nine on-goal shots, while Erick Knox kicked out seven Prowler on-goal shots.

The scoreless tie was broken at the 3:15 mark of the second period when, during a melee in front of the south net, the Roosevelt goal, Lloyd Ranum flipped a backhanded shot, from ten feet out, into the cage.

With a minute and a half to play, and face-off in the Prowler zone, coach Johnson pulled goalie Knox out of net in order to put another forward on the ice in an effort to score the tying goal. The strategy backfired as, following the face-off, Keith Poppenhagen recovered the puck and raced down the ice and, from thirty feet out, and to the left, he sent the puck into the open goal, giving the Prowlers an "insurance" goal, and the game, 2 to 0.

Herman Natwick, Norman County Farmer, to Head Unit on Big Donations

William J. Strickler, general chairman of the Red River Valley Winter Shows building fund campaign, announced this week the appointment of Herman Natwick, Norman county farmer, as task force commander. The task force is a selected new group of 25 men from all parts of the Valley to secure sponsorships for various sections of the proposed new Winter Shows building.

Natwick, whose turkey, lamb and beef feeding farm is eight miles east of Ada, was one of the organizers of the Ada Toastmasters, is active in Farm Bureau, Masonic and community activities. In 1958, he was given the Junior Chamber's outstanding farmers award for Minnesota and hundred individuals, firms and represented this state in the national competition.

"We will call on possibly a organizations, offering them the opportunity of having a permanent recognition in some of the interesting parts of the new Winter Shows building," Mr. Natwick said. "Gifts or pledges in a radge of one thousand to twenty-five thousand dollars will be involved in this special Task Force program."

The Task Force is part of the campaign's second phase. One-third of the required minimum $150,000 was secured in the first phase in 1960; the remainder is to be achieved in the spring of 1961, so that groundbreaking can take place on the new 20-acre site in May. "We must have the new structure for the 1962 winter exposition," said board president B. E. Youngquist, in discussing the setting up of the special Task Force. "Of course, it will be serving many other uses in the furthering of the Valley's agricultural concerns on a year-round basis." The Task Force kick-off meeting is set for January 16 with a preceding organizational gathering January 5.

Year-end Memories

Without question the year's sports event that was etched most indelibly in the memory was the basketball Prowlers 60 to 53 victory over the Bemidji Lumberjacks in the Region Eight tournament finals at Grand Forks last March. The win ended years of frustration and brought the Prowlers entry into the state tournament for the first time in 21 years.

A regional basketball championship is a cherished honor, and when it is brought about by a defeat of a Bemidji team, the title has added lustre.

Twice during the season of 1959-60 (the Bemidji squad had scored triumphs over the Prowlers, winning by scores of 60 to 43 and 57 to 55, running their consecutive win streak over the Prowlers to 18 games. And, when in the Region Eight finals, the Jacks opened with a pair of field goals by Bob Glass and Larry Higgins to take a 4 to 0 lead, it appeared that the streak would continue.

The Prowlers, with Ron Hanson, Don Ulferts, and Steve Embury each garnering a pair of field goals, overcame the Bemidji lead to hold a 15 to 13 lead at the end of the first period. And the Prowlers continued to outpoint the Jacks, 18 to 13, in the second period to gain a 33 to 26 lead at the intermission.

In the third period the Prowlers limited Bemidji to but five points, all on free throws, while coach Hartley Story's club notched 14 points, to hold a 47 to 31 lead entering the final eight minutes of play. To hold a Bemidji club scoreless from the field in a regional tournament game was a fantastic performance.

The Jacks made a desperate effort to win the game in the fourth period, and while they scored 22 points they fell seven points short of the Prowler total. The Prowlers' final points of the game were scored by Ulferts who, with 1:30 to play, scored a field goal and added a free throw when fouled on the play.

We will long remember the tears of joy and happiness that streamed down coach Story's cheeks as he was carried on to the floor by the victorious Prowler squad.

Hockey, Too

Hockey, too, gave us some moments and memories that are long-lived. The highlight of the season, perhaps, was the game played on the Roseau ice on Saturday night, Feb. 6, between the state champion Roseau Rams and the Prowlers. At the face-off of the game, the Rams were rated the state's number one team and the Prowlers were rated as the number two team. At the conclusion of the game, which was won by the Prowlers, 2 to 1, in overtime, those ratings were reversed.

After a scoreless first period, the Prowlers, on Dale Wennberg's goal early in the second period, gained a 1 to 0 lead. And that lead held up until the 11:45 mark of the third period when Roseau's Dave Backlund, taking advantage of some cautious play by the Prowler defense, scored for the Rams to send the game into overtime. In the hectic overtime period, the two teams kept the huge crowd in an uproar by the speed of the play, and at the 3:24 mark, Wennberg outskated a Roseau defenseman to pick up the puck, skated in on goalie Dick Roth and beat the all-state net minder with a backhanded shot, giving the Prowlers a well-earned win. It was one of the finest hockey games played in high school competition last season.

Baseball

By all odds the most noteworthy feat of the baseball season was the three-homerun performance of Lake Bronson's Loren Grahn during an American Legion sub-district tournament game played here in July. Grahn, a right-handed batter, drove three homeruns over the left field fence at the Fair Grounds diamond, sending nine runs across the plate as the Lake Bronson team defeated the Warren juniors, 16 to 4.

Golf

The golf season provided its share of thrills, and one of these occurred when fifteen-year-old Ron Kvikstad won the local club's championship by defeating Reid Stromberg in the finals. Ron, showing remarkable poise for a youngster, hit a chip shot on the final hole, from 30 feet off the green, that carried the ball to within a foot or so from the pin, and closed out the match.

This course will be a workshop type of study. The nature of the instruction will be pointed towards beginning pilots as well as a good review for experienced pilots. The Minnesota Department of Aeronautics is cooperating with the program.

A group of men including commercial pilots and instructors, serving as an advisory committee, met and outlined a recommended study schedule. The short course will include: 1. Theory of flight and elementary maneuvers; 2. weight and balance control; 3. navigation for the private pilot and for the cross-country pilot; 4. Airman's Guide and Weekly Notice to Airmen; 5. weather; 6. CAR regulations; 7. engines; 8. airframe; 9. selected topics of special interest to the group.

Make New Years Eve Watchnight, Advised

Whether you spend New Year's Eve at church in solemn watch night services or at a gay party, make it "watch night" on the streets and highways, citizens of Minnesota were urged today by Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director.

Sieben listed these rules for holiday driving:

1. Watch for pedestrians as you drive to and from your evening's destination. Some walkers may be under the influence of intoxicants.

2. Watch yourself. Don't drive after drinking. Don't speed. Keep a safe distance from other vehicles so that when you want to stop you won't skid into the car ahead.

3. Watch the highway warning signs, stop signs, traffic lights and pavement markings; and heed them. They are your signs of life.

4. Watch out for the fellow who may not be watching out for you. You may have the safest vehicle on the road. You may have had the foresight to put on reinforced tire chains if severe snow and ice conditions have developed, but the other fellow may not have been that wise.

5. When you watch the clock tick off the final hour of 1960—whether you are looking at the clock on your auto dashboard, the clock on a church wall, or the timepiece on your mantle at home — say a short prayer of thanks for having remained alive through this year, and pledge to yourself that in 1961 you will strive to be the best among many good drivers on the road in Minnesota.

"Careful drivers have a moral responsibility to set good examples in motoring safety under all types of road, weather and traffic conditions. Good examples might shame the careless drivers into driving more carefully," concluded Mr. Sieben.

"Careless drivers were responsible for 771 accidents during the official New Year weekend last year. Serious moving violations were indicated in almost every one of those accidents that resulted in injuries to 286 persons and death to five others."

Program Taking Shape for Winter Shows Feb. 20-24

Programming is nearly complete for the many educational activities planned for the 1961 Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, February 20-24, according to B. E. Youngquist, president.

Of particular interest to citizens in Northwestern Minnesota will be an all-day clinic on feeding barley to cattle. The research in feeding barley from Montana, Canada, North Dakota and Minnesota will be reviewed. The research work is far enough along to some of the problems in using barley as a fattening feed are coming to light. The board of managers is bringing in the top-level people on this subject.

Dr. Olaf Soine of the Northwest Experiment Station has contacted scientists, certain industrial concerns, and also research men from Canada to deal with the subject of "Chemical Control of Wild Oats." The chemicals known as Avadex and Carbyne will come up for special attention.

A seminar on water resource management will bring the Red River Valley citizens another firsthand look at this problem which is of national concern as well as to people in the Red River Valley.

The agricultural extension service of the University of Minnesota is arranging a "public affairs seminar" for women.

Arbitration Board Named on Issue of Rail Work Rules

Secretary of Labor Jas. Mitchell Is Appointed Chairman by President

President Eisenhower Thursday named Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell to head a 15-member commission to investigate the dispute between railroads and the operating unions over work rules and practices.

The President selected Mitchell upon the recommendation of the railroads and the five railway labor organizations involved in the controversy over what the railroads call the featherbedding problem.

In announcing the membership of the commission, Eisenhower said the group represents "a major and constructive innovation that will prove to be a significant achievement in the progress of labor-management relations toward greater maturity and stability."

He also approved the recommendations of the carriers nominating five members and the recommendations of the operating unions selecting five others.

Mitchell in mid-October hammered out an agreement between the railroads and the operating unions which resulted in setting up the commission.

As public members, in addition to Mitchell, Eisenhower named the following:

John T. Dunlop of Belmont, Mass., professor of economics of Harvard university; Charles A. Myers of Weston, Mass., member of the staff of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Francis J. Robertson of Washington, D. C., attorney and arbitrator, and Russell A. Smith of Ann Arbor, Mich., arbitrator.

$36,000,000 Paid in Unemployment Benefits in 1960

Commr. Frank Starkey Reports Benefits Paid to 106,000 This Year

An estimated total of $36,000,000 in benefits was paid unemployed workers in Minnesota during 1960 under the Minnesota employment security law, Frank T. Starkey, commissioner, announced today. The amount was 13 per cent higher than the total of $31,912,975 received by the insured unemployed during 1959.

Starkey's report indicated that while the number of unemployed workers drawing benefits for one or more weeks of unemployment was expected to total 106,000 for 1960, compared to 97,500 in 1959, the number of claimants who exhausted their benefit rights during 1960, estimated at 21,000, would be more than 1,500 below the 1959 total.

Weeks of compensated unemployment totaled 1,275,000 in 1960, compared to 1,167,196 in 1959. The average weekly payment, estimated at $28.25 for 1960, was up 54 cents compared to the year previous.

In addition to the state unemployment compensation programs, the department of employment security administers two programs for which it is reimbursed by the federal government—unemployment compensation for federal employes, and unemployment compensation for ex-servicemen. Starkey reported that an estimated $3,112,000 in benefits was paid out through these two programs in 1960.

Starkey said that while the unemployment compensation programs were being administered to cushion the shock of joblessness on the individual as well as the state's economy, the department's 33 state employment service offices were handling a heavy volume of business in finding jobs for people. "The number of people placed in jobs through the department's offices during 1960 is expected to total about 160,000 when December figures are reported," Starkey indicated. "Of these, more than 100,000 will be in nonfarm occupations."

November Traffic 10 Pct. over 1959

Total, However, Is Six Pct. Below October, 1960

Traffic on Minnesota trunk highways during November increased slightly more than 10 percent over the same month a year ago, according to the Minnesota highway department. However, November traffic volumes dropped six percent under October this year.

The increase was due partly to abnormally low volumes of traffic in November of last year and also to the increase in motor vehicles on the road. The six percent drop is about average for November because of its colder weather.

A survey of the 28 automatic traffic counters located on rural trunk highways throughout the state showed slight drops on most highways and substantial decreases at five points.

The largest drop of 20 percent was recorded on T.H. 10 east of Moorhead. At three points on T.H 10 northwest of Anoka traffic dropped 19, 17 and 18 percent. The one other substantial drop was 11 percent on T.H. 12 east of St. Paul. These highways are among the most heavily travelled in the state.

Watch for Weather Signs, Drivers Urged

"Watch out for weather warnings when you drive during the next several months," warned Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director. "The weatherman's predictions of blizzards, heavy snow, or freezing rain often become the most important news of the day for motorists who must get through in stormy weather.

"Our maintenance crews do a splendid job in keeping roads open for essential traffic in even the worst of blizzards, but they need the cooperation of the motoring public which must exercise a little caution.

"We are concerned about travel in all conditions, but are particularly worried about the foolish unprepared drive who can tie up traffic for long stretches and for a long time," Sieben said. "Our law enforcement officers are on duty to aid disabled motorists, of course, but often the reason that motorist is stranded is his own thoughtlessness or neglect."

"Certainly the driver who runs out of gas hasn't shown much foresight," he pointed out. "The driver whose battery fails hasn't checked this vital piece of equipment, recently the driver whose windshield wiper arms or blades fail to give unobscured sight hasn't taken time to make necessary adjustments. And the driver who has failed to use his tire chains has failed in his responsibility."

Sieben warned motorists to beware highway-rail grade crossings in bad weather. He pointed out that when car windows are closed, and the glass covered with snow or frost, hearing is restricted, and visibility is obscured. The approach of a train may not be noticed until it is too late.

He concluded by urging drivers operating during time of storm to keep a sharp lookout for snowplows and emergency vehicles — which may be forced to use "your lane" in their work of snow removal, or service.

HUNTING AND FISHING ARE BIG BUSINESS

Hunters in Minnesota last year averaged almost five game units per license while more than a million and a quarter anglers took an unreported number of fish from the state's 10,000-plus lakes and 15,000 miles of fishing streams. So reports current issue of Conservation Volunteer. Small game licenses totaled 330,798, big game (both firearm and bow and arrow) 212,473, for a total of 543,271; of these 2,590 were non-resident. Their take was 101,335 deer, 224,273 furbearers, 762,345 small mammals, 1,380,458 upland game birds, for a total of 2,471,411 game units. Fishing licenses totaled 1,349,892, of which 310,720 were non-resident and 2,778 were issued gratis to old-age pensioners. It is reported that fishermen spend an average of $2.00 for each of some 50 million game fish caught each year: For transportation, lodging, food, refreshments, boat, bait, tackle, etc., $1.95, leaving only 5c per fish for stocking, enforcing laws, rough fish removal, development of spawning areas, and other management and research activities essential to the perpetuation of the sport.

Editorials . . .

"If any pilgrim monk come from distant parts, if with wish as a guest to dwell in the monastery, and will be content with the customs which he finds in the place, and do not perchance by his lavishness disturb the monastery, but is simply content with what he finds: he shall be received, for as long a time as he desires. If, indeed, he find fault with anything, or expose it, reasonably, and with the humility of charity, the Abbot shall discuss it prudently, lest perchance God had sent for this very thing. But if he have been found gossipy and contumacious in the time of his sojourn as a guest, not only ought he not be joined to the body of the monastery, but also it shall be said to him, honestly, that he must depart. If he does not go, let two stout monks, in the name of God, explain the matter to him." —St. Benedict

A Good New Year

Of course we wish you happiness during the year that lies ahead of us, but wise men tell us that it takes more than good wishes to make happiness a reality. Here are a few of the suggestions they have made on how happiness may be achieved, and maybe you will find one or two that could be helpful to you.

Maeterlinck suggests straight thinking as a good approach. "To look fearlessly upon life; to accept the laws of nature, not with meek resignation, but as her sons, who dare to search and question; to have peace and confidence within our souls—these are the beliefs that make for happiness," according to him.

Marcus Aurelius had a similar notion. He put it this way. "If thou workest at that which is before thee, following right reason seriously, vigorously, calmly, without allowing anything else to distract thee, but keeping thy divine past sure, if thou shouldst be bound to give it back immediately; if thou holdest to this, expecting nothing, fearing nothing, but satisfied with thy present activity according to Nature, and with heroic truth in every word which thou utterest, thou wilt live happy. And there is no man who is able to prevent this."

According to Santayana, happiness is not for wild animals who can only "oscillate between apathy and passion." He thinks a measure of wisdom is required but that "happiness is sometimes found instinctively, and then the rudest fanatic can hardly fail to see how lovely it is; but sometimes it comes of having learned something by experience, and involves some chastening and renunciation; but it is not less sweet for having this touch of holiness about it."

Ingersoll comes close to Christian fundamentals in this observation: "Justice is the only worship. Love is the only priest. Ignorance is the only slavery. Happiness is the only good. The time to be happy is now. The place to be happy is here. The way to be happy is to make other people happy."

Tennyson thought, "The happiness of a man in this life does not consist in the absence but in the mastery of his passions."

James M. Barrie expressed his idea in just a few words too. He said: "The secret of happiness is not in doing what one likes but in liking what one has to to."

Balzac didn't tell us how to become happy but he did observe that: "We exaggerate misfortune and happiness alike. We are never either so wretched or so happy as we say we are." And with that observation we are inclined to agree.

Well, once again, Happy New Year.

No Need For Panic

Robert L. Taylor, registrar of the City College of New York, gives assurance that there are ample college facilities to meet the needs of the coming crop of high school graduates. "Misleading and exaggerated information causes parents and students to panic at the though of college admission," he said.

Any qualified student thinking seriously of getting a college education and not obsessed with the notion of attending one of the 40 or 50 prestige institutions in the northeastern states, "can have his pick of one or more first-rate private colleges in almost every section of the country," according to Taylor. Plans for expansion indicate that our future needs will be amply provided for, he believes.

Statements of this kind do much to restore our confidence in educators.

Pay We Will

Minnesota has only one alternative to increased spending and that is the adoption of a general sales tax. If we are going to keep on spending more then we will have to keep on taxing more. Present taxes are already too high. Higher taxes on income and property would discourage industrial development. The only solution to more spending is a general sales tax. Let's start being realistic about it.

Kentucky adopted a general sales tax this year, bringing the total number of states that rely upon such a tax as a main source of revenue to 33. In the last election the voters of Michigan approved a constitutional amendment that will permit a sales tax increase to four per cent.

It is significant that in states that have a general sales tax the sales tax is popular —that is it is as popular as any tax that people know they themselves must pay can be. This is proven by the votes in the states where the question of increases has been submitted.

Commenting on this trend the Christian Science Monitor observes:

"The sales tax seems the most logical area left for financing state government. There are objections that it is regressive, bearing most heavily on those of low incomes. But in view of a relatively broad and even distribution of earning power and of the steepness of federal income tax rates, the popularity of state sales taxes is understandable."

Here in Minnesota we have had too many spenders, leaders of both of our political parties, who have achieved popularity by their assurances that their increased spending would not lead to increased taxation. The legislature that convenes next week will know that the time when we must start paying a great deal more has arrived. The question is no longer "will we pay?" but "how will we pay?"

Pay we will.

Minnesota Influence

Editor Art Suel of the New Prague Times points to the greater influence Minnesota will have in national affairs under the Kennedy administration. He says:

"Never in more than a century of statehood has Minnesota been in a position of greater influence in the conduct of affairs of the national government. With Senator Hubert H. Humphrey scheduled to become assistant majority leader of the United States Senate, Secretary-designate Orville L. Freeman in the President's cabinet representing agriculture, and Senator Eugene J. McCarthy an acknowledged statesman of nation-wide recognition, Minnesota's "Big Three" will be potent helmsmen in steering the Ship of State through the troubled waters ahead."

Our good friend Art Suel seems to be happy about this recognition for our State, and we are always glad for anything that makes Art happy. We would be happier about this recognition if we were sure that what appears to be good for Minnesota will prove to be good for the nation as a whole.

We would be much more happy if a couple of these Minnesotans had some of Art Suel's stability and down-to-earth common sense. The gentleman from New Prague is all heart but he can reach the ground with his feet most of the time, and his battle over a period of many years to meet a payroll has made it natural for him to peek down occasionally to see how things are progressing under the clouds.

With the Kennedy brothers firmly in the driver's seat, the future of one James Hoffa is not so bright. The head of the Teamsters Union had 56 congressmen on his purge list in the recent election. Only one of the 56 was defeated. We may mark this down as 55 reasons why we should be satisfied with the results of the election.

Minnesota will end the present fiscal biennium on June 30 with a $21 million deficit, according to Richard Wanek of the St. Paul Pioneer Press. Not all of the news from St. Paul is discouraging however. There are indications that the next Legislature will have a more realistic attitude toward spending. There seems to be an increasing awareness of the facts of life that justifies the hope that we are finally beginning to approach our problems of management more sensibly. We may even start living within our means.

More Harmony

(Baltimore Sun)

Labor Secretary Mitchell said the other day that 1960 might yet prove to be a turning point in labor-management relations in the United States. He pointed to things like the recent automation compact in the West Coast longshore industry and the agreement to put the study of railroad featherbedding into the hands of a Presidential commission. Rightly he suggested that last year's steel strike, prolonged and destructive as it was, had deepened a sense of responsibility in both labor and management camps.

Yet the Congress' contribution to a heightened industrial order is suggested by a case just decided in the Federal court of appeals at Philadelphia. There a teamsters union local authorized union payments for the legal defense of several top officers charged with conspiracy to defraud the union. Nine members of the local sued to prevent this expenditure of funds.

The Federal court agreed with the petitioners, finding their complaint and conclusions in faithful line with the recently enacted Landrum-Griffin Act. Now the court of appeals has upheld the district court's injunction against the union payments. It happens that the local had already disbursed some $24,000 for the defense of the officers.

There is wisdom in the unions and wisdom in management. Much can be expected from the wise men of the two camps in the way of industrial harmony. There is also wisdom in the people at large and in their representatives in Congress. This wisdom, too, expressed in legislation, helps toward the same large and wholesome end.

THROUGH ALL TIME

Yesterday is gone. We tear its page from our calendar, for we live in the present.

But often we look back with nostalgia to the many yesterdays which make up the past. In a different mood we plan for the uncertain days ahead, sometimes filling them with happy expectations, sometimes with anxious forebodings.

Where is God in this time pattern of our lives?

Is He in the past alone, incarnate two thousand years ago in the great Teacher of Nazareth? Or does He walk with us through the present, our Companion each day? Does He remove all fear from the future with His promise, the promise of the living Christ, "And lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world?"

Come to Church and learn to know this Christ who is "the same yesterday, today, and forever."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Judge Kjos' Court Handles Variety of Cases in 1960

The annual summary of work handled in Pennington county probate and juvenile court in 1960 was prepared for the Times by Probate Judge Herman A. Kjos, and reavels a good deal of activity in the office.

In addition, Kjos served one day a week for ten weeks as acting Marshall county probate judge during the illness of Judge Arnold A. Trost.

Included in probate work here were 60 estates entered for probate, 11 guardianships opened, 15 real estate sales confirmed, four marriage ceremonies conducted, and 12 mental illness and two senility hearings held.

A total of 66 municipal court cases also were handled by the probate judge this year under provisions of a new state law, and $1,372.50 in fines was collected. Offenses included drinking, fighting and petty larceny.

Seventy cases passed thru juvenile court, 20 being transferred to probate municipal court. A total of 29 boys and 19 girls were brought in for truancy, shoplifting, drinking etc. Seventeen were placed under strict probation, subject to making full restitution, while four girls and two boys were committed to the custody of the youth conservation commission.

A total of 59 juvenile traffic offenders also appeared before Judge Kjos, 16 being fined and 42 having their drivers' licenses suspended for varying periods.

Red Lake County Farm Home Razed

The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Timmerman of Emardville township in Red Lake county was destroyed by fire Monday afternoon.

A neighbor, George Westlake, first noticed smoke coming from the building about three o'clock in the afternoon while the Timmermans were doing chores in the barn. The Plummer and Oklee rural fire trucks were called to the scene and brought the blaze under control after the building was severely damaged inside by fire and water.

Later in the afternoon at about 5:45, a second alarm brought firemen back to the scene when the blaze, inaccessible between walls of the building, again flared up and raged out of control.

Firemen and neighbors were able to remove most of the major appliances and furniture from the building. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

TRF Airport Enjoyed Busiest Year to Date in 1960, Manager Says

The growth of general aviation in the U.S. was reflected in Thief River Falls as the municipal airport here had its busiest year, according to Dan Illies, airport manager.

While traffic has shown a marked increase, the field still falls far short of being busy as even some secondary metropolitan airports. However, the significant factor is that use of the local field by business aircraft has accounted for a major portion of the transient traffic using the facility.

Illies estimated that nearly 3,000 transients landed here in 1960. It is hard to keep an accurate record of such traffic but the log kept of transmissions on the state-owned VOR navigation-communication facility here shows 377 transmissions recorded since it became operative June 12, 1960.

The figure fairly accurately reflects the percentage of VHF radio-equipped planes using the field. Since several other northern Minnesota localities also have put new VOR facilities into

Fire losses in Thief River Falls in 1960 up to the last day aggregated $12,350, it is revealed in the annual summary completed by Fire Chief Roy Langevin.

The total compares with $6,500 in 1959, $4,170 in 1958, $18,000 in 1957 and a range during the preceding four years from a high mark of $50,000 in 1954 to a low of $5,000 in 1955.

The department responded during the year to 66 fire and other calls, including 19 originating in grass fires, five rubbish fires and nine involving defective or flooded furnaces, stoves and water heaters.

Other calls resulted from chimney fires, overheated stoves and furnaces, appliances and small boys playing with matches.

New Soo Line's Traffic Dept. Reorganized

Department Being Revamped as Result of January 1 Merger

Full utilization of the company's potential for fast and reliable service, together with increased use of up-to-date marketing tools, will be the sales theme of the new Soo Line Railroad Company.

The 4,800-mile, seven-state company will be formed January 1, 1961 out of the present Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie; the Wisconsin Central; and the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad companies. Merger of the three lines was approved November 30 by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Ross L. Thorfinnson, vice president, traffic, of the MStP&SSM, outlined today how that line's traffic department structure will be used for that of the merged Soo Line Railroad company, with these modifications:

1. The staff will be realigned so that the new Soo Line can make full use of modern marketing techniques in the sale of transportation services;

2. Reflecting the growing importance of traffic to and from the Western United States and Canada, staff supervisory position will be established at Seattle with jurisdiction over eight western agencies;

3. The sales staff will be expanded through new offices at Philadelphia, Pa., and Eugene, Ore.

The new Soo Line will have 36 traffic agencies in the United States and Canada, at all points where the MStP&SSM and the DSS&A have had agencies. Joint sales forces of the new Soo Line and the Canadian Pacific Railway will be continued in the eight additional cities where joint CP-MStP&SSM offices now exist.

With the establishment of a traffic research department three years ago, the MStP&SSM began a drive to tailor its services more specifically to the needs of shippers through rates, train services and equipment designed to solve shippers' transportation problems. The new Soo Line will utilize the sales and marketing divisions of its traffic department, its industrial development and operating departments to expand upon these activities.

Thorfinnson announced that the merger will bring about the following appointments, all of which are effective January 1:

Ben G. Spears, presently general freight traffic manager, sales and service, of the MStP&SSM, is appointed executive representative, traffic, of the new Soo Line.

Stanley Wilson, proprietor of Wilson Brothers of this city, wholesalers of repair parts for automobiles, trucks and tractors, and providing a complete engine overhaul service for garages, has announced the purchase of the Land O'Lakes building on Atlantic Ave., which his organization is now in the process of occupying.

The Wilson Brothers operation is now located on Main av. at First st., from where it serves the immediate area and branch stores at Roseau, Mahnomen and Glenwood. Mr. Wilson's brother is operating independently at Grafton, North Dakota, from where he services three branch operations. They still pool some buying and servicing, and the larger facilities here will provide much needed space for a central storage and service operation.

The two brothers started business here in 1937, dealing mainly in motorcycles. They later specialized in magneto work and then in automotive electric service. In 1946 they established a branch at Grafton and in 1948 they dissolved the partnership, Woodrow becoming owner of the Grafton branch. Since that time each of the brothers has continued the original firm name which they still operate under.

Stanley Wilson's present operation requires 28 employes, all of the accounting for the three branch stores being handled here. With the additional room now being made available Mr. Wilson expects to expand the service of his organization, adding lines that he has not been able to handle because of space limitations.

For the time being Land O'Lakes will continue to occupy the portion of the building being used for the hatchery. Cold storage equipment is being removed from the building. Mr. Wilson takes possession of the property January 1 and expects to complete the moving by the ninth of this month.

Land O'Lakes is disposing of this property because it no longer serves a need in the operations of the organization, Frank Stone, general manager, told the Times several weeks ago. It is not built for an efficient processing operation and the accounting for all branches has been consolidated in the central office at Minneapolis where modern business machines have greatly reduced accounting costs.

Mr. Stone assured the Times that Land O'Lakes is not moving out of Thief River Falls. On the contrary Thief River Falls is becoming a more important unit of the organization's expanding service, he said. He stated that a new hatchery building is needed and that the present turkey processing plant is already inadequate. The feed grinding operation will become more important as the growing demand for bulk feeds increases.

Grade A milk processing continues to increase here as Bridgeman's, a Land O'Lakes subsidiary, expands its market and its operations. William LaFave, manager of the Bridgeman plant, states that plans are now in the making for another expansion program.

Mr. Stone stated that it is quite likely that Land O'Lakes will become a bigger taxpayer in the city in the future than it has been in the past.

Committee Plans for Early Completion of United Fund Appeal

A committee meeting of United Fund officials and workers was held in the Rex cafe Thursday noon, December 28, to map plans for the completion of the drive.

According to Morris Howick, co-chairman with Wallace Jordet for the drive, approximately 85 per cent of the $21,372 goal of the drive has been received but some contributions have not been turned in.

Meeting with Howick and Jordet were Mrs. Bill Ekstrand, who was in charge of the United Fund office in the Northern Chevrolet showroom; Rev. Marvin Carlson, pastor of the First Lutheran church; Dr. O. D. Beich, chairman of the business district drive and J. J. Womack, who will accept contributions at the Union State bank.

The group went over the records of the drive and have scheduled a second meeting Tuesday noon, January 3, at the Rex.

"There is still much to do," Howick said after the meeting. "Some of the largest contributions have not yet been turned in but we expect their envelopes before the next meeting."

Adjutant General of Minnesota Dies

Major Gen. Joseph E. Nelson, Minnesota adjutant general, died Friday. He was 63.

Nelson became ill at his office in St. Paul Thursday afternoon. He was taken to Midway Hospital, where he died.

A veteran of Mexican border service and World Wars I and II, Nelson had been adjutant general since 1949. He had been assistant adjutant general since 1927.

He was a native of Crookston and enlisted as a private in Company I of the 3rd Minnesota Infantry School and Army War in the federal service on the Mexican Border in 1916. He served two years during World War I and six and a half years during World War II when he was state director of selective service.

Nelson was a graduate of the Infantry School and Army War College.

PROPRIETOR of Wilson Brothers, and purchaser of the Land O' Lakes building on Atlantic Ave., north of the creamery, is Stanley Wilson who started his business here with his brother Woodrow in 1937. But it really is a husband and wife operation, he explains, Mrs. Wilson being an active partner as office manager.

State Peat Industry Given Another Boost

Minnesota's embryo peat industry has been given another boost with the announcement that the state executive council has approved two leases, totaling 15,000 acres, of state-owned land in St. Louis and Aitkin counties to the Red Wing Peat Corporation of Texas and to Richard T. Hart of Moose Lake.

The action paves the way for the future development of the new industry in the economically distressed area of Northeastern Minnesota.

Under terms of the lease the Red Wing company has authority to proceed with the exploration and development of peat operations in 12,000 acres of bog land in St. Louis county. The company presently has a peat operation in the Corona bog in Carlton county which will produce between 150,000 and 200,000 bales during the current fiscal year.

Hart's lease comprises 3,000 acres in the northwestern section of Aitkin county. Both leases are scheduled to run for 25 years. The leases provide for an exploration period of five years at a graduating rent of from 2c to 10c per acre.

Upon expiration of the exploratory period, the leases call for a rent of 50c per acre per year for the first three years and $1 per acre per year thereafter.

Upon commencement of a full-scale peat removal operation the companies will pay a royalty to the state on all peat shipped of 2c per 6 cu. ft. bale, having an average weight of 80 pounds, or one per cent of the gross price of the peat as sold f.o.b. plant site, whichever is greater.

The companies may begin peat removal operations anytime before the close of the five year exploration period upon written notice to the Commissioner of Conservation. The lands involved in the leasing are swamp areas which here-to-fore yielded relatively little income to the state.

State Peat Industry Given Another Boost

Minnesota's embryo peat industry has been given another boost with the announcement that the state executive council has approved two leases, totaling 15,000 acres, of state-owned land in St. Louis and Aitkin counties to the Red Wing Peat Corporation of Texas and to Richard T. Hart of Moose Lake.

The action paves the way for the future development of the new industry in the economically distressed area of Northeastern Minnesota.

Under terms of the lease the Red Wing company has authority to proceed with the exploration and development of peat operations in 12,000 acres of bog land in St. Louis county. The company presently has a peat operation in the Corona bog in Carlton county which will produce between 150,000 and 200,000 bales during the current fiscal year.

Hart's lease comprises 3,000 acres in the northwestern section of Aitkin county. Both leases are scheduled to run for 25 years. The leases provide for an exploration period of five years at a graduating rent of from 2c to 10c per acre.

Upon expiration of the exploratory period, the leases call for a rent of 50c per acre per year for the first three years and $1 per acre per year thereafter.

Upon commencement of a full-scale peat removal operation the companies will pay a royalty to the state on all peat shipped of 2c per 6 cu. ft. bale, having an average weight of 80 pounds, or one per cent of the gross price of the peat as sold f.o.b. plant site, whichever is greater.

The companies may begin peat removal operations anytime before the close of the five year exploration period upon written notice to the Commissioner of Conservation. The lands involved in the leasing are swamp areas which here-to-fore yielded relatively little income to the state.

TRF Airport Has Busiest Year to Date During 1960

operation in 1960, it is expected use of radio by owners of the smaller aircraft will increase tremendously in the next year or so.

Through Nov. 30 this year over 20,000 gallons of aviation fuel, 80 and 100 octane, had been pumped here, also a record. Airport income from all sources through the same date was over $13,000, another all-time high.

The past year has also been busy from a local traffic standpoint. The local flying club has increased activity since purchasing a larger plane in July and approximately 15 students are taking instructions from Martin Rantanen, local air service operator. Twelve are enrolled in a night ground school course at the field. Among these are Mayor Orin Green, who soloed in late November.

A Ryan Navion has been purchased by the Forsberg company here for business use, while Rantanen has bought a Piper Pawnee sprayer for operations next spring. The Pawnee is a special design for agricultural use and has been on the market only a few years.

Shop facilities here also attract a great deal of traffic. This results in a fairly steady flow of planes in and out, with usually three or four planes in for maintenance, inspection and repair at all times. Students at the shop get experience working on "live" aircraft as necessary but for the most part commercial work comes after school hours.

Unless business conditions over the country as a whole deteriorate drastically it is expected that use of the airport facility here will grow at an increased rate in the years to come.

Predictions are that 9,000 aircraft will be sold to general aviation users in the U.S. in 1961, at a cost of over $500 million.

There are in the U.S. today approximately 70,000 privately-owned aircraft which account for well over 90 per cent of hours flown, as contrasted with just over 2,000 commercial airliners accounting for less than 10 per cent of hours flown by non-military aircraft.

"THAR WAS GOLD IN THEM ISLANDS"

Just how the discovery was made history doesn't seem to clearly record, but in 1893 gold was found up in the Rainy Lake country, on a small island now called Little American, not far offshore from Northwest Angle. Mining operations got under way in 1894 and a sizeable gold rush developed, including a full-fledged stamping mill in the brand new frontier town of Rainy Lake City, on the south shore of the island. Soon there were one each: hardware store, butcher shop, building material dealer, sawmill, barber shop, bank, school, jail, customs office, postoffice, and newspaper; two restaurants, three general stores, three hotels, and five saloons. No mention was made of a church. In a couple of years the claims petered out and in '96 the principal mind wound up in litigation and was closed. Only evidence today of Minnesota's glittering hour are a few scars that probably mark the diggin's. And the still unspoiled scenery of the Black Bay area.

A Welcome Visit

When coach Bob Johnson brought his Minneapolis Roosevelt hockey squad into town on Wednesday night for a game against the Prowlers, and which the Teddies lost by a 2 to 0 score, local baseball fans had an opportunity to renew acquaintances with Johnson.

It was 'way back in 1951 that Johnson, then a student at the University of Minnesota, came up into this area as director of the summer baseball program at Red Lake Falls, and as a pitcher for the Lakers in the Northern Minny league.

That was the season in which the Thieves, under the managership of Phil (Lefty) LeGault, won the Northern Minny league title and the Region 28 championship, gaining a berth in the state amateurs at Faribault.

The Thieves drafted Johnson for play in the regional and state tournaments, and the righthander paid dividends for he hurled the locals to a 4 to 3 win over the Ada Athletics in the regional finals, and gave the Thieves a surprising 5 to 3 win over Dick Eich's favored Little Falls team in a state tourney first round game. The Thieves dropped their second game in the state meet, losing by an 8 to 3 score to the Soderville team, the club that went on to win the state Class B title.

The Thieves' batting order that faced the Little Falls club that afternoon in September of 1951, was as follows: Al Williamson, left field; Blackie Stephens, catcher; Wayne Gothe, shortstop; Swede Lund, center field; Phil LeGault, right field; Bob Johnson, pitcher; Wayne Johnson, second base; Rod Kaisler, first base; and Larry Perkins, third base. Stephens, Gothe and Lund each rapped out a pair of hits in five trips to the plate.

Johnson expressed great interest in coach Jack Junker's Prowler basketball team, and reported that the Twin cities high school cage experts are also watching the play of the blue-and-gold squad. Bob added that he had witnessed the Roosevelt vs. state champion Edgerton game the other week, and in which the Roosevelt team scored a solid win over Edgerton. He stated that at one time in the game the Teddies held a lead of nearly 30 points, having a margin of 20 to 6 at the end of the first period. Roosevelt controlled the rebounds, and by applying a pressing defense were able to disrupt the Edgerton offense.

A Valued Member

The Bobcats are playing independent hockey this season, and as of Thursday night coach Mayasich's club had compiled a 12-game winning streak. And that Jackie is a valued member of the club and a factor in the team's success is indicated by the scoring statistics which reveal that he is in second place in the total point column.

Mayasich, who was a defensive hero on the United States Olympic champions last season, is the Bobcats' leader, having scored four goals and credited with 18 assists, for 22 points. Jackie has seven goals and ten assists for 17 points and runner-up honors. Dick Dougherty and Mike Pearson, former University of Minnesota players, shared third place with 16 points, having identical seven goals and nine assists records.

A Prime Target

Judging by the early season games, it is apparent that coach Jack Junker's basketball Prowlers are one of the prime targets of Region Eight teams. That is, the Prowlers are second to the Bemidji Lumberjacks as a target for the opposing coaches and teams. Bemidji is, and has been for many years, the "villain" in Region Eight basketball; but this year the Prowlers have moved up into that category.

The Prowlers, after a week's recess, will return to their practice sessions this week in preparation for next week's game at Ada. The locals, with a five-game winning streak in the scorebook, will meet the Vikings on Saturday night, Jan. 7.

Last year, it will be recalled, the Ada team scored a 43 to 35 win over the locals in a game played on the high school floor here. Of that Ada team, such players as Dwayne Stadum, Craig Bowyer, John Blasey, and Dave Lambert have been graduated. The Prowlers should enter the game as favorites, but you can never tell. Ada will be aiming at one of the Region Eight "targets."

Surplus Foods Aid School Children

$70,000,000 Worth Used in School Lunch Program

According to a report received in the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, during the 1960 fiscal year, more than $70 million worth of surplus commodities acquired by the Department of Agriculture under price support and surplus removal programs went to feed children in schools throughout the country.

The surplus commodities are available to nonparticipating schools as well as to schools taking part in the national school lunch program.

The department also reports the surplus foods distributed to the schools included butter, cheese, nonfat dry milk, honey, flour, cornmeal, peanut butter, rice, dried whole eggs and sweet potatoes.

Most of the food served under the school lunch program—approximately 80 per cent—was purchased locally by the public and non-profit private schools participating in the program.

Charlie Smith Heads New Baseball Group

Many Licenses on Boats Are Due for Renewal in 1961

Those persons whose boat licenses expire at the close of the present year should make application for renewal around March 1. The renewed license certificate must be in the boat owner's possession before the boat may be lawfully operated on state waters in 1961.

Supervisor of boat registrations, Milt Johnson, said today that all license renewal applications are expected to be processed by April 1. Applications must be made to the county auditors or their agents in the same manner as the original registration, said Johnson.

"Do not make application to the department of conservation," Johnson said. "All renewals must be handled by county auditors or their agents."

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Converting low-producing brush pasture into improved grass-legume pasture has paid off on the Virgil Salmonson farm in the Kanabec Soil and Water Conservation District. With advice on the best areas to clear from Gerald Sullivan, SCS technician at Mora, Salmonson went to work on a 454-acre tract of brush and poplar trees. The tract was disked, and reseeded at a cost of about $50 per acre. The area now produces high quality forage and livestock carrying capacity is increased about six times over the old pasture. This past summer Salmonson built a stock watering pond in his pasture to give him better distribution of livestock grazing. His future plans call for dividing the pasture into several parts and having his herd graze the fields in rotation.

After putting in a contour strip cropping system last spring Elmer Stangler, who farms in LeSueur county, didn't have to wait very long to find out the strips were good insurance. After Stangler and Lynn Skalfe, SCS technician at LeCenter, had laid out about 30 strips, some very heavy rains fell on the field. "Contour tillage of the grain and cultivator furrows on the contoured corn fields cut the erosion way down compared with that on another field farmed up and down the hill," says Stangler.

Field Shelter Belts have always been an important soil conservation practice in Wilkin county. According to Howard Dawson, Tenney district supervisor, this type of planting has been under way for the past 16 years. During this time two tree planting crews operating district owned tree planters have set out nearly 150 miles of trees in field shelterbelts. The almost 10-mile per year average was nearly tripled during 1960 when 30 miles were established. The change from 3-row shelterbelts to 1-row shelterbelts and an increase in the ACP incentive cost sharing have played an important part in farmers' decisions to plant more trees.

Excellent results from his livestock watering pit are reported by Harley Busbey, supervisor of the Crow Wing County Soil Conservation District. Busbey, who farms 260 acres 10 miles S. E. of Brainerd constructed his pit in the summer of 1959. The recent re-routing of Minnesota State Highway 218 cut Mr. Busebey's pasture off from the farmstead and made it necessary for his milking herd to go through a cattle pass to get water at the barn. "Since the construction of the pit my cows have maintained better than average production last summer and rarely had to leave the pasture except at milking time," Busbey says.

U. S. Treasury Thanks Institutions for Their Unpaid Voluntary Help

The U. S. Treasury today paid tribute to the bankers of America for their 20 years of volunteer service to the United States savings bonds program.

Since May 1941, the nation's banks have been the principal issuing agents for more than two billion Series E savings bonds bought by millions of citizens, many of whom saved their first money through bonds. In the salute to the banking profession, the Treasury statement said:

"America's banks have sold nearly two billion separate savings bonds since 1941, at no cost to the government or the purchasers. The bond program and the banking business have grown together. Hand in hand, they've helped make Americans the savingest people in the world."

In responding to the salute, Carl A. Bimson, president of the Valley National Bank of Phoenix, Arizona, and president of the American Bankers association, said:

"America's banks are proud to be a part of the bond program. We believe it is good for America, an economic stabilizer; it is good for the individual, the community, and it is good for banking. The promotion of savings bonds has helped to make savers out of non-savers, to revitalize the American tradition of thrift, and to build savings in all forms to record levels.

Social Security Agent Coming to TRF on Tuesday

A representative of the Grand Forks District Office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, January 3, at 10 a.m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Many farmers are not aware that even though no income tax is due, a federal tax return must be filed to report their farm earnings for social security purposes. For additional information they may contact the social security office at Grand Forks.

State Unemployment Fund Reserves Short

As 1960 drew to a close, there was $63.5 million in the Minnesota unemployment compensation fund, according to estimated figures released this week by Commissioner Frank T. Starkey of the Minnesota department of employment security.

This figure represents a reduction of $11.9 million, 15.8 per cent from the $75.4 million available for benefits at the beginning of the year, according to Starkey.

During 1960, $36 million was paid out in benefits and $22.6 million was collected in the form of contributions from some 42,000 employers covered by the state law. The fund earned $2.0 million in interest during the year.

The drop in the fund's balance does not in itself tell the full story of the fund's adequacy, says Starkey, because it does not reveal that the obligations have increased greatly, thus causing a marked decrease in the amount of protection for each insured individual.

To illustrate the inadequacy of the present financing of the Unemployment Compensation Fund, Starkey pointed out that at the end of 1949 the amount available for each of the 531,700 insured workers was $229 with the maximum obligation of the fund to any individual being $625. The persons covered by the fund were protected by a reserve of 36.6 per cent of their maximum claims against it.

At the end of 1960 this protection for the 683,753 currently covered workers in private industry had declined to $92.87 or only 9.4 per cent of the maximum of $988 available to any worker.

The commissioner said the need for revision of the financing provisions of the law was recognized by the legislature in the last two sessions "but a difference in financing methods, between the House and Senate, could not be resolved and no action was taken."

New Years Eve Poem Composed by Police

High in the upper reaches of city Auditorium, there resides a quartet of philosopher-poets.

"Poets," of course, are their unofficial titles for their main duties are concerned with enforcing the law. They are all officers of the Thief River Falls police department.

With New Year's Eve just around the corner and the usual problems which will arise, one anonymous poet has taken the famous poem, "The Raven," by Edgar Allen Poe, and changed it to fit the occasion. Potential celebrants would do well to read this bit of verse before overdoing a good thing.

NEVERMORE

(Tendered with apologies to Edgar Allen Poe)

Quietly I sat there working
For my duties not a-shirking;
Suddenly there rose a clamor
Just as if he had a hammer
Beating on the jailhouse door.
With the din that rose terrific
Came through a request specific,
"Release me from behind this door!"
Quoth the jailer, "Nevermore."

Now the pounding slowly eased
Ebbed and flower, then almost ceased;
Came then back a fearful tirade
From incarcerated so irate
As it slobbered on the floor.
With incarnate lips it boasted
My superiors will be roasted.
"Open up this jailhouse door!"
Repeat the answer, "Nevermore."

Then the line was one of pleading,
Told of mother's heart a-bleeding,
Of the light that was a-burning,
Of her still endearing yearning;
All this behind another door.
Then the temper changed to fury,
"You can't do this without a jury,
I repeated, "Nevermore."

Time has passed, now all is quiet
There no longer is a riot
Coming from behind the door—
Only a stentorian snore.
Slowly I resume my work
Interrupted by this jerk
With his rant and rave and roar
And his beating on the door;
Soft I mutter, "Nevermore."

Then my heart begins to soften
New Year's Eve does not come often.
Does it also lose its meaning
To the one who stands there leaning.
Wanting to go out that door?
The intent is not to coddle
So if I give him back his bottle
To send him happy on his way.
There will be "Another day."

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

by JIM KIMBALL

"The North Star Story" may become as familiar to you as "Gunsmoke" or "I've Got a Secret." It is the title of a series of half-hour programs being launched by your department of conservation. KSTP-TV, Channel 5, and several other stations throughout Minnesota will carry the program Saturdays from 12:30 to 1 p.m.

Governor Elmer L. Andersen will highlight the first program Saturday, January 7. You will also be taken on a tour through the Conservation department and given a pictorial view of the stories to be told in weeks to come.

A major problem in Minnesota, as it is in every state, is getting conservation information to our citizens. Few people realize that the Conservation department is not like big business in every respect. We are not blessed with a large advertising department, big publicity budgets and plentiful public relations talent.

We do the best we can with what we have. Our weekly news releases to all news media in the state are used by many editors, and we appreciate their help. Many radio stations are now using the tapes which we started to put out about four months ago. Department personnel give thousands of talks each year; "Show Me" trips are conducted at many of our refuges field stations; and many special meetings are held—such as the one for all who sell hunting and fishing licenses which will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., January 15, at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis.

Even this column tries, in its small way, to keep our conservation-minded Minnesota people informed — but all this is not enogh, not nearly enough. We thank our lucky stars that Minnesotans do thirst for knowledge of their outdoor resources. We must do everything possible to satisfy this wholesome thirst — so the coming TV series has us thrilled, excited, terriby busy — and scared.

Thanks to KSTP and the other stations which carry the program free on public service time, and thanks to the KSTP news staff and their versatile cameras, we can put on the program with little money. We hope to entertain and inform your whole family by bringing you wild animals, experts from many fields, kids, and exciting movies from thruout the state.

We plan to show you what a wildlife management area is; how eggs are taken from walleyes, hatched and reared; what a game warden does; how forests affect your pocketbook and your pleasure; the story of our waters, our parks and our mines; and even how trees are planted and forest fires are fought.

Nat Johnson is a familiar name to you who do much reading in the conservation field. Now you will see him as the familiar face on these TV programs.

We hope you have fun watching "The North Star Story" and we hope you will better understand and appreciate the natural resources which make Minnesota the most profitable and pleasant place to enjoy life.

PARK NUMBERS AND INTEREST GROW

Minnesota state parks are attracting visitors at a phenomenal rate, Department of Conservation reports. In the past five years park acreage has increased 12,616 acres: 816 donated, 2,047 from state and local agencies, 8,546 tax forfeited; 16 existing parks were enlarged, seven new ones established. In the same period the number of visitors increased 50 per cent to nearly three million annually, camper days soared 600 per cent. For the next decade, expansion of 22 parks and addition of 40 new park areas, involving an $8,000,000 improvement program, are department hopes. Besides projected expansion of Fort Ridgely, Kathio and Frontenac parks, proposed new park areas include sites in Aitkin, Cass, Chisago, Goodhue, Houston, Hennepin, Koochiching (two), Lake, Lake of the Woods, Redwood, and Yellow Medicine counties. Along Minnesota's 42,571 miles of highways there are 309 wayside parking areas.

Aliens Required to Report Addresses

Annual Registration Scheduled for January

W. T. Flagg, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at St. Paul, stated that aliens are required to report their addresses during January under the federal alien address report program.

The immigration official said that over 30,000 aliens filed address reports in Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota during January, 1960.

Flagg said that all noncitizens, except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers, are required to file the address report.

He added that any alien who willfully violates the address report requirement may be fined up to $200, imprisoned for 30 days, and deported.

Flagg said that address report cards will be available at postoffices.

HOW LONG DO ANIMALS LIVE?

Minnesota Conservation Volunteer recently published a "life expectancy" table which indicates that the chipmunk can look forward to only 12 years of life while the giant tortoise is capable of 152 years; box turtles can reach 123, swans 102, parrots 80, elephants 69; horses are known to have lived as long as 50 years, and lowly English sparrow a remarkable 23 years. Squirrels have a life expectancy of 16 years, frogs and toads 30 to 36 years, beavers only 19.

1961 Clothing Prices to Remain about Same

You'll pay about the same for your clothing in 1961 as you did in 1960. Any rise in price will be slight.

Since average personal income is expected to go up, consumers may buy more clothing in the coming year. But supplies of materials are adequate to meet any demand.

Since the end of the war, retail prices for clothing have risen less than for food, housing, transportation, medical care, personal care, reading and recreation and other goods and services. Fluctuations in apparel prices have been very moderate, particularly since the Korean period, according to Athelene Scheid, extension clothing specialist at the University of Minnesota. Not until September, 1960 did the price index for apparel reach a level as high as 10 per cent above the three postwar years 1947 to 1949, compared with almost 27 per cent for all commodities and services.

Women's clothing, particularly, has shown little increase in price since the war. Since 1947-1949 prices of men's and boys' clothing have risen 12 per cent as compared with only one per cent for women's and girls' apparel. In the past year, the price increase for men's and boys' clothing was 2.7 per cent as compared with one per cent or less for the other groups of apparel.

Accounting for the difference in price increases is the fact that men's and boys' clothes are primarily wool and cotton, whereas manmade fibers play a more important role in women's clothing. Since 1953 prices of wool and cotton apparel have risen, while prices on manmade fiber apparel have gone down.

In the last 10 years, price increases on shoes have been far greater than on any other individual clothing item, Miss Scheid says.

County Contests to Be Held During January

"How Can I Help Promote World Peace" is the subject of the nineteenth annual state 4-H radio speaking contest.

Finals in the state contest are scheduled for March 4. County contests must be completed by February 4 and district contests will be held from February 4 to 25.

All 4-H club members in Minnesota are eligible to enter the county speaking contests. However, participants in the district contests must be at least 14 years of age and not more than 21 years of age on January 1, 1961. College students who have completed more than 45 weeks of college by March 4, 1961, and previous state champions and reserve state champions are ineligible.

Local contests are arranged under the direction of local club leaders and county extension agents.

The contest is sponsored by the Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service and the Jewish Community Relations Council of Minnesota. Awards are given by the Jewish Council.

Nearly 1,000 Minnesota 4-H'ers participated in this contest last year, according to Wayne Bath, district 4-H club leader.

NUMBER OF SCHOOL DISTRICTS DWINDLES

That there are today approximately 2,579 school districts in Minnesota, compared with 7,685 20 years ago, it is pointed out by the State Advisory Commission on School Reorganization. Of these 451 maintain both elementary and secondary schools, 25 maintain only graded elementary schools, 1341 ungraded elementary schools. That leaves 762 districts in which no school was operated during the 1959-60 school year. The 476 districts with graded schools enroll 93 per cent of the state's total school population, with the remaining 7 per cent scattered among more than 2,100 districts. The districts vary in size from less than 10 square miles to more than 100, averaging more than 60 each. With just about a third as many districts today as 20 years ago, 36 counties have reduced by more than 75 per cent while six counties have effected less than 25 per cent reduction in number of districts. In about a fourth of the districts non-resident enrollment is less than one per cent, in 43 districts it is more than 50 per cent.

Editorials . . .

"The sun is just rising on the morning of another day, the first day of a new year. What can I wish that this day, this year may bring to me? Nothing that shall make the world of others poorer, nothing at the expense of other men; but just those few things which in their coming do not stop with me, but touch me rather as they pass and gather strength.

"A few friends who understand me, and yet remain my friends.

"A work to do which has real value, without which the world would feel the poorer. A return for such work small enough not to tax unduly any one who pays.

"A mind unafraid to travel, even though the trail be not blazed. An understanding heart.

"A sight of the eternal hills and unresting sea, and of something beautiful the hand of man has made. A sense of humor and the power to laugh. A little leisure with nothing to do. A few moments of quiet, silent meditation. The sense of the presence of God.

"And the patience to wait for the coming of these things, with the wisdom to know them when they come."

—W. R. Hunt

A Difficult Decision

At a special election to be held next Sunday the people of France will reject or approve President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian policy. The referendum will determine whether the Algerians will be given immediate, temporary self-government, for the purpose of deciding for themselves their own government status.

It is hoped that this election will open the door to a peaceful solution of the Algerian problem, but that will not necessarily follow. The people of Algeria are far from being united and what has been a native revolution against France could develop into a very bitter civil war.

The people of France have a difficult decision to make.

So What?

More than 700 persons were killed in traffic accidents in Minnesota in 1960. The National Safety Council guesses that more than 38,000 persons lost their lives in highway accidents thruout the nation last year.

These figures deal only with the number who died. Several times as many more were injured. The casualties totaled many more than 100,000. In terms of the dollar cost of the property destroyed, we paid out billions.

The dollar cost is not the most important thing, but this dollar cost is distributed among all of us who pay insurance premiums and in this way we all are required to contribute our share.

The really disturbing thing about this annual slaughter is the fact that we have come to accept it as something inevitable. More than a hundred persons killed each day of the year, and several hundred injured. So what?

We Can Wait Two Years

The interim building commission has reduced substantially the requests of state departments and institutions but will recommend appropriations totalling more than $33 million for new construction nevertheless. That is nearly $19 million less than the appropriations for new buildings by the last session. The fact that the commission cut departmental and institution requests by two-thirds encourages the hope that state government is on the way back to good management.

Most encouraging thing about the report was the rejection of all of the University of Minnesota requests for new buildings on the west campus in Minneapolis, which prompted the St. Paul Pioneer Press to make this observation:

> "The West Bank campus project received no funds in the commission's report. Generally, commission members felt that declines in university enrollment justified taking another look at this phase of the institution's program.
> "This pause of two years on the West Bank will give educators ample opportunity to develop a comprehensive plan for higher education in Minnesota, including costs of expansion and how such expansion should proceed on a state-wide level.
> "The legislature should demand such a plan before they authorize expenditure of any more money on the West Bank."

We agree with the Pioneer Press that this would be a good time to defer action on all proposals to expand higher education in Minnesota. There is no emergency need. We can get along very nicely for another two years with the facilities we have. A delay is justified because at the present time we have no "comprehensive plan" to follow as a guide. The issues are confused and we are divided by too many conflicting interests, with no education authority to give us responsible leadership. And a delay is justified too because our state finances are in a mess.

A delay of two years probably would save us the high cost of a number of foolish mistakes.

The New York Disaster

The crash of two airliners over New York City, resulting in the death of 137 persons, brought the total number of fatalities on scheduled domestic airlines this year to 388, breaking the 1959 record of 294. This disaster also increased the number of passengers killed per 100,000,000 passenger miles from 0.45 to 0.65. Railroads provided the safest transportation, the dead per 100,000,000 passenger miles last year being 0.26. The highways have been the most hazardous, the highway accidents resulting in deaths being 2.4 per 100,000,000 passenger miles. The injury factor would add further to the highway hazard figure.

As the number of vehicles on our highways increase, and as more and faster planes result in congestion over our air terminals, the problem of safety and traffic control becomes more difficult. Considering the number of planes in the air, and the speed at which they move, under all kinds of weather conditions, the occasional accident is understandable. Great progress has been made in the control of this traffic. The crash over New York points up the need for still more effective safety measures.

The New York Times, discussing the problem of traffic control as planes approach major cities for landing, points out that in the New York City area, there are a daily average of 1,663 take-offs and landings at the three airports, Idlewild, LaGuardia and Newark. There are times when many planes are circling over the area at various levels, waiting for their instructions to land. Under such conditions it probably will never be possible to overcome completely the hazards of mechanical failure and human error.

And recognition of that fact no doubt accounts for the general restraint of informed observers in their comments on the crash that took the lives of 137 persons in New York. Quite typical is the conclusion of the New York Times, which carried a very complete report on the crash, along with the probabilities and the possibilities. Said the Times:

> "Those who fly can be reassured to know that—since the grisly collision of two planes over the Grand Canyon several years ago and the report of the President's committee that led to the creation of the F.A.A.—a massive program for the modernization of traffic control has been undertaken. Then, too, in spite of the fact that there are said to be four near-collisions in the air every day, some 1,200 instrumental flights in and out of the New York airports are successfully completed every day when weather conditions are bad.
> "Obviously the probability of another catastrophe such as Friday's is close to microscopic. But, just as obviously, even that remote chance must be done away with—and without delay."

That electronic computing machine which forecast the election of Nixon by more than 400 electoral votes early on election night and then less than four hours later predicted the election of Kennedy by more than 400 electoral votes set the science of electronics back at least another four years in public confidence insofar as early interpretation of national election returns is concerned. The tea leaves in the bottom of the teacup came closer to accuracy in prognostication.

Good Will Also Is Golden

(Christian Science Monitor)

International response to American needs in the world gold situation indicates that the soundness of the dollar rests on something more than the question solely of how much gold there is in Fort Knox. A perhaps equal asset is the friendly understanding of countries which have been aided financially in the last decade or more.

Twice within two months the Bank of England has reduced its rate (now to 5 per cent) so that this now is less of a magnet drawing footloose capital from New York. The change may partly suit the internal and European situation but it is the face of an announced determination to keep credit tight.

The Netherlands is said to be planning to repay ahead of time some $100 million of a postwar credit advanced by the United States and thereby to correct a situation in which almost too much American private money has moved into the Amsterdam stock market.

Premier Ikeda of Japan has said his country must cooperate with United States actions because "it is in the interest of the entire free world to keep America's economy healthy." Just to be willing to absorb the impact of American defensive moves may be a major sacrifice for Japan.

And the International Monetary Fund has sold $300 million of gold to the United States Treasury, taking short-term interest-bearing certificates in return. This enables the Treasury to show an upturn in the nation's gold stock for the first time in months.

Dr. Reinhard Kamitz, president of the National Bank of Austria, recently implied that as long as there is confidence in the dollar among central bankers and an understanding that some of the pressures on it are temporary there is no need for serious fears.

A sense of community of interest abroad and of earnestness on the part of Americans in living within their national means can be important assets along with the $18 billions of gold behind the United States currency.

A Third Platform

(Pittsburgh Post-Gazette)

We don't know what party is behind it, but an imaginative new Presidential platform has hit our desk. Its a simple proposal:

"Instead of hundreds of federal bureaus, this country needs only five; one to raise the wages of everyone who works, one to increase the pensions of those who do not work, one to raise the price of everything we sell, one to lower the price of everything we buy, and one to raise the money to pay for it all."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

The junior executive had been complaining of aches and pains to his wife. Neither one could account for his trouble.

Arriving home from work one night, he informed her, "I finally discovered why I've been feeling so miserable. We got some ultra-modern office furniture two weeks ago and I just learned today that I've been sitting in the waste basket."

M. A. Lindberg New Chairman County Board

Named to Succeed Odin Hanson; Glenn Tasa Vice Chairman

Merle A. Lindberg, entering on his 11th year as a member of the Pennington county board, was named to serve as chairman at the board's organization meeting Tuesday, succeeding Odin Hanson. Glenn Tasa was elected vice chairman.

Taking his place on the board was a new member, Woodrow Almquist, who was named to succeed Carl R. Anderson in the November 8 election, representing the western part of the county.

Dr. H. Paul Wendt was reappointed county health officer, and H. B. Rafteseth was renamed veterans service officer on a part-time basis at a salary of $100 a month. Odin Hanson was appointed to serve this year on the Oakland Park Rest Home commission.

The sum of $150 was appropriated for the Red River Valley Winter Shows, the same as in recent past years, and $100 was voted to the Pennington County Crop Improvement association to assist in financing its annual feed and seed show in this city.

Drawn by the board were 72 names for grand jury duty, 144 for petit jury and 72 for jury duty in probate court. Clerk hire was allotted to county offices on a basis similar to that of previous years, and several highway department employes were given pay increases.

On and off-sale beer licenses were granted to Kife's Cafe, Erie store and Carpenter's, while the license at Highlanding formerly held by Carlie Eig was transferred to Bennie Groven. An on-sale license was renewed for the Thief River Golf club.

Following a request in behalf of turkey growers that the board resume payment of fox bounties, County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr was instructed to ascertain what action is being taken in the matter by neighboring counties.

County Engineer Joseph Seidel was ordered to advertise for bids to be opened February 7 on a new two-and-one-half ton truck for the highway department.

Penalties on Car License Plates in Effect January 11

Sales Lag Behind Last Year, Says Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, Deputy Registrar

Area owners of motor vehicles were reminded today by Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, deputy registrar in Thief River Falls, that license tabs for 1961 must be purchased by next Tuesday, January 10, to avoid the penalty for late payment.

The penalty for cars and trucks is $1 from January 11 to 21, $2 from then thru January 31, and $2.50 on and after February 1. On mobile home licenses, an eight per cent penalty is imposed under the personal property tax law.

The deputy registrar's office under the Union State bank will be open each day this week, including Saturday, from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Hanson stated that the sale of licenses has been slower this season than a year ago, approximately 3,000 passenger car and 1,000 truck licenses having been sold, these figures adding up to approximately 1,000 less than of this date a year ago. She added, however, that there had been a substantial rise in the sale of mobile home licenses.

TWO T. R. FALLS SAILORS FINISH BOOT TRAINING

Gary C. Lofgren, son of Mrs. Isabella Lofgren, and Stanford B. Pladson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Pladson, all of Thief River Falls, graduated from recruit training December 9 at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, California.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp", included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

Pennington county Seed Growers association will hold the show at Thief River Falls on Friday, fourth annual seed and feed day, February 3, according to President Silas Hanson.

The show is designed to improve practices in the production of crops whether they are marketed for cash or thru livestock. With one-half of Pennington county income derived from cash grains in the surrounding area, the crops industry which includes grains and forages is highly important.

Farmers, 4-H and FFA members have an excellent opportunity to exhibit samples at this show. All are urged to bring in samples, including 2 quarts of any cleaned grain, grass or legume; 1 bushel of any seed grain which the farmer has for sale as seed; 1 bushel of certified grain seed along with a tag; 2 quaters of certified legume or grass seed with a tag; 20 potatoes; 10 ears of corn; 2 quarts of silage in a plastic sack; and a slice of baled or loose hay.

Premium money will be paid on all lots. The samples remain the property of the farmer and will be returned.

The show is sponsored thru the cooperation of many agencies. These include the Pennington County Crop Improvement association; TRF Chamber of Commerce; seed, feed and fertilizer dealers; banks and loan firms; Pennington county, and the Red Lake Electric Co-op.

The program of the Seed and Feed show is expected to be completed next week and will be announced at that time.

In other action taken by the association at the December meeting, Wilbur Hallstrom was selected delegate to the State Crop Improvement association meeting to be held at the St. Paul campus Wednesday, January 18; Leonard Melin was named alternate delegate.

CHAIRMAN of the Pennington county board for 1961 is Merle A. Lindberg, office manager of the Starekow Clinic, who was elected at the board's organization meting Tuesday to succed Odin Hanson. Lindberg has served on the board the past ten years.

County Welfare Department Aids 500 During 1960

Case Load Remains about Same as in 1959, Reports Ralph T. Hunt, Secretary

The year 1960 saw the case load for the Pennington county welfare department at about the shame level as for the previous year, Ralph T. Hunt, executive secretary, stated this week. Approximately 500 persons were receiving financial help through the agency during the year. However, the service programs continue to increase yearly.

Also, the number of persons living here but receiving their assistance payments from other counties continues to increase steadily. In these cases the local agency has to extend the same service to these people as to the persons who are legal residents of the county. However, this is advantageous because the money these people receive is spent locally and thus helps this community.

During 1960 the staff of the welfare department had a total of 7,500 contacts with clients and with other people in regard to clients' cases. The welfare board formally approved 35 new old-age assistance cases, 22 aid to dependent children cases, six aid to disabled cases, and 25 general relief cases.

Two old-age assistance applications, three aid to dependent children applications, three aid to disabled applications, and 13 general relief applications were formally denied by the board.

In addition the staff gave service in 46 cases of mental illness, and 42 new child welfare cases. Services were given on 144 old-age assistance cases, 21 aid to dependent children cases, three aid to the blind cases, and 15 general relief cases all living here, but receiving financial assistance from other counties.

$600 Damage Is Caused by House Fire January 1st

A blaze originating Sunday evening shortly before 10 o'clock caused approximately $600 damage to a dwelling at 510 East First st. owned by Vernon Quam and occupied by the E. M. Sandberg family.

Fire Chief Roy Langevin reported that the fire started in a partition near the fireplace, the partition being destroyed. Dense smoke caused additional damage and necessitated the use of masks by firemen.

The Sandbergs were driven out of their home in subzero weather. The damage is expected to be repaired today or tomorrow.

Under the 1960 amendments to the Social Security law, payments may now be made to the widows of insured workers who died after March 31, 1938 and before January 1, 1940, to their aged dependent parents and to their disabled sons and daughters. Previous to the 1960 amendments survivors benefits were not paid unless the worker died after December 1, 1939.

Gov. Andersen Reveals Plans at Inaugural

State Legislature Opens 1961 Session in St. Paul Tuesday

The Minnesota state legislature opened its 1961 biennial session Tuesday, when the two houses organized, with the Liberals in control of the house and the Conservatives controlling the senate.

Elmer L. Andersen, who succeeded Orville Freeman as governor, was sworn into office and delivered his inaugural address Wednesday at a joint session of the two houses.

In outlining a broad program embracing welfare, education, agriculture and many other problems, Andersen declared:

"May I say that my approach will not be one of extreme partisanship. It never has been. It will be my purpose to work with both groups of both houses, and with every individual legislator in achieving constructive legislation."

Andersen said one of his first concerns is with the fiscal condition of state government. He added:

"Due to spending more than has been coming in, reserves have been consumed and deficits created.

"The income tax school fund will have a deficit of $18 million on June 30, and the general revenue fund a deficit of $4 million. The condition of other funds is a matter of real concern."

He said his budge message to be presented early in the session, will provide an adequately financed program for the next two years. He said he will treat with deficits and deficiencies in a special message.

Andersen said he is convinced that the people want and are

Chief Cummings' 1960 Police Report Lists 190 Traffic Mishaps

For the second straight year city police registered a decrease in the number of traffic tickets issued, with 1666 for 1960 as compared with 1733 in 1959, according to Chief Elton Cummings, in the annual police report released this week.

The number of accidents is up four, from 186 to 190, including 21 hit-run mishaps. For the first year in many the department included in its report a pedestrian traffic fatality. The number of accidents reported to police declined, 44 to 32. One drowning was reported against none in 1959.

There were substantial increases in some types of traffic violations, and decreases in others. There were 33 careless driving tickets issued, as compared with 24 in 1959, while stop sign violations numbered 22, down 18 from the previous year.

The most noticeable increase was registered in the number of speeders apprehended. There were 83 violations in 1960, an increase of 45 from 1959. There were seven fewer cases of driving under the influence of intoxicants last year than in 1959, with 24 recorded.

A marked decrease was noted in most juvenile offenses, and especially in offenses involving alcoholic beverages. Possession of beer charges against minors decreased by nearly half, 29 as compared with 53 last year. Curfew violations decreased, 62 to 107. There were 55 cases of juvenile larceny, up 38. At the same time, there were only 26 cases of shoplifting by juveniles, a decrease of 18.

The dog population also decreased in the city, if the number of licenses sold is an an indication. There were 186 in '60, 194 in '59. Thus, Cummings stated, 1960 wasn't such a bad year, and, as the last item indicates, the city definitely isn't going to the dogs!

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Vraa and Ann of Browns Valley left for their home Monday after spending the holidays at the Albert Balvin and Olaf Vraa homes.

Mrs. L. Travnicek Is Awarded Car in Guessing Contest

An amazingly accurate guess by Mrs. Leo Travnicek, 703 Markley av. S., won her a 1961 Ford Falcon car in the recent Standby "Guess the Vote" contest sponsored by the Pacific Gamble-Robinson company, she was notified this week by Bill Holmes, manager of the Thief River Falls branch.

Mrs. Travnicek guessed a total U. S. vote for president of 68,453,827, which proved to be only 121 votes off the correct figure of 68,453,948 as supplied by the Associated Press as of December 1, 1960. She entered the contest by writing her guess on the back of a Standby Fine Foods label while shopping at Cliff's Food Market.

The new car will be delivered to Mrs. Travnicek at the Tunberg Motor Co., local Ford dealers, in about three weeks, Holmes stated.

FIRST BABY of 1961 at Northwestern hospital was an eight-pound, two-ounce girl born to Mrs. Allen Warne, left, of rt. 1, Grygla. Mr. and Mrs. Warne's fourth child arrived at 2:57 p.m. Sunday, January 1. Wednesday, January 4, the Warne's daughter, Mrs. Norman Stenvik, right, of Goodridge had her first child, a boy.

With 167 boardings reported for December in Thief River Falls, North Central Airlines compiled a total of 1,785 boardings for 1960, only 15 short of the 1,800 per year established by the Civil Aeronautics administration as the number nescessary to insure continued service by the airline. The 1960 total is 191 more than the 1959 total of 1,594, and compares with 1,384 in 1958 and 1,243 in 1957.

The Thief River Falls municipal electric utility handled a total of 21,253,772 kilowatts of electricity in 1960, an increase of 976,700 kwh or 4.8 per cent over the 1959 total of 20,277,072, Morris Owen, chief engineer at the city power plant, announced this week, adding that the gain is the smallest of any recent past year. In 1959, he said, the gain was 8.3 per cent.

Of the current produced, 20,036,472 kwh, or approximately 95 per cent, was supplied by the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, while 1,094,400 kwh was generated by the water turbines and 122,900 by the Diesel units in the local plant.

Owen stated that the peak load handled in 1960 was 4,120 kwh, a drop of 477 kwh or about ten per cent below the 1959 peak of 4,597 kwh.

Dr. Martin succeeds Donald M. Olson as the top Chamber officer. Others elected were Joe Holter as first vice president, Morris Howick as second vice president, Phil Hess as secretary of the board and Robert Baker was reelected treasurer.

Other directors are C. L. Charlson, Eugene Gaer, Carl Lee, Stan Wilson, Gene Beito, Arnold Kelly and Otto Stenberg. Directors whose terms expired were Dr. James Disse, Kenneth Onken and Al Bacon.

Outgoing president Don Olson announced Thursday, January 19, as the date for the annual Chamber dinner meeting. All Chamber members and their wives are invited to attend the meeting in the high school cafeteria beginning at 6 p.m. Ellsworth Johnson, who is associated with the Western Land company, an investment and construction firm, will be the principal speaker.

Of special interest to members will be the 1960 report and plans for 1961.

Nine standing committees, each of nine members and headed by a director, will carry out the programs of the Chamber in 1961.

Chamber officials have set up a flexible budget of $19,399.40 for 1961 compared to approximately $16,000 for the past year. Each standing committee will be in charge of its portion of the budget.

Theme of the 1961 Chamber program is "LIFE," signifying the four basic areas of need in the community, living, industry, farming and education.

Significant this year was the recent decision by the board to procure farmers as members. The board felt that agriculture should have more representation in the Chamber and that there should be more city-farm cooperation. All farmers have been invited to join the Chamber with membership set at $10 each, the minimum dues allowed under the organization's by-laws.

Pumpage of Water at TRF Municipal Plant Down Again This Year

The Thief River Falls water department pumped 270,166,200 gallons in 1960, a decrease of 5,176,700 gallons compared to the 275,142,900 gallons pumped in 1959, Harold M. Johnson, superintendent of the water utility, reported this week.

This marks the second successive year a decline was registered, 1959 registering a pumpage 4,326,200 gallons below 1958. In each of the seven preceding years dating back to 1951, increases had been reported ranging all the way from 2,856,700 gallons in 1956 over 1955 as high as 45,646,800 gallons in 1954 over 1953.

The total net gain in pumpage for the past ten years was 110,096,800 gallons, Johnson reported, while the aggregate pumpage for the ten years was 2,369,363,600 gallons.

Johnson attribued the decline in 1960 water consumption in large measure to the fact that less than the usual amount of lawn-sprinkling was required last year.

At the same time, Clerk of Court Henry Storhaug listed 151 deaths in the county in 1960, compared to 139 in 1959 and 119 in 1958.

Storhaug's office also recorded 91 marriages last year, compared to 101 in 1959 and 87 in 1958, while 16 divorces were granted, one less than the 1959 total of 17.

United Fund Drive Renewed after Holidays

Campaign Now Near Two-thirds of Way to $21,372 Goal

Personal calls on those who did not contribute to the United Fund and others who it was felt would increase their contributions were begun Wednesday, January 4, by teams of UF workers.

Beginning of a second "push" was decided upon at a meeting of United Fund officials in the Rex cafe Tuesday noon during which contribution records were examined.

Results of the drive were "disappointing in some cases," the officials said. "While some persons contributed more than we expected, others in a position to donate more generously made small donations."

They pointed out that the United Fund was designed to give people of the Pennington county area the opportunity to make one donation a year and end the multiplicity of drives which has become such a problem.

Included in the group of participating agencies this year are ten organizations and three funds for research into disease.

Employes of the Land O'Lakes milk and ice cream division topped the contributors to date with an average of $16 per person, Prichard Brothers employes gave an average of $14.50, Coast to Coast employes averaged $12 and those with the Land O'Lakes trucking division averaged $11.78. Of the city employes, those in the police department topped the list.

Following the Tuesday noon meeting, United Fund officials met again in the evening to form the teams which will make contacts thruout the city to boost total contributions and to give the teams figures which will help in the renewed effort.

Cash contributions and pledge cards totaling $900 have been turned in to date by Soo Line employes bringing the drive total to $13,031 of the $21,372 goal.

United Fund officials have again asked everyone to re-examine the amount they have contributed and to add to this amount if possible. "The success or failure of this year's drive will determine whether Pennington county is to continue with the United Fund or if we are to go back to the old system of many drives."

New Soo Line Elects Murray as President after Recent Merger

The board of directors of the new Soo Line Railroad Company Tuesday elected G. Allan MacNamara, chairman of the board; Leonard H. Murray, president and chief executive officer; Joseph D. Bond, executive vice president.

The directors' meeting was the first for the new Soo Line, which was formed January 1 thru merger of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railroad Company; the Wisconsin Central Railroad Company; and the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad Company.

The board also elected Thomas M. Beckley, secretary; and Oliver J. Andersen, treasurer.

Mr. Murray announced these appointments: Laurence V. Johnson, director of special studies; Walter G. Anderson, director of personnel; Wallace W. Abbey, director of public relations; Clarence H. Juettner, assistant secretary; and William Leicester, assistant treasurer. Mr. Beckley was appointed assistant to the president.

The Soo Line Railroad Company is the 19th largest railroad in the United States from the standpoint of mileage. It was formed through the first merger of major Upper Midwest lines in recent history. Its 4,800 miles of track serve Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Upper Michigan, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana.

Fourteen months of merger studies conducted by the presidents and staffs of the three lines showed that unification under one management would produce a stronger company better able to serve the needs of shippers. Savings in administrative and operating costs of about $1,260,000 a year, after a period of some four years, are forecast.

Envoy Carl Paulson of the Salvation Army this week voiced appreciation for the cooperation extended by local organizations and individuals in helping to provide Christmas cheer for needy families of Thief River Falls and nearby communities.

He stated that 67 families received baskets at Christmas time which provided dinners for 404 men, women and children, in addition to numerous toys given by several local business places and the fire department.

Mr. Paulson said that items purchased were financed thru the collection of $405.27 in the Christmas kettles and $183.02 provided in a collection contest by the Lions, Rotary, Jaycees and Legion post.

In addition to these groups, Paulson extended thanks to the local Elks, VFW and auxiliary unit, 40 et 8 voiture, WCTU, garden clubs and the Good Cheer club.

Sheriff's Office Handles Variety of Cases in 1960

Two Traffic Fatalities, 17 Personal Injury Cases Handled in Past Year

The annual report released by Sheriff Charles R. Richards of cases handled by his office in 1960 revealed no major increases in the various categories, although two traffic fatalities, one drowning and 17 personal-injury accidents were reported for the year.

Offenses committed in the county and offenders apprehended ranged from simple assault to vagrancy, among others. Furnishing beer to minors was the most common non-traffic violation with adults, numbering 13 cases, with possession of alcoholic beverages by minors being most numerous in their category with 32. There were 71 juveniles warned, released and records of same filed.

Fighting was apparently a popular pastime in 1960, with nine cases recorded, plus one case of provoking and engaging in a fight. There were three cases of juveniles engaged in fights, in addition.

Among traffic violations, careless driving tickets issued dropped from 15 to 9 in 1960, while driving under the influence decreased from 7 to 5. Speeding tickets increased from 9 to 14 at the same time. Also up was the number of tickets issued for having open bottles of intoxicants in vehicles, 9 to 5.

Two youths were committed to Red Wing by the sheriff in 1960, one to the St. Cloud reformatory, 10 to county jail (adults), four to Sauk Centre, 16 to Fergus Falls and one juvenile to county jail.

The department investigated 29 auto accidents with two fatalities recorded and of which 17 were personal injury accidents. There was one firearm casualty report, one fatal boat and water accident (with two violations investigated) and two investigations of unattended deaths.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

You may have wondered what I was doing in December. Well, our household was just as busy as yours getting ready to celebrate the birthday of the King of Kings. First there were Advent wreaths to make and evergreen, the symbol of God's everlasting love, to be hung. The house had to be cleaned from top to bottom in preparation for the holidays and visiting relatives. Many gifts had to be made and baking had to be done.

We do buy gifts that we know will be especially welcome, but Christmas doesn't seem quite like Christmas if there isn't a gift under the tree for everyone that we have made ourselves and into which has gone lots of thought, effort and love. Christmas is, after all, not a time of giving for its own sake, but of giving of ourselves.

All the hurry and flurry made the month speed by. With so many things to do my reading was relegated solely to reading special parts of the Bible for Advent. I had a suggested reading list from the American Bible Society to guide me, but I could also have used one of the reading guides from the Library. I did soon discover that there is no such thing as simply "reading" the Bible, especially the King James version which I have. While its language is among the most beautiful and poetical ever written in English, there are times when it's meaning becomes very obscure.

I was very glad to have the Library's Revised Standard version by my bedside to read simultaneously. This was especially true of parts of Paul's letters which I had trouble understanding fully. I have heard it said that J. B. Phillips translation made early in this century is the most readable of all the translations made thus far. I intend to bring it home from the library soon to read along with my own King James Version.

The other reading I did for Christmas was Jim Bishop's "The Day that Christ Was Born." How beautifully and simply he pieced together all the information that the Bible gives us about the Nativity and Mary and Joseph thru the New Testament and the ancient Hebrew prophecies. He has woven it all into a narrative as real as our own daily lives.

Our existence today seems secure indeed when you compare it to life in the Holy Land 1961 years ago. Living under Rome's thumb and subject to the whim of a maniacal Herod who killed his own wife and children and ordered the death of all of Judea's two year old boys on the rumor of the birth of the Christ child. Mr. Bishop's book need not be reserved just for Christmas reading. Read anytime, its beauty will make your everyday life something special, as you realize as Mary did, that God is with us everywhere.

SUGAR BEETS

The following informative article on developments in the sugar beet industry in the Red River Valley was published by the Fargo Forum and Moorhead News. It was written by Alf T. Olsen, staff writer.

Rumors have been making the rounds ever since American Crystal Sugar Co. announced that it would increase its 1961 sugar beet acreage in the Red River Valley.

The "stories" have indicated that all of the additional acreage would go to new growers, that all of the acreage would be in Minnesota etc. . . .

Because of the many conflicting reports I checked with J. C. Tanner, assistant district manager for American Crystal in the Valley, managing plants at Moorhead, Crookston and East Grand Forks.

Tanner stated that there would be approximately 10,000 additional acres of sugar beets grown in the Valley in 1961.

Three new dumps have been established in Minnesota — at Argyle and at Wolverton, and at Hendrum, where the Georgetown dump was moved. These were announced at the recent annual meeting of the Red River Valley Beet Growers Association in Moorhead by Harvey P. H. Johnson, vice president of American Crystal, Denver, Colo.

Tanner said that the firm would be contracting with growers both in Minnesota and North Dakota for the Wolverton and Hendrum dumps.

In addition, dumps at Newman and Hillsboro, N. D., would be brought up to capacity by contracting for new growers in those areas. The Argyle location would possibly be the only one with new growers only from Minnesota.

The American Crystal official said also that the new acreage would not go exclusively to new growers. A selection of old growers will be given the opportunity to contract additional acres up to their pre-allotment total (1953-1954), if they so desire.

Tanner also commented on the increase from 17,000 to 27,000-28,000 acres in the Chaska, Minn.-Mason City, Iowa, areas. He said he recently returned from a visit to the area, and the officials there feel confident that the additional acreage can be contracted.

There had been stories floating around that farmers in those areas were not particularly interested in growing beets, because it was almost equal with other crops in cash return.

While American Crystal officials should be the ones to know how their beet contracts are going, the rumor persists that additional acreage will be offered next spring to Red River Valley beet growers to fill the need at Chaska and Mason City plants.

Meanwhile prospective grower groups are busy in North Dakota and Minnesota holding meetings and getting signatures and acreage available for beets from interested farmers.

It must be pointed out that the only firm buying sugar beets for processing in this area at this time is American Crystal. Company officials have indicated that their first move towards expansion will be in existing facilities—bringing their plants up to full processing capacity.

But if a new plant or plants are to be built in the Red River Valley one of the first steps — next to getting an adequate water supply — is showing that there is an availability of prospective beet growers. And that's just what these various groups have been doing.

If the figures released by these organizations are accurate—and there is no reason to doubt that they are not — there are more than enough acres available in the Valley for beet production.

Speaking of rumors, there have also been a couple of good ones concerning sugar processing firm representatives visiting the Red River Valley looking over possible sites for new plants.

This great increase of interest in sugar beets—as has been said before many times—is due mainly to the Cuban political situation. The USDA lifted acreage restrictions for 1961 (permitting growing of beets up to capacity of existing sugar processing facilities) to take up the slack caused by Presidential cancellation of Cuban sugar imports to the U.S. late this year, and for the early part of 1961. Continued confusion in Cuba will continue the increased demand on domestic sugar producers and growers. However, a stabilization and return to normal of the Cuban government could end this demand.

Another point to consider is that the Sugar Act — the federal law governing our sugar supply and suppliers—expires on March 31, 1961. Under the present act, domestic producers receive 55 per cent of the increase in sugar consumption annually.

This means a gradual increase in both sugar beet and sugar cane acreage in the United States over the coming years.

Many observers feel that Congress will re-enact the law in its present form for 9 months, having it expire on Dec. 31, 1961, using the period to see what happens in Cuba and to study the situation more closely.

Harold M. Johnson Tells Lions about City Waterworks

Plant Superintendent Tells of Improvements and Work Yet to Be Done

Recent improvements in the city's water supply system and problems remaining to be overcome were discussed by Harold M. Johnson, superintendent of the local water plant, in a talk at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Introduced by Harry Simons, program chairman, Johnson stated that major projects completed in 1960 included the new 250,000 ballon elevated tank on the east side and the 1,000,000 gallon underground storage reservoir adjoining the treatment plant. He stated that these improvements may result in a reduction in fire insurance rates.

Johnson pointed out that among the drawbacks of the present distribution system are the numerous breaks in water mains that have occurred the past few years, including more than 30 during the past year. He ascribed most of the breaks, not so much to the fact that many of the mains are more than 50 years old, as because of the bad soil conditions in certain parts of the city, particularly west of Main av. and south of Sixth st.

Among problems to be faced, he said, are the replacement of many present mains and the erection of another elevated tank at the west edge of the city.

Jan. 31 Deadline for Grain Loans

Marshall County ASC Head Reminds Farmers

Farmers have until January 31, 1961, to cover their grains and a number of other 1960 crops under the price-support program, Ed A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today. For wheat compliance with the individual farm allotment is required in order to be eligible for price support on the crop.

The 1960 crops for which January 31 is the deadline for obtaining loans or purchase agreements include wheat, barley, oats, rye, flaxseed and soybeans.

The chairman reminded growers that good storage, which must first be approved by the county ASC committee, is a requisite for obtaining a price-support loan on any farm-stored crop. While the farmer himself is responsible for storing a crop covered by a purchase agreement, the condition and quality of the crop will be a determining factor in the amount of the support he received should he decide to deliver his crop under the support program at the end of the season.

Amended Income Tax Laws Affect Farmers

Only 45 more figuring days before February 15. That's the deadline for filing federal income tax returns — unless you sent an estimate of income before January 16, states County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

If you file an estimate, your final tax deadline is April 17. These unusual deadlines are set because January 15 falls on Sunday and April 15 on Saturday.

Hal Routhe, extension farm management specialist at the University of Minnesota, has a number of tips on recent changes and clarifications in federal tax provisions. All are important to farmers. Here are some of them:

- The self-employment tax for social security has been boosted to 4½ percent—¾ percent above a year ago. The first $4,800 of a farmer's income is subject to the self-employment tax. That compares with a previous rate of $4,200.
- You now have a choice when it comes to deducting the cost of fertilizer materials and its applications to farm land. You may deduct the total cost in the year such expenses are paid or incurred, or, if the fertilizer benefits last substantially more than a year, you may capitalize the expense and deduct a portion of it for each year that the benefits last.

This is the first time tax regulations have provided for deducting as expense fertilizer costs where benefits are spread over more than one year.

- All partnerships must file a return on form 1065. This is an information return showing the income and deductions of the partnerships. Even though a partnership has no income, it must file a return.
- In figuring depreciation, the useful life of any item depends on how long you plan to use it. There is no average useful life which is applicable to all farms. It may be affected by the amount of use, the age of the item when acquired, repair and upkeep policy, climate and other conditions.

Your best bet is to base the useful life of depreciable property on your particular operating conditions and experience.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS — NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals for Air Conditioning Equipment to be installed in the Pennington County Court House, Thief River Falls, Minnesota will be received by C. W. Rodekuhr, County Auditor, Thief River Falls, Minnesota on or before 2:00 P.M., Tuesday the 7th day of February, 1961: The bids shall be for the furnishing of all labor and materials according to the following specifications:

SPECIFICATIONS FOR AIR CONDITIONING EQUIPMENT TO BE INSTALLED IN THE PENNINGTON COUNTY COURT HOUSE, THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

1. Cooling Coils

Furnish and install on the leaving air side of the existing steam coils, 2 (two) Dunham-Bush type DX or approved equal, direct expansion cooling coils. Each coil shall match the face area of the existing steam coils of 20" x 70" and be not less the four rows in depth. The coils shall have a combined capacity of cooling 14,220 cfm of air from 80 deg. D. B. and 67 W.B. to a leaving temperature of 61.8 D.B. and 59.4 W.B. with R-22 refrigerant at 45 deg. suction temperature.

Contractor shall fabricate and install a suitable condensate pan under the cooling coils with an adequate drain pipe leading from the pan to the floor drain in the equipment room.

2. Condensing Unit

Furnish and install on a suitable concrete base adjacent to the north side of the building and within the limits of the property line, a remote Air-Cooled Condensing Unit similar and equal to a Model LHCT-50 as manufactured by the Dunham-Bush, Inc., of Michigan City, Indiana. This unit shall be complete with an air cooled condensing coil having inner-fin construction to insure high efficiency with compact design and a minimum refrigerant charge. Coil shall be constructed with aluminum fins, mechanically bonded to seamless copper tubes. Condenser coil shall be headered for two circuits.

The unit shall be equipped with two Semi-hermetic 15 h.p. 220/60/3ph suction gas cooled motor compressors having a forced feed lubrication system, dynamically and statically balanced crankshaft for smooth operation and bolted construction for easy take down and servicing.

The fans shall be the propeller type, belt driven, slow speed with heavy duty steel blades, center disc arms and hub. Blades shall be statically balanced and individually gauged for contour and alignment. The fan shafts shall be stainless steel to provide maximum resistance to wear and corrosion. Bearings shall be permanently lubricated ball bearing type. The fans shall be protected by a heavy gauge steel wire guard, formed and welded-galvanized for maximum corrosion resistance.

The fan motor shall be 5 h.p. 220/60/3ph drip-proof NEMA frame grease lubricated ball bearing type, designed for heavy duty operation and mounted in the unit casing to prevent weather damage.

This Condensing Unit shall be complete with factory installed dual pressure controls and high and low side pressure gauges for each compressor. Each motor compressor shall be protected by quick trip magnetic starters. A magnetic starter shall be provided for the fan motor. All electrical controls shall be factory wired and installed in weather proof casing.

All internal piping between condenser coils, motor compressors and receivers, complete with vibration eliminators shall be factory made, leak tested, evacuated and shipped with a refrigerant-22 holding charge, ready for operation once the external suction and liquid connections are made.

This condensing unit shall have a capacity of not less than 366,000 btu/hr. when operating with 95 deg. D.B. entering air and 45 deg. suction temperature.

3. Refrigeration Accessories & Piping

The liquid line shall be ⅞" o.d. type L—ACR hard drawn copper tubing. Install the following Sporlan or equal accessories in each system. No. HVE-10, Thermostatic Expansion Valve, No. 43 Solenoid Valve, No. [illegible] cleanable type line strainer, [illegible] Catch-all filters and provide one extra set of cores which shall be changed after two weeks of operation, No. SA-[illegible] Liquid and moisture indicator.

Install in each system a Heat-X Model 158X heat exchanger as close to the cooling coils as practical.

4. Installation

Contractor shall repair or replace if necessary, present insulation on supply duct passing through the boiler room, to prevent condensation on ducts.

Contractor shall insulate inside surface of coil and fan housing in equipment room with ½" of rigid board form insulation which shall be coated with fibrated mastic compound or equivalent, for vapor seal, after cementing to inside of housing.

5. Controls

Install on the return air duct in the equipment room, a No. T-415-B Minneapolis-Honeywell Thermostat (two-stage) with air sensing bulb in the return air from air conditioned space. Thermostats to be so wired as to energize a liquid line solenoid valve upon a rise above it's setting, of the temperature of the return air. The setting of the two-stage thermostat shall be so staggered as to effect the operation of only one compressor during periods of light loads and both compressors during periods of heavy load requirements.

The source of current for the thermostat circuit shall be taken from the load side of the manually operated fan switch in the equipment room, thereby preventing the opening of the liquid line solenoid valves except when the air circulating fan is in operation.

Bids shall be accompanied by a Bidders Bond or Certified Check drawn on a solvent bank in the State of Minnesota, amounting to at least 5% of the base bid as a guarantee that the Bidder shall furnish a Performance Bond for the full amount of the Contract price and enter into Contract with the Owner. Prowler Six Drops Two in Holiday Tournament

In a pair of games that was featured by sturdy defensive play by the respective goalies, Tom Teal of the Prowlers and Mike Curran of International Falls and John Schutte of Eveleth, coach Gene Sack's Prowlers dropped decisions to the Broncos, 1 to 0, and Eveleth, 4 to 1, in the fifth annual Lions invitational hockey tournament played at Fort Frances on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The Prowlers will meet the Hallock Polar Bears coached by Ken Wellen on the Arena ice here on Saturday night, Jan. 7, in a Region Eight conference tilt. On Tuesday, Jan. 10, the Prowlers will travel to Warroad for a game against coach Gordon Genz's Warriors, and on Saturday night, Jan. 14, the Roseau Rams will invade the Arena rink.

In first round games played at Fort Frances on Tuesday night, the Warroad Warriors upset a favored Eveleth team, winning by a 6 to 3 score; and International Falls, on a third period goal by Bob O'Leary, edged out the defending champion Prowlers, 1 to 0.

In a consolation round game played on Wednesday night, coach John Matchefts' Eveleth club, after being held scoreless in the first period, tallied a goal in the second period, on a backhanded shot by Steve Nelson, and added three goals in the third period to defeat the Prowlers, 4 to 1. The Prowlers' lone tally of the tournament came at the 7:59 mark of the third period when, following a face-off, Tim Teal scored on an assist from Larry Poole.

9 Persons Appear in Municipal Court

Charges Against Two Drivers Are Dismissed

A fairly light, but interesting, session of municipal court was held before Judge H. O. Chommie Monday, with the highway patrol and sheriff's office cases predominating, an unusual state of affairs.

There were two patrol cases. Frank W. Nesbit, city, forfeited $17.50 bond on a speeding charge while Merton R. Hutchinson, St. Hilaire pleaded guilty to illegal passing and was fined $15.

The sheriff had five cases in court. Mrs. Frances Lefrooth, Strandquist, pleaded guilty to issuing fraudulent checks but sentencing was stayed until March 6.

Kenneth L. and Robert N. Sauve and Eugene D. Battleson, all of Thief River Falls, each pleaded guilty to fighting and were each fined $20.

Thomas M. Poole, city, pleaded guilty to possession of strong beer by a minor and was fined $15.

City police had two cases. However, the case of Omund Olson, Grygla, charged with failure to yield the right-of-way, was dismissed by Judge Chommie because, in his opinion, icy streets were a contributing factor.

Because of Chommie's action in the Olson case, it was recommended by Police Chief Elton Cummings that a similar charge against Thomas Fixter, city, be dismissed. This was done.

$9.1 Billion Spent on Price Supports

Crop Inventories Now Aggregate $7.5 Billion

As of October 31, the Commodity Credit Corporation's investment in price-support programs amounted to $9.1 billion, the Department of Agriculture reported. This investment is made up of loans outstanding of $1.6 billion (including $434 million of loans financed by lending agencies), and the cost value of inventories, $7.5 billion.

Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, pointed out that price-support operations in five commodities accounted for the bulk of the October 31, 1960 loan total. These commodities and loan totals are: wheat, 391 bushels, $698.6 million; tobacco, 639 million pounds, $400.7 million; corn, 280 million bushels, $314.6 million; barley, 57 million bushels, $43.9 million; and grain sorghum, 19 million cwt., $30.4 million. Other commodities under loan represented more than $83 million of the total.

Major items in the CCC inventory as of October 31 included wheat, corn, upland cotton, grain sorghums, barley, butter, dried milk, peanuts, oats, and soybeans.

The two teams share the top rung in the league standings, with each team having two wins and no losses.

In last Saturday morning's play at the Arena, the Washington Wildcats, with Richard (Little Gus) Holmes scoring three goals and Danny Brouse and Jerry Droppo adding a goal apiece, defeated the Northrop Indians, 5 to 1. Scoring the lone goal for the defending grad school champion Northrop squad was Billy Olson.

The Knox Tigers kept pace with the Wildcats by marking up a hard-fought 3 to 2 win over coach Paul Bedard's St. Bernard's Broncos. The game proved to be an individual scoring duel between the Knox Tigers' Bill Dicken and the Broncos' Bobby Sullivan. Dicken, a sturdy all-round performer for the East Siders, scored three goals, while the swift-skating Sullivan had a pair of tallies for the Broncos.

Season Low of —27 Recorded Tuesday

1961 Starts out with —22 on New Years Day

There are many who hope that January's weather does not continue as it has for the first four days.

The new year was ushered in with an early-morning low of —22 and a daytime high of —10. According to the North Central Airlines weather observers at municipal airport, January 2 began with an early-morning low of —19 and a daytime high of —4 which was mild compared to the next evening's —27.

The average high for the four-day period was 4.5 degrees and the average low was —15 degrees. One inch of snow was recorded the first day of the new year and 0.9 inch the following day.

As the cold front moved out of the area Wednesday, a variation of 52 degrees was recorded with a high that day of 25 degrees compared to the —27 posted early Tuesday morning.

The mild readings of Wednesday are expected to continue today, tonight and tomorrow with "mostly fair skies," according to the KTRF weatherman.

Highs from 30 to 35 have been predicted for today and lows tonight of from 15 to 20. Southwesterly winds should be from 10 to 15 miles an hour.

Senior Hockey

The senior hockey fans who witnessed last season's game between the Winnipeg Tobins and the Thieves do not need to be reminded to be on hand Sunday afternoon, 2:30 P.M., at the Arena when the Tobins make a return here.

The Tobins, sponsored by a community club in Winnipeg, gave an excellent exhibition last year and pleased the fans by their well-organized play.

There is a possibility that Joey Poole, who suffered a dislocated cheek bone in the 11 to 8 win that the Thieves registered over the Old Timers the other week, will be available for Sunday's game. Joey underwent surgery in Grand Forks to repair the injury and "pop" the joint into place.

General manager Clarence Amiot states that the Thieves will have the services of Daytone Secour, a North Dakota freshman, on Sunday. According to all reports, this youngster, a Canadian, is a top-flight hockey player.

Game time is at 2:30 P.M.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press, in its weekly rating of the state's high schol hockey teams, lists John Matchefts' Eveleth team in the number one spot. Rube Bjorkman's Coleraine team is in second, while Glen Rolle's defending state champion Duluth East squad is third.

The remainder of the "top twenty" is as follows: International Falls, St. Paul Washington, South St. Paul, Minneapolis South, St. Paul Johnson, St. Paul Humboldt, Duluth Central, Gilbert, Thief River Falls, Minneapolis Roosevelt, Roseau, Bloomington, Warroad, Duluth Denfield, Edina, North St. Paul and St. Paul Central.

1961 Year of Decision for Traffic Safety

"The year 1961 will be a year of decision for Minnesota motorists," Harry A. Sieben, state safety director, said today. "They must decide whether or not the terrible carnage of 1960 which exceeded that of 1958 and reached an all-time high for traffic deaths will continue in the future."

"The final decision for traffic safety rests with the motorist; he is the one who must decide whether or not he is driving in a manner that is safe. He must decide, in many instances within a split second, just what to do to avoid a collision. In fact, every moment of his driving is the time for decision, to turn, slow down, or stop."

"But during 1961, Minnesota motorists must decide whether or not their state is going to be a safe state in which to drive.

"The decision to be made is whether or not motorists will, because they can, obey traffic regulations set up for their safety, or must increased enforcement pressure be brought to bear against all who fail to follow the rules.

"The decision to be made is whether or not it will be necessary to have more stringent traffic laws to counteract the rising totals of accidents, injuries and deaths.

"The decision to be made is whether or not the traffic violator, convicted of moving hazardous violations which lead to serious accidents, will continue to be socially accepted. Should that violator be afforded the casual treatment he now gets from friends and neighbors, or should his actions be ostracized as other criminal actions.

"The decision to be made is whether or not we are our brother's keeper and that the safety of every person around us depends upon what to do; whether we will accept the moral responsibility for their safety. Finally, are we willing as citizens to support and accept sorely needed legislation to strengthen our safety program, which may be restrictive but which is best for the common good.

Christmas Tree Harvest Was Good

6,000,000 Trees Cut in State, Forester Reports

The chief of Minnesota conservation department's forest nursery program, Ray Clement, estimates that 1960 will go down as a "very good year" for Minnesota's Christmas tree industry. He estimates that approximately six million Christmas trees were cut in Minnesota this year with about five million of these being shipped out of state.

"If these figures are as accurate as I believe them to be," said Clement, "Minnesota must be considered the leading producer of Christmas trees in the nation."

Other states which produce substantial quantities of trees for the Christmas market are Washington, Michigan and Montana. Based on a survey of tree lots in the Twin City metropolitan area, Clement said there was a relatively small percentage of unsold trees this year.

"Whereas this percentage has reached from ten to twelve per cent in past years, I believe this year's figure to be between three and five per cent," Clement said.

Dealers report that prices held up well during the selling season, he added. One of the interesting trends in the industry is the increasing number of plantation grown trees coming on the market each year, many of them sheared to promote a fuller and more varied shape.

Although presently the number of natural forest grown trees make up the bulk of the market, Clement said the time is coming when plantation grown trees will make up 50 to 90 per cent of the total sales.

WHO Helping Out In Congo

In this recent photo Dr. M. G. Candau of Brazil, Director General of the World Health Organization, discusses ways and means of establishing emergency health services for the Congo Republic with Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu. The conversation took place in the new nation's capital of Leopoldville at a reception given by United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, who is seen in background.

WHO now has some 40 specialists in the Congo. A WHO office has been set up in Leopoldville and the Organization is assisting the Congolese government in obtaining foreign doctors until enough local doctors are trained to run the Republic's national health services. WHO also coordinates the work of the various international medical teams now on duty in the Congo.

Many of the WHO officials are nationals of western hemisphere countries and were recruited for service in the Congo by the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, WHO Regional Office for the Americas. The Bureau's headquarters is in Washington, D. C.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing Mr. Leo L. Haley, VA Contact Representative, located in Rooms 210-11 in the Grand Forks Post Office Building.

Q—I went on VA's pension roll this year, under the new system effective July 1, 1960, and I understand I will receive an income questionnaire soon, which also will ask about my net worth. Will you explain this term for me please?

A—Net worth for VA pension purposes is the market value of all the property you own except your home and personal belongings necessary for your day-to-day living, such as your automobile, clothing, household furniture, jewelry and the like — anything necessary for your day-to-day living.

Q—Does the VA have any sort of a Christmas gift certificate arrangement whereby I could give a patient friend the certificate and let him choose a gift himself, up to the value of the certificate?

A—Yes, only the certificates are coupons sold in books. The coupon books are sold for as little as fifty cents, or as much as five dollars, for each book. The patient spends the coupons at his hospital canteen, picking out whatever pleases him. Just write a letter to the manager of the VA hospital your friend is in. Tell him what you want.

Q—Are there any restrictions on GI insurance that would make the policy invalid if the veteran is engaged in a hazardous occupation?

A—There is no such restriction on GI insurance. The veteran may engage in any occupation, no matter how hazardous, without altering the terms of his policy or the amount of his premium.

Q—I understand that by a new law a World War II veteran now has until July 25, 1962, in which to file an application for a GI loan. Just what steps toward getting a loan have to be taken by that date ?

A—By that date, lender must at least have agreed to make the loan and must have requested VA's approval. The new law places no limitation on the time needed to complete the deal, once your lender has agreed and asked for VA's approval.

Editorials . . .

"I have now reigned about fifty years in victory or peace, beloved by my subjects, dreaded by my enemies, and respected by my allies. Riches and honors, power and pleasure, have waited on my call, nor does any earthly blessing appear to have been wanting to my felicity. In this situation I have diligently numbered the days of pure and genuine happiness which have fallen to my lot: they amount to fourteen."

—Abd-Er-Rahman III

It Could Happen Here

Some of the Belgians are not happy with the government's "austerity" program. Such a reaction is understandable. Austerity means sacrifices, and a more simple mode of life.

The Belgian government has imposed a measure of austerity on its people, not because it doesn't like the people but because it is having financial difficulties. Partly because of losses in the Congo it found itself $320 million in the red. In order to meet this situation it has reduced spending by $200 million and will recover the rest by increased taxes. Much of the $200 million cut in spending was effected by correcting "widespread welfare state abuses", including the plugging of some loopholes in social security.

Such things are not popular, and we are sure there were popular leaders who favored the simple solution of meeting the deficit by borrowing. But the Belgian government decided that the easy way was not the right way, following the example of such countries as England, Germany and Japan, once bankrupt but now prosperous.

What is now happening in Belgium should be of special interest to us. It could happen here.

Another Session

Another legislative session got under way Tuesday and for several months the state capitol will be an important source of interesting news. In several respects the present Legislature starts under an unusually heavy load of problems. No session, in recent years, has inherited a more difficult tax problem.

State indebtedness is at an all-time high, and will go still higher as past commitments make further borrowing necessary. Resistance to a realistic tax program will make it difficult to meet even the reasonable requirements for departmental, institutional and educational operations and aids.

As usual the demands for bigger appropriations will be backed by strong pressure groups, each one dedicated to "a most urgent need" that cannot be curtailed or delayed. It appears however that there will be more organized opposition than usual to reckless spending, thanks to a reorganized and revitalized taxpayers association that has been doing effective work in telling the other side of the spending story. For many years the taxpayers association merely objected to tax increases. The state association now tries to keep taxes down to reasonable limits by opposing unnecessary and wasteful spending.

Whether the final results are good or bad will depend largely on the leadership of Governor Elmer Andersen, a liberal Republican who faces the problem of getting along with a friendly conservative Senate and an unfriendly liberal House. In neither the Senate nor the House are the lines sharply drawn between conservatism and liberalism. Our state legislature resembles to some extent our national congress, where some of the most conservative are Democrats and some of the most liberal are Republicans.

Governor Andersen has the qualifications and the temperament to make an outstanding chief executive. He has been successful in private industry and he understands the business of government. Our guess is that his success will be determined largely by what his own objectives politically will be from here on in.

If he decides that he is going to settle down to the business of being a good governor, he probably will be a good governor, and retire with a record of good service to his credit. And a good record could lead to greater opportunities for service. If however, he looks upon the governorship as a stepping stone to the presidency, and becomes more concerned about his own future than he is about the present needs of the state, he probably will suffer the fate of some of his illustrious predecessors.

Buying by Renting

From California comes an objection to the "pay-as-you-go" method of financing public buildings that has been used by the federal government in the building of post offices. The California objectors were bond underwriters who are not happy about the increased use of this plan by other units of government.

Maybe the bond underwriters have a selfish interest in this matter but their argument makes sense nevertheless,—and they perform a worthwhile service in calling public attention to the things that are wrong with such procedure.

Under this plan the governments contract to make annual payments for new facilities built to their specifications, acquiring ownership at the end of the contract period. The contractor does the financing.

The California branch of the Investment Bankers Association is asking for legislation to end such lease-purchase agreements because:

"—lease payments have to be large enough to cover principal and interest on the building costs as well as a construction profit, more money is spent from tax revenues than if tax-exempt bonds were issued. The trade group argues also that this system in effect lets government units add to their capital debt without specific approval of taxpayers which might otherwise be required. Los Angeles, it claims, has more debt under lease-purchase contracts than under general obligation bonds."

Year of Lost Purpose?

The Wall Street Journal does not agree that 1960 was a year of lost purpose. On the contrary the Journal believes 1960 will be recorded as a year of progress in several important fields. In discussing the problems with which we were confronted during the year that has just ended, the Journal offers these interesting observations:

"From all the talk of the threats, challenges and problems we face, and of America's "decline" in particular, you would think man's history began only yesterday.

"It is true that we go into another year with the general threat of nuclear war in the background. But man has always lived under the threat of war, and wars are always final for the fallen, no matter what the weapons. There is nothing foreordained about nuclear war, and a nation that can stave off war without surrender of principles or people must, in the perspective of the past, be considered fortunate.

"It is true that 1960 has been notable for violence in backward areas of the world. Yet even an angrily emerging Africa must be viewed against its own long and grisly history of primitivism, slavery and tribal warfare.

"It is true that in Communism we face an enemy of monstrous proportions, but man's ability to live in freedom has always been on trial. Indeed, freedom is the exception in the history books. When people talk about this country's 'lost' purpose, they might reflect that one of its purposes is freedom, and that is what we have been about all the time. To remain free for nearly two centuries must count as one of history's more spectacular achievements.

"Similarly, many of our domestic problems are the problems of success, not failure. There is much to criticize about our cities, but are some of the critics trying to say that the cities of the past were more wholesome, sanitary or pleasant? That would be nonsense; we have raised our standards so high that what would have been considered luxury not so many years ago is called substandard today.

"We have a problem of the aging because such sensational strides have been taken in the conquest of disease. Surely it is a more agreeable kind of problem than infant mortality or a life-span of only three decades. But to hear some people talk about the aging, you would never suspect there was another side to the picture.

"We have educational deficiencies, but history reveals no match for America's venture in mass education. Though teaching standards are too low in some places, at least the little ones are in school. What would the critics prefer, child labor?

"In many other ways man—Western man, at any rate—has become more human. The mass of people are more tolerant, more thoughtful, more intellectually and spiritually aware than ever before. That is evident in everything from working conditions to civil rights.

"The point, of course, is not that man is perfectible. That is the 'liberal' fallacy—the presumption of a society made perfect by having man surrender his liberty to Government to direct his activities in perfect wisdom. The plain lesson of America's evolution shows just the opposite, that moral improvement goes with material improvement so long as the climate is liberty.

"So it seems to us 1960 does not deserve to be castigated as the year of lost purpose. Such criticism is cheap and abundant. But it is a mindless criticism that sees man only at the moment, ignoring the much worse evils of the past. And that is expensive if it tempts us to thoughless tampering with the institutions that reflect our real purposes."

That Bad Word

(Don Brown in the Waseca Journal)

To tell this story we must take a round about course because the post office department will not permit us to use the name of a popular game in print. Maybe we can lead you to the word by describing the game.

Corn was first used in playing it, then beans and later came some mechanical cards with shutters to cover the numbers. There are five columns of numbers with a different letter above each vertical column. The game is legal in Minnesota and by now you must have guessed the five letter word (which the post office department refuses to mention through the mails).

In Minneapolis recently we attended one of these games. Many people were seated at tables with from three to twelve cards before them. They were placing lima beans in squares, thereby covering certain numbers. As we entered a man in the front of the hall called out "be one" but we were not. Then he called out "before" and we wondered what?

So far nothing had happened which should cause the post office department so much concern. But we were not going to argue the point or test the case at the risk of losing our second class-mailing permit.

Thus we sat down and started playing the game. Nothing funny about that, was there? Fact is nothing funny happened for a whole hour.

Knowing that this game must be operated by some non-profit organization, we leaned over to the man playing in the next chair to inquire: "Do you know the name of the organization which is running this game?"

Take a Tempest out on the highway and put it through its paces. This car is a whiz at moving into fast-stepping company on an expressway. Takes you from a standing start to a safe operating speed in seconds . . . gets you up a steep hill in high gear.

Run the Tempest over the roughest road you can find. It rides like the big ones because it's balanced! The engine's up front—the transmission's in the rear. And it's got independent suspension at all four wheels. Tires dig in firm on curves and turns. Full 15-inch wheels make car look big. Tires last. Brakes run cooler.

Before it hit the market, Tempest had 8,000,000 miles of testing by engineers, pro drivers and a team of teenagers. Its reliability checked out 100%. Owners have rolled up millions more. The only kick is the one it puts back in driving. Try it!

RRV Shows Campaign Heads to Meet Jan. 9

William Strickler, Euclid, general chairman, announces a special dinner meeting of county chairmen in the Red River Valley Winter Shows building campaign will be held Monday, January 9 at the Northwest Experiment Station dining hall to hear an up-to-the-minute progress report, see drawing and floor plans of the proposed building, and secure detailed information on the second phase of the drive.

"About a third of the needed total came from the first phase," said Mr. Strickler. "Now, to wind everything up and go over the top, we will see all potential givers who were missed for any reason in Phase I; people who were prevented from giving by some temporary circumstance; and people who want to increase or extend their pledges as many are asking to do."

The campaign aims at a total of $450,000 to construct a modern Stran Steel multi-purpose building on a 20-acre site fronting on Highways 75 and 2. Almost five acres will be under one roof and an arena will seat up to 5,000 persons. Activities which have been impossible in the old, crowded structures will develop at once in the new building, leaders point out.

Those scheduled to attend the County Chairmen Dinner January 9 include: Delmar Hagen, Gatzke; Robert Backstrom, Warren; Melvin Ouse, Rothsay; Rudy Gustafson, Fergus Falls, all of whom are divisional leaders; and county chairmen including East Marshall, Julian Rodahl and Norman Anderson; Pennington, Edgar Naplin; Clearwater, John Hulteen; West Marshall, M. R. Yutrzenka.

Plan TV Programs on Women's Wear

First of Three Set for WDAY-TV on January 28

Look at yourself in the mirror and see yourself as others see you.

That's the suggestion given in the first of a series of three television programs, "What Shaall I Wear?" scheduled to appear on Station WDAY-TV, Fargo, Jan. 28 at 2 p.m., and Feb. 11 and 25 at 11 a.m.

Purpose of the series is to help women improve their personal appearance through dress. Emphasis throughout the series will be given to fashion, good taste and practicality, stressing the relationship of each to the other.

Shirley Erickson, extension clothing specialist at the University of Minnesota, will be featured in the series, which is sponsored by the University Agricultural Extension Service. The series is being presented as a public service by Station WDAY.

First of the programs is entitled "The Personal You." This show is devoted to self-analysis. Miss Erickson points out how to determine one's best and poorest features and shows how to select becoming clothes through the use of the lines that flatter face and figure.

In the second program in the series, "The Fashionable You," Miss Erickson will give pointers on how to develop fashion "know-how" and good taste. Developing one will help you acquire the other, Miss Erickson believes. "Good taste in dress is really nothing more than knowing what kinds of clothes are appropriate for you, when and where to wear them an what to wear with them," she declares.

"The Practical You," third program in the sereis, will be devoted to information on dressing to suit one's personality, activities, family and budget.

THE NEXT MOVE is up to the citizens of Minnesota says new Governor Elmer L. Andersen, honorary state chairman for the March of Dimes, as he proclaimed January as the month for The National Foundation's state drive for funds to continue the fight against birth defects, arthritis and polio. Shown in a make-believe checker game played with dimes, Gov. Andersen visits with three patients at Gillette State hospital in St. Paul. Joanne Weiand, 16, St. Paul polio patient, holds the board as Linda Magnuson, 12, Minneapolis residual polio victim, and little brian Klund, 8, Duluth, who is suffering from a birth defect, look on.

1,200 Confer on Water Pollution

Problem Discussed at Meeting in Washington

A growing awareness of the nation's water problems was indicated when some 1,200 persons showed up for the national conference on water pollution held in Washington, D. C., December 12-14 at the request of President Eisenhower.

The adoption of three basic principles on the use of water emerged from the conference that seemed to have general acceptance by the delegates. Thy are:

(1) Users of water do not have an inherent right to pollute; (2) users of public waters have a responsibility for returning them as nearly as clean as is technically possible; (3) prevention is just as important as control of pollution.

This statement of philosophy was objected to be a representative of the National Association of Manufacturers who thought it should be modified to include an economic feasibility provision.

Differences of opinion arose over the amount of federal aid that should be made available to municipalities for waste treatment plant construction and on the matter of enforcement of pollution control laws.

LIFT A CHILD

You lift a child . . . you give him the opportunity in his Church and in his Christian home to gain moral and religious insights.

And you hold him above you . . . dedicating your own time and strength to your Church so that you and your child can find together the spiritual foundation on which men should build their lives.

Copyright 1960, Keister Adv. Service, Strasburg, Va.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

State Senate Gets 1st Bills of '61 Session

Legislature Now in Recess; to Resume Business Tuesday

Both houses wound up Thursday, then decided to come back Monday evening to go through the motions of calling the roll to satisfy a constitutional requirement that they not adjourn for more than three days.

But the next real business will come Tuesday when standing committees will be announced in the liberal-controlled House and first bills introduced in that chamber.

The Senate got a running start Thursday with 17 bills tossed on the desk and referred to committee. Among the first was one to regulate solicitation drives by charitable funds. Another would require lobbyists to register while still another would take household goods off personal property tax rolls.

The charities bill, with Sen. Thomas P. Welch, Buffalo Conservative, as chief sponsor, would require "full disclosure" of all financial and organizational matters by charity groups. The statements would be filed with the attorney general, who would be empowered to bring violators to trial.

The bill was drafted by a citizens group appointed by Attorney General Walter F. Mondale in the wake of disclosures last year of irregularities in the former Sister Elizabeth Kenny foundation.

The Senate also had its first fuss of the session—with the predictable outcome.

The conservative majority voted down a liberal attemp to shuttle committee assignments back to the conservative steering committee that drew them up. The vote was 41-24.

The upper chamber then voted 44-20 to approve the lists as proposed, giving six first-term liberals one more committee spot but leaving the rest with what they had last tme.

Liberals, without much hope of success, had asked to have the committee memberships divided up in proportion to relative strength of the two Senate factions. The conservatives hold the overall edge, 43-24.

Sen. John Zwach of Walnut Grove and Sen. Gordon Rosemeier of Little Falls, in fact, denied that discrimination exists. Experience and seniority, they said, are given more weight in committee makeups.

Main feature of the meeting was the report of Robert Rausch on the Jaycee-sponsored trip to Chicago in November. Rausch is a member of the Steiner 4-H club.

Further plans for the February 8 Boss-Employe banquets were discussed by Allen Torkelson, chairman.

"Credit Problems and the Dealer" will be discussed at evening meetings.

Two teams of University of Minnesota agricultural extension specialists will speak at the meetings, presenting material appropriate to the area. Each meeting will start at 1:30 p.m., with a "Dutch treat" dinner planned for 6 p.m. An evening session on credit problems will start at 7 o'clock.

The extension specialists and county agents will present the afternoon programs. The evening program will include representatives of industry, banking and farm credit agencies.

Pouring at the tea table during the afternoon were Mrs. J. E. Bloomquist, Mrs. L. B. Hartz, and Mrs. J. J. Womack. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Robt. Baker, Mrs. Ken Onken, and members of the arrangement committee.

Mantoux Tests in Marshall County Schools Finished

The Mantoux testing in the Marshall county schools has been completed and has been termed a huge success by Mrs. Viola L. Rud, public health nurse.

The Marshall County Public Health Nursing Service expressed its appreciation to the schools for their cooperation, to the local newspapers for their fine coverage of the program, to Dr. L. H. Flancher and Mrs. Mary Vattendahl of Sunnyrest Sanatorium who administered the tests, and to the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association, which provided supplies and pays for the follow-up x-ray for the students.

A total of 4,085 people were given the Mantoux test. Forty-four new reactors were located. This represents an infection rate of 1.07 per cent.

In the Goodridge school, 314 pupils were tested out of an enrollment of 388. Of those tested, two were new positive reactors, in addition to which there were four previous reactors.

A positive reaction to the Mantoux indicates that tubercle bacilli have entered the body. It does not mean, however, that person has tuberculosis, said Mrs. Rud.

In Marshall county schools 94.9 per cent of the students were tested as were previously known reactors. This represents a total infection rate of 2.6 per cent among students.

Pennington Co. Has 6 Traffic Deaths in 1960

State Patrol Lists Three, Sheriff Two, and City Police One

1960 was a bad year on highways in the Thief River Falls area. So says Capt. Walter Anderson, head of the Thief River Falls highway patrol station.

The annual report released by Anderson this week shows an increase of approximately 20 per cent in accidents of all kinds, with a whopping 90 per cent increase in personal injury accidents.

Three peoples' lives were snuffed out instantly in one accident southeast of the city on U. S. 59 in May. This mishap, in which a car and semi-trailer rig collided head-on, contributed 50 per cent of the fatalities for the county. Two fatalities were reported by the county sheriff and there was one in the city, for a total of six.

No deaths were reported by the patrol in 1959. The estimated damage for accidents reported in 1960 was $21,270.

Capt. Anderson reported 95 arrests made for hazardous moving violations in 1960, an increase of about 5 per cent. Such violations, Anderson said, are those which could contribute to an accident, such as driving under the influence of alcohol, careless driving, speeding, running stop signs, failure to yield right-of-way, etc.

Of the above, speeding arrests were most numerous, with 33. Arrests for non-hazarous violations included license violations, over legal weight and height for trucks, etc. Such cases numbered 40, of which two were dismissed and two are pending trial.

Kennedy Elected Officially Friday

The Democratic candidate's losing opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, made the declaration after the House and the Senate formally tallied the electoral votes from the November 8 balloting.

Nixon also declared Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democrat, elected vice president over Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican.

The official presidential tally was 303 votes for Kennedy, 219 for Nixon and 15 for Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. Kennedy needed 269 to win.

'60 Weather Was Pleasant as Rule

With six of its 12 months warmer than in 1959, the past year was generally pleasant with few extremes of temperature or precipitation.

The coldest period was a six-day session in early January when lows of —20 or less were recorded five of the nights and the warmest was a —11. The warmest day was August 12 when the mercury reached 92.

January—Compared to 1959, the month was warmer both during the daylight and evening hours. The average high during 1959 was 3.1 degrees while the 1960 average was 14.48. The average low in 1960 was —4.36 compared to 1959's —11.5. Precipitation in 1960 totaled 7.5 inches and 3 inches in 1959. Warmest reading of the month was 37 and the lowest was —24. Below-zero temperatures were recorded only twice during daylight hours.

February — Compared to the same month in 1959, February was a little warmer, slightly wetter and generally more pleasant. Five days shared the honor of being the warmest with 30's posted as the high and the average high for the month was 18.03 degrees. Nighttime temperatures were also above those of 1959 with the coldest reading a —14 compared to the previous year's —39. Average low temperature was 0.69 degrees below zero. Precipitation totaled 0.9 inch of snow and 0.29 inch of rain which fell on the second and third.

March—The month was colder and wetter than the three previous years with an average high of 23.68 and an average low of 3.48. The area had 4 inches of snow but was lucky to miss the heavy precipitation which struck the eastern and central states. The mercury never got above zero 11 nights of the month and never got above 32 any night. Above - freezing temperatures were recorded only seven days.

April—Colder in the daytime than usual, warmer at night and much wetter summarizes April's

U. S. Geological Survey Maps Area Along River from TRF to St. Hilaire

The Minnesota department of conservation today announced that the U.S. Geological Survey has completed topographical mapping of some 50 square miles of Pennington county on both sides of the Red Lake River from Thief River Falls to St. Hilaire.

Topographic maps, in addition to showing all the features appearing on the common road map, also show by contour lines the elevation of land surfaces, wooded and water areas, the fall of streams and rivers and relative steepness of hills and valleys.

Topographic maps are used extensively by municipalities, by industries considering the location of new plant facilities and by agriculture, conservation, defense and other agencies of federal, state and local government.

Approximately 36 per cent of the state has been topographically mapped so far. Copies of the published maps may be purchased at nominal cost from the U.S. Geological Survey, Federal Center, Denver, Colorado.

THE AVERAGE ANCIENT ROMAN LIVED TO BE 22
The American born in 1961 can look forward to a life span of nearly 70 years. Since 1900 alone, average life expectancy has climbed an incredible 20 years. Medical progress is the great achiever of these revolutionary gains. New research and new knowledge today promise even further advances.
Nevertheless, neglecting to see a physician in time to benefit fully from modern medical science is cheating many not only of average years, but of extra years. Clearly, the great step toward better health and longer life is simple: regular medical check-ups.

Estimated Federal Income Tax for 4th Quarter Due Jan. 16

The deadline for paying the last installment on estimated federal income tax returns for 1960 is Monday, January 16, 1961, George O. Lethert, director of internal revenue for the St. Paul district, reminded taxpayers today. He explained Monday, January 16, is the installment due date this year because January 15 falls on a Sunday.

"If you have previously filed an estimated return and events occurring in the last quater of 1960 indicate that your income will be substantially more or less than your original estimate, you should file an amended declaration on January 16," he said.

This declaration, he added, should be marked "amended" and filed with the same district director of internal revenue who received the original declaration. A blank amended declaration is printed on the back of the notice of payment due which the taxpayer received by mail.

Mr. Lethert said an original declaration of estimated tax for the year 1960 should be filed by January 16 on Form 1040ES by taxpayers who first became liable for filing an estimate during the fourth quater of 1960.

He said there is one exception to these rules. If the taxpayer finds it necessary to file an amended declaration on January 16, or if he becomes liable for filing a declaration for the first time on January 16, he need not file or pay on that date if he files his final return for 1960 and pays in full the balance of tax he owes on or before February 1, 1961.

The American Legion Hospital Association . . . For Those Veterans Who Cannot Pay Again
There is more than one way to pay a bill. Honorably discharged veterans and their dependents, who are in need of specialized medical care for a serious disability, but who are unable to pay, can often obtain help through the American Legion Hospital Association, which is supported primarily by a portion of the dues paid by Legionnaires and Auxiliary members.
Minnesota Legionnaires began this unique service in 1922, when they established their Hospital Association to give assistance and financial aid to veterans and their dependents needing specialized medical care at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester.
Approximately eight hundred thousand dollars has been spent for this purpose.

State Auditor Would End Dedicated Funds

State Auditor Stafford King Thursday renewed his recommendation that legislatively dedicated funds like the income tax school fund be discontinued.

In his biennial report to the legislature, King also urged discontinuance of the practice of charging one state department for services performed by another.

"Total receipts to the state treasury for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959, were $871,404,353.29," he said. "Of this amount $793,130,790.82 were dedicated to some funds for some specific purpose and could not be used for any other purpose.

"During the same year in the custody of the state treasurer were literally hundreds of millions of dollars but because so many of them were dedicated to and for a specific purpose it was necessary to borrow $50 million to finance appropriations out of the income tax school fund, and $19 million to pay warrants drawn on the state's general revenue fund."

He said only 9.5 cents out of each dollar received during 1960 was subject to legislative appropriation.

"When the source of the fund dedication produces too much," he added, "we develop programs of luxury spending. When the are reduced to poverty programs source produces too little we or we must borrow money and high rates of interest to provide current cash, or both."

He proposed that all legislatively dedicated funds be abolished and that receipts from all sources be deposited in the general revenue fund subject to legislative control.

As to charging one department for services performed by another, he said this accomplishes nothing except to complicate cost accounting and requires added expenditures for bookkeeping.

weather. The thermometer was below the freezing mark two days and 19 nights with the lowest reading a 9 posted on the ninth. The ice went out of the river April 13 at 1:09:32 a.m. which was eight days later than the previous year. Average high for the month was 47.3 and the average low was 29.5. Precipitation for the month totaled 7.6 inches of snow and 0.38 inch of rain.

May — Temperatures climbed gradually and steadily to the warmest day of May, an 82, registered the 31st. Average temperatures increased sharply over April with the average high 66.6 and the average low 40.5. Rainfall totaled 2.29 inches compared to 3.84 inches the previous year.

June—Wetter and colder than 1959 summarizes the month of June. Rainfall amounted to 6.61 inches scattered throughout the period. June 26 was the warmest day of the month, resulting in a buildup of storm clouds, strong winds and 1.22 inches of rain. The Crookston area had five inches of rain within a short period resulting in flooded basements. Crops remained undamaged, however. Average high for the month was 71 and average low was 49.9.

July—Only 1.10 inches of rain fell during the month and residential lawns turned brown. Temperatures were about normal for the period with an average high of 81.29 and an average low of 57.09. Warmest days of the month were the 20th and 30th with readings of 90. The Pennington county fair had near-ideal weather with clear skies and warm breezes every day except one when only enough rain fell to settle the dust. Hail the 15th hit the old Germantown area causing an estimated 50 per cent damage to small grain.

August—"About normal" summarizes the period including the mugginess. The year's high of 92 was recorded the 12th and the month's low was 43. Highlights of the month were the windy period from the 15th to the 17th and the 2.1 inches of rain which fell the 23rd. Average high for the month was 79.7 and average low was 57.1. Total precipitation was 5.35 inches.

September — Thirty days of good seasonal northwestern Minnesota harvest weather were recorded with everything about average. Average high for the month was 69.1 and average low was 46.6. Total precipitation amounted to 1.42 inches.

October—Perfect fall weather during the first nine days of the month were reported followed by the first snow of the fall season the 18th. Generally, the month was pleasant with an average high of 56.26 and an average low of 34.06. The first below-freezing temperature, 30, was recorded the third of the month. Only 1.42 inches of rainfall was reported.

November — The month began with clear and sunny skies and was warmer than the same period in 1959. The first snow cover fell November 14 to help deer hunters a little but was inadequate for tracking. Snow which fell the 28th and 29th was accompanied by strong winds gusting to 55 miles an hour forcing schools to close. The area was fortunate, however, for many areas to the south had greater amounts and the northeastern section had up to 11 inches. Average high for the north was 36.53 and average low was 20.1. Total precipitation was 1.23 inches of rain and snow. The first below-zero reading, a —7, was posted the 31st.

December — The month began with cold readings and a moderation was accompanied on the 4th and 5th by freezing rain and snow causing the closing of many valley schools for the day. Comparatively, the month was colder than in 1959. Average high for the month was 17.97 and average low was —1.71. A total of 1.87 inches of rain and snow fell during the month.

Prowlers Defeat Ada Quint 70-47

Coach Jack Junker's basketball Prowlers added a game to their win streak on Saturday night by defeating the Ada Vikings, 70 to 47, in a game played at Ada. The win streak is now at six straight, and will be placed in jeopardy on Wednesday night when the highly-ranked Bemidji Lumberjacks meet the Prowlers on the Lincoln high school gymnasium court.

On Saturday, Jan. 14, the Prowlers will meet the Lakers of Detroit Lakes in a 1:30 P.M. game in a preliminary to the Minnesota vs. Purdue Big Ten tilt in the fieldhouse on the U. of M. campus in Minneapolis.

In Saturday night's tilt at Ada, the Prowlers moved into a 19 to 4 lead at the end of the first period of play, and a 32 to 13 lead at the intermission.

In the first period 19-point effort, the Prowlers were paced by the 7-point scoring of Harvey Ebbighausen, who had three field goals and a free throw, and the 6-point scoring of Gary Anderson, who notched three field goals.

Center Ron Hanson, who accumulated 26 points during the game, racked up two field goals and five free throws in the second period, giving the Prowlers a commanding 32 to 13 lead at the half-time break.

Coach Bill Brady's Ada "first string," four juniors and a sophomore, were outreached and outweighed by the Prowlers, but the Vikings put on an ever-hustling exhibition of basketball, and their agility on defense, in the second half, prevented the Prowlers from piling up a bigger margin of victory. These aggressive defensive tactics by the Vikings proved costly for coach Brady's squad lost three players, Jim Hennen, Bob Drevlow, and Dean Bowyer, vis the personal foul route in the late stages of the game.

Ebbighausen, who had eight field goals and two free throws, had 18 points to be runner-up to Hanson for scoring honors. Anderson and Don Ulferts also hit for "double figures" for the Prowlers, with Gary having ten points and Don scoring eleven points.

4-H Leaders Go to Institute Jan. 17

Regional Session Set for Northwest School

"Learning Experiences in 4-H Club Work" will be the theme of the 1961 4-H leaders' institutes to be held throughout Minnesota during January. The institutes will be held on an area basis with reprentatives from six to eight counties attending each meeting.

"Learning thru 4-H Judging Activities," "Planning for Learning," and "Learning thru Wise Project Selection" are among the topics that will be discussed.

Mrs. Eleanor Gifford, state home economics agent, and state 4-H club staff members from the University of Minnesota will conduct the area institutes.

Information gained by those who attend the institute training sessions will be presented to other leaders at county leader training meetings. These institutes are held each year to help leaders do more effective work with their local club members. More than 9,000 adults in Minnesota are 4-H club leaders.

Winnipeg Tobins Whip Thieves 7-3 in Arena Sunday

A smooth-passing Winnipeg Tobins aggregation, with center Larry Domanski racking up three goals and Wally Staub adding a pair, defeated the senior hockey Thieves, 7 to 3, in a game played on the Arena rink here Sunday afternoon.

Next Sunday afternoon, in a 2:30 P.M. game, the Thieves will meet the powerful Crookston Pirates on the Arena rink. Bud Salem's Crookston club was a contender for the state amateur title last season, and the Pirates are reported to have a stronger club this season.

Sunday's game at the Arena was featured by the crisp and accurate passing of the Winnipeg Tobins. A glance at the scoring summary reveals that only one of the Tobins' goals were of the unassisted variety, the other six tallies coming as a result of some deft passing to set up the "trigger" man.

Larry Domanski, who also had a "big" day in last season's game between the two clubs, racked up three goals, getting a goal in each period.

The Thieves, trailing by a 5 to 0 score entering the third period, notched three goals in the final twenty minutes, with Les Merrifield hitting laces for a pair of tallies, and Eddie Holmes adding the third goal.

The summary:

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Week of Decision

With the exception of the tournament weeks, the district and regional tournaments, this week will be the "biggest" of the year for coach Jack Junker and his Prowler cagers.

On Wednesday night coach Clarence (Bun) Fortier and his revenge-minded Bemidji Lumberjacks will invade the local court for a game; and on Saturday afternoon, in a preliminary to the Minnesota vs. Purdue Big Ten game in Minneapolis, the Prowlers will meet coach George Hanson's veteran Detroit Lakes team. The two teams, the Lumberjacks and the Lakers, are rated among the state's top fifteen prep teams according to an informal poll listed by the Minneapolis Suburban Newspapers, Inc. The Prowlers aren't rated in the list that includes 20 of the state's teams.

The "big" game, of course, is the Wednesday contest here with Bemidji, and it will be a test of the two teams who are rightly rated as the Region Eight "powers" this season. And it will be a test, too, of the Prowlers' rebounding and ball-control style of play against the Lumberjacks' pressing and aggressive method of play. Should make for an exciting and interesting evening. Considering the pressure that will be exerted on the boys, it is probable that the game will have its hectic moments with the play becoming erratic and scrambly.

Auggie vs. the Cobbers

One of the important games in state college basketball will be played on the fieldhouse court of Concordia college at Moorhead tonight, Monday, when the Augsburg college Auggies meets the Cobbers. The two teams are currently leading the MIAC race.

And of interest to local cage fans is the fact that Phil Hanson, the former Prowler, and older brother of the Prowlers' high-scoring Ron Hanson, is playing with the Augsburg club. Phil, who is in his sophomore year at Augsburg, was a letter winner last season, and this season he has developed into a vital member of the Auggies' club.

Last Tuesday night the Auggies defeated Macalester, 63, to 49, to move into a tie for the conference lead, with Concordia, and in this game, Phil shared high-point honors, getting six field goals and four free throws for 16 points.

We'll long remember Phil's performance as a Prowler cager, and especially the first period scoring burst that he put on for the fans against East Grand Forks on a January night in 1958. In that game, the Prowlers exploded for a 20 to 3 first period lead, and of those 20 points, Phil accounted for 16, having eight field goals in the period. And what was remarkable was that these field goals were scored on "outside" jump shots. It was an uncanny performance. In spite of that 20 to 3 first period lead, the Prowlers had some anxious moments before they won the game, 57 to 51.

Some of the lustre of tonight's game at Concordia was rubbed off as a result of Saturday night's Gustavus vs. Augsburg game, which found the Gustavus team edging out the Auggies, 79 to 76. The Cobbers took the measure of Duluth Branch, 74 to 72, in a Saturday night game.

For the Curlers

Dr. J. M. Cardy of Grand Forks, an officer of the United States Curling association, will be in town on Wednesday evening and will meet with the directors of the local club. Dr. Cardy will explain the plans that have been made for the national bonspiel that will be held in Grand Forks this season. The Minnesota playdowns, to determine the state's entrant in the national bonspiel, will be held at the St. Paul Curling club on Feb. 17, 18 and 19.

First round matches in the newly-formed Minnetoba Curling league were held on Saturday night, with rinks from Thief River Falls and Roseau competing. Sprague and Piney of Manitoba are the other two clubs that have joined the league.

In Saturday's play at Roseau, Thief River Falls rinks won two matches and lost two; while in play here, the local rinks scored two wins, one loss, and one tie. But in the aggregate score, for the eight matches, the Roseau club won, 75 to 68. The rinks competing in the matches are composed of two women and two men to each four member rink.

Hockey Prowlers Tip Hallock 4 to 2

Coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers scored a 4 to 3 win over the Hallock Polar Bears in a Region Eight conference game played here Saturday night.

The Prowlers will meet two of the region's top-ranked teams this week, travelling to Warroad for a game on Tuesday night, and hosting the Roseau Rams here Saturday night. The Larry Poole-Tim Teal-Jack Houfek trio accounted for all of the Prowler tallies, with center Larry getting a pair of goals and wingman Jack and Tim getting singletons.

Getting Industries Called Main Problem Facing Minnesotans

Most Minnesotans feel that "Bringing new industries and businesses to Minnesota" is the most important of eight major problems facing the 1961 Legislature, Charles P. Stone, General Counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, pointed out today, quoting a December, 1960 statewide Minnesota Poll conducted by the Minneapolis Tribune.

The questions put to voting age men and women in all parts of the state were:

"Our state legislature will meet in January to start its regular 90-day session. Here on this card are listed some of the problems which the legislature is expected to consider.

"Right now, which one do you consider the most important of those problems? Which do you feel is second in importance for the legislature to act on this coming year?"

Here's the order in which Minnesotans ranked the problems (first and second choices combined):

1. "Bringing new industries and businesses to Minnesota" 53%
2. "Tax program to meet state's revenue needs" .. 41
3. "School construction program" 28
4. "State aid for aged citizens" 25
5. "Iron ore and taconite industry expansion" 15
6. "Improvements in mental health program" 14
7. "Reorganization of state government" 12
8. "Redistricting Minnesota legislative and congressional districts" 6

Almost all major groups in the state population put the problem of attracting new business enterpraises to Minnesota at the top of the list of legislative problems.

Among people living in northern Minnesota (the sixth, eighth and ninth congressional districts combined), 59 per cent said that bringing new business and industry to the state is the Legislature's number one problem.

This was also the top concern of 58 per cent of labor union members questioned in the survey.

"It is generally agreed," Stone said, "that the best method of encouraging the growth and expansion of our existing business and industry and promoting the influx into our state of new business and industry is to make our tax climate more attractive to this segment of our economy.

"The personal property tax is the 'sorest' spot in our present tax structure— particularly the tax on inventories and productive machinery. Many responsible citizens and organizations are of the opinion that these items—manufacturers' raw materials, goods in process, finished goods and the machinery used to produce them, stocks of merchandise of wholesale and retail merchants, and farm livestock and machinery—should be eliminated entirely from the personal property tax base.

"With such necessary property tax revisions accomplished, Minnesota business and industry could move into a more favorable competitive position with its neighboring and other competing states," Stone said.

Chicken and Lamb Are Now Good Buys Says Market Agent

University Extension Specialist Also Calls Attention to Other Foods

Broiler-fryer chicken and lamb are the main-dish foods consumers will find most plentiful in January, according to a report from Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota.

Marketings of tender young chicken are expected to be up about 12 per cent from a year ago at this time. Prices will be reasonable.

To make the most of the large supply of chickens, Mrs. Loomis suggests, that homemakers use variety in cooking and seasoning. Two birds roasted whole will serve a family of six generously. Cut-up chicken may be barbecued in the oven.

If lamb is a once-in-awhile meat at your house, this may be the season for it, because grain-fed lamb is most plentiful now. Marketings of fed lambs are normally at a seasonally high level during January, and the supply is expected to be greater this January than last year.

Because of the record-large crop of cranberries, consumers will be able to buy fresh berries in retail markets all month. Canned cranberry products will also be plentiful.

Worth the attention of homemakers planning budget meals in January are navy beans for baking, onions and cabbage. All three are in heavy supply and selling at reasonable prices.

Women usually live longer than men in this country, and the relative difference has increased steadily since 1900. The average girl born in 1958 could expect to live 72.7 years, or 6.3 years longer than the 66.4 life expectancy for boys.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

This, being the first Chamber of Commerce column, is a result of encouragement from my board and cooperation by the Times. I sincerely hope that you enjoy browsing through this each week as I bring you up to date on our Chamber activities. I'm sure that I will enjoy writing it.

Chamber "Life", you realize, is the theme of our newly adopted 1961 program of Chamber activity and its letters depict four basic areas of need, namely, Living, Industry, Farming, and Education. This theme, then, comprehensively covers our board objectives.

This Board will have jurisdiction over the 1961 Chamber program of LIFE carried on by the nine standing committees and their sub-committees. The nine areas of endeavor are: Membership and Finance, Retail Trade, Agriculture, Education, Government, Transportation and Communication, Business & Industrial Development, Community Welfare, and Public Relations. The budget will amount to over $19,000 in 1961, approximately the same as in 1958, 1959, and higher than 1960.

Activities of immediate importance to the Chamber are committee appointments, annual audit, 1961 membership drive, annual meeting, Seed and Feed Show, and the annual convention of the Minnesota Wool Growers association.

Also of a pending nature is negotiation with the Small Business Administration (SBA) to acquire a small business management institute to begin, possibly, this winter. Discussion has taken place, too, with GTA members, over the possibility of cooperating in conducting a bus tour of their Minneapolis facilities. Farmers, businessmen, and their wives would, together, participate in this proposed activity.

Next week, I hope to have a little more to offer you but in the meantime be sure to Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made, in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

64th Annual Convention Slated for Minneapolis

Governor Elmer L. Andersen will be the featured speaker at the 64th annual convention of the Minnesota Retail Hardware association in Minneapolis January 16-18, announces Carl Settergren of Minneapolis, association president.

Also addressing the three-day meeting at the Leamington Hotel will be Rupert Watson of Atmore, Ala., national Hardware association president, and Dr. Kenneth McFarland of Topeka, Kansas, nationally known business lecturer and member of the General Motors speakers bureau. Watson will speak on "The Real Strength of Retailing," and McFarland will offer pointers for "Success in the Sixties."

In addition to the appearance of the new Minnesota chief executive, further emphasis will be placed on government and its relationship to small business in a panel discussion by legislative leaders, Settergren points out.

A second panel session, featuring five hardware merchants from throughout the state, will be held to discuss consumer merchandising.

Bank Officers to Meet January 18 in Minneapolis

The Minnesota Bankers association is sponsoring a mid-winter conference for executive officers of the banks of the state on Wednesday, January 18, at the Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis. It is anticipated that approximately 500 will attend.

"We are intelligent beings; and intelligent beings cannot have been formed by a blind, brute, insensible being. There is certainly some difference between a clod and the ideas of Newton. Newton's intelligence came from some greater Intelligence." —Voltaire

The Inaugural Address

Governor Andersen's inaugural address met with a generally favorable reaction. It indicated that he has a good understanding of the problems of government, state and local. His address was a realistic recognition of the present facts, along with a summary of ideal objectives. We were impressed by the fact that he discussed the disagreeable problems first. That might indicate that he recognizes the need for getting our affairs in good order before we can make substantial progress into the realm of the ideal.

Following are some of his comments on the immediate problems that should have first consideration by the legislators:

"One of my first concerns is with the fiscal condition of our state government. Due to spending more than has been coming in, reserves have been consumed and deficits created. The income tax school fund will have a deficit of $18 million on June 30, and the general revenue fund a deficit of $4 million. The condition of other funds is a matter of real concern."

• • •

"In preparing the budget for the next biennium we have sought diligently to economize."

• • •

"Currently Minnesota people are paying 25 per cent above the U.S. average, per $1,000 of personal income, for state and local government. If Minnesota per capita income were 25 per cent above the U.S. average this would not be such a problem, but when the fact is that Minnesota per capita income is below the national average, then the pinch on our people becomes more apparent."

• • •

"I am convinced that our people want and are willing to support a strong elementary and secondary school system, they are proud of our great University, they realize the importance of the state colleges and the junior colleges. Likewise we want an excellent mental health program, a forward looking correctional program, fine highways, humanitarian welfare programs, and all other essential services state and local government provide. However, it is essential that we have jobs and payrolls if we are to have the taxpayers and tax base to provide the revenue to support all this."

• • •

"Industry has become mobile. It goes where it is wanted. It goes where it can operate to competitive advantage. Time was when U.S. concerns competed with foreign concerns for foreign markets. Now U.S. concerns are competing with foreign manufacturers for our own market. Look about you and observe the products of foreign manufacture at every hand. We want to see the rest of the world develop economically and industrially. It is the best hope of future peace. If we are to share in this international development our firms must compete effectively and therefore they seek locations where tax climates, availability of workers and natural resources, closeness to markets, all provide the advantages they need."

• • •

"Taxation and tax reform is the most discussed subject relating to job building and business development. There is no question about its importance."

• • •

These excerpts from Governor Andersen's address point up the problems that should have top priority in the considerations of the Legislature. These are the problems that should be resolved before we further expand the state's services or facilities in any field. The immediate need is to regain solvency, to get our debts under control, and to get our expenditures and our income in balance. After that has been accomplished, then we can start arguing about how many more of the better things of life we can afford.

Let's keep in mind Governor Andersen's reminder that the cost of state and local government in Minnesota is 25 per cent higher per $1,000 of personal income than the national average. As long as that condition prevails our state will be at a disadvantage with most other states in our effort to attract new industries, or to retain those we now have.

It Could Snowball

The legislature will be called upon by many pressure groups to hike appropriations for various reasons. There will be demands for pay increases. All public employes are underpaid, they always have been and they always will be, according to their representatives.

Members of the legislature will find it easier to be more considerate of the unorganized taxpayers, in dealing with these pressure groups, if in this session they will pass up the opportunity to enrich themselves at the public expense. A few of the members probably earn more than they get, but most of them are already overpaid.

If they will withstand the temptation of paying themselves more, then it will be easier to say no to the other pressure groups. If the members of the legislature decide to help themselves to more pie then it will be difficult to resist the demands of the others. The underpaid and overworked judges will have to be taken care of, next will be the department heads, then the state employes and county officials and so on down the line.

A slight boost in the personal expense allowance of the members of the legislature could snowball into millions of dollars in extra appropriations.

Long Live the Dean

Dean Athelstan Spilhaus of the University of Minnesota institute of technology, let it be known that he thought the eight University regents who attended the Rose Bowl game as members of the official University party might have put in their time to better advantage checking some of the school's facilities. Not knowing any of the facts, we assume that the regents had just as much right to see the Rose Bowl game as any other citizens of the state, provided their outing was not an item of expense for the school and the taxpayers.

Regardless of that technicality, it is good to know that there is a Dean Spilhaus on the University faculty who expresses himself freely on the problems of education and school administration, even to the extent of criticizing the bosses. In his field Dean Spilhaus is highly regarded by scientists and by educators. His complete independence is refreshing proof that we still have academic freedom, and that is the important thing. Long live the Dean.

Strong Advice

Governor William L. Guy of North Dakota, a Democrat, urged a tighten-the-belt policy in his inaugural address delivered last week. Appropriations should be held to the 1959 marks, or in some instances sharply reduced, he stated.

Coming from a northern Democrat, that is strange advice. We hope that it indicates the beginning of a trend.

Silent Jack

President-elect Kennedy, whose ability to express himself effectively is generally recognized, is doing a good job now of also proving that he is able to remain silent. There are several essential qualifications for a good chief executive. He should be well informed. He should be able to think straight. He should be able to make clear to others what he thinks. And he should be able to remain silent.

Silence sometimes requires a great deal of self-restraint, and it is encouraging to know that our next president has this important qualification.

Child Thriftiness

(Houston Post)

Has thrift become out-moded? Is it far too old-fashioned for the tempo of modern life? In a day when almost anything you want can be acquired without the expenditure of a nickel—immediately, that is— it won't seem too surprising if many people say they can't be bothered to save money, and pay cash when they buy something.

But thrift is not a dead issue, although it could become one. Take children, for instance. Columnist Sylvia Porter asks if parents are doing their duty by instilling thrifty habits in their children? Not as much as they should. Children should be warned against over-indulgence in the "buy-now-pay-later" philosophy.

Can children save? Certainly they can. Small boys are hoarders by nature. Thank not? Turn out their pockets and see what you find. Look in their hidey-holes and wonder at the loot stored there. This hoarding instinct can be turned to good account. Tell them about the great oak and the little acorn. Or instill a little Scottish parsimony—not the pinch-penny kind, but the kind that says "mony a mickle makes a muckle."

Economic Strength

(Kansas City Star)

In all the talk about gross national product, production and rate of growth, one important economic statistic has received little attention. We refer to the third-quarter report that in July, August and September the American people saved a larger percentage of their income than in any three-month period since 1958. With personal income at a record annual level of 408 billion dollars, savings were at an annual rate of 29 billion. Slightly more than eight per cent of the personal income of the nation went into the bank or sugar bowl.

To be sure this economic indicator is a reasonable measurement of the reluctance of consumers to buy today. The Federal Reserve has also acted to create more credit. But the savings rate of the third quarter definitely indicates that people have been in no rush to make new purchases.

The high level of savings also indicates the existence of a latent buying power that could sharply reverse the economic trend. It is a reservoir of solid capital for future expansion. Without assessing the other economic indicators, the personal savings in 1960 may be a tip on the economy's pattern in 1961.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Mother discovered little Janie fighting with the boy next door. After parting them she lectured her daughter. "Next time," she said, "I don't want you hitting Johnny back. Remember that you are a lady. Out-talk him."

• • •

Summoned to the business office, the salesman was told: "This expense account amazes us. How do you manage to spend $14 a day for food?"

"I manage," came the reply, "by skipping breakfast."

"Is the defense ready to proceed with this case?" asked the judge.

"Yes, your honor," replied the young lawyer. And he added: "I'm going to prove that the defendant couldn't have committed the crime with which he is charged. If that don't convince the jury, I'll show he was insane when he committed it. And, if that fails, I'll prove an alibi."

Grain Clinic to Feature Feed and Seed Show

4-H & FFA Members Invited to Compete in Event Feb. 3d

The Seed and Feed Show to be held at Thief River Falls on Friday, February 3, will offer a new feature this year in the form of a grain clinic for FFA and 4-H members.

The committee in charge of the clinic consists of Jon Metuaalem and Larry Folley, vo. ag. instructors respectively at Thief River Falls and Goodridge, and County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Included in the clinic will be identification of weed plants and weed seeds; identification of legumes and grasses; and identification of damage from diseases. Other topics bearing on crops and forages may also be included.

The grain clinic will be staged in the morning of February 3.

All farmers, 4-H and FFA members in the surrounding area are urged to bring in a sample of grain or forage to the seed and feed show. Classes are set up so that clean or uncleaned seed may be entered. The seed does not have to be certified although there are classes for certified seed only.

When the seed is cleaned the entrant is asked to bring two quarts of grain; one quart of legume or grass seed and if the seed is not cleaned bring one bushel. If the seed is certified, bring the tag and one bushel of grain or two quarts of legume or grass seed.

For corn bring 10 ears; potatoes, 20 tubers; silage—legume, grass, oat-peas, or mixed—one gallon; two-inch slice of baled hay—legume, grass, or mixed; or ¼ bushel of loose hay.

Showing grain and forages helps to determine the qualities looked for by commercial firms and to identify the factors farmers look for in selecting seeds and forages for farm use. Farmers, 4-H and FFA members who plan to show cleaned exhibits are urged to start cleaning their samples now to get them ready for the show.

Internal Revenue Agents at P.O. in Crookston Fridays

To Assist Those Needing Help in Preparation of '60 Federal Tax Returns

George Lethert, district director of internal revenue, St. Paul, announced that Revenue Agents Austin Shanahan and Morris Mogen have been assigned the responsibility for assistance to taxpayers in the counties of Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake during the 1961 federal income tax filing period.

They are located at the post-office building, Room 202, in Crookston and will be available from 12:45 to 4:45 p.m. on Fridays from now thru April 14. Tax assistance will be offered during these hours to those persons who need help in preparing their 1960 federal returns.

Again this year taxpayers are encouraged to use the card Form 1040A or the new short form 1040W. Where possible Form 1040W may be used regardless of the total amount of salary and wages, and where income is composed of salary and wages and not more than $200 of dividends and interest.

Card Form 1040A cannot be used by taxpayers who have $10,000 or more income or who wish to identify deductions, claim the "sick pay exclusion" or make estimated tax payments.

Plans Made Here for Observance of Jaycee Week

Window Display to Be Set up by Committee for Week of Jan. 15 to 21

Plans for the local observance of National Jaycee Week January 15-21 were made Tuesday at a meeting of the board of directors of the Thief River Falls chapter.

Jim Winjum Jr., Almer Doer and Larry Evenstad were assigned the task of preparing a window display depicting Jaycee activities, while Roger Tunberg and John McGinley will handle publicity.

The next general meeting of the chapter was advanced from Thursday, January 19, to Wednesday evening, the 18th, in order not to conflict with the annual dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Another board meeting was set for Monday, January 23, when the guest speaker will be Lee Watson, state president.

She said these totals are slightly below those of a year ago, adding that this is due, at least in part, to the fact that tax-exempt vehicles and two-wheel trailers are registered only in even-numbered years.

Withholding Tax Bill Given to Legislature

Author of Measure Proposes Forgiving Taxes Due for 1960

The author of a bill instituting a withholding system for Minnesota income taxes is setting a target date of mid-March for its passage by the legislature.

Rep. D. D. Wozniak, St. Paul, put the measure in Tuesday as House File No. 1, held a hearing on it later in the day before the tax committee of which he is chairman and set a public hearing by that group for last night.

Wozniak explained that speed would be necessary to give the state's some 80,000 employers a chance to set up collection machinery, should his April 1 date be accepted by the legislators for start of withholding.

The measure also provides for full forgiveness of 1960 taxes, 50 per cent of which would be due April 15, for all individual taxpayers whose accounts are not in arrears.

Wozniak said he was seeking to speed House action so that the bill could reach the conservative-dominated Senate in "plenty of time." He said he personally could see no reason for delay in passage of the measure.

The author estimated that withholding would bring an added $29 million into the state coffers within the next 30 months without any raise in tax rates.

Joseph Robertson, state tax commissioner, told the committee he favored the bill because "we are now trying to collect taxes by horse and buggy methods."

Yesterday the house and senate met briefly for the third day this week to answer the roll call and introduce a sheaf of bills. Both houses plan to recess today for a second long weekend.

The senate will quit after its 10:30 a.m. session and will return at 7:30 p.m. Monday. Fred Cina, house majority leader, said he thinks the house probably will quit today also but will return at 2 p.m. Monday for a business session.

Reminds Farmers Tax Filing Dates

Farmers who get at least two-thirds of their gross income from farming have until Monday, January 16, to file their estimated federal income tax returns for the year 1960, unless they plan to file their final return on or before February 15, George O. Lethert, director of internal revenue for the St. Paul district, reminded today.

Farmers who have any questions on this subject may get a copy of the official publication, "Farmers Tax Guide" by writing to Office of District Director, Post Office Box 3556, St. Paul 1, Minnesota, Mr. Lethert said.

Some North Central Airlines flights to Grand Forks are "booked solid" through much of next week and many flights to Minneapolis have been sold out in advance, according to Lowell Vraa, North Central Airlines station manager here.

Vraa said that the extra reservations have been caused by the strike of Northwest Orient Airlines domestic flight engineers which began Monday. Northwest normally operates flights into Grand Forks, and passengers have taken advantage of the North Central flights for their trips.

Reservations well in advance of a trip have been recommended by North Central. Wednesday morning, January 11, the morning flight to Minneapolis was filled to capacity when it left Grand Forks and 19 standby passengers in Thief River Falls were unable to board.

No progress in the Northwest strike has been made and the congestion on North Central flights may continue for some time.

PROMOTED John McGinley, assistant cashier of the Union State bank, was advanced Tuesday to the position of assistant vice president. With the bank the past five years, he is a native of Anaconda, Montana, and started his career in a bank in that city.

DIRECTOR elected Tuesday to the board of the Union State bank is William LaFave, manager of Bridgeman Creameries and long active in community affairs. He succeeds Andrew Anderson, who retired after 21 years of service on the board.

Union State Bank Adds $100,000 to Capital; LaFave Joins Board

Stockholders of the Union State bank at their annual meeting Tuesday voted to expand the institution's capital structure by declaring a 66 2/3 per cent stock dividend, thereby increasing the capital stock from $150,000 to $250,000. This will enable the bank to make larger loans should the need arise, said J. J. Womack, president.

Other action at the meeting included the election of Wm. LaFave as a member of the board of directors, succeeding Andrew Anderson who, after 21 years of service, did not stand for reelection. The board voiced appreciation of services rendered by Mr. Anderson, and presented him with a gift.

LaFave, manager of Bridgeman Creameries, has been active for many years in projects contributing to the development of the Thief River Falls community. All other directors were reelected, including E. O. Peterson, chairman; Lloyd N. Bennes, Justus Larson, Harry Oen, J. H. Winjum and J. J. Womack.

All officers were reelected to their present posts, with the exception of John McGinley, assistant cashier, who was promoted to assistant vice president. He has been associated with the bank the past five years. Reelected were J. J. Womack, president; Ken L. Onken, vice president and cashier; N. H. Kortuem and Miss Laura Lund, assistant cashiers; and R. D. Flynn, manager of the insurance department.

Womack reported that the bank enjoyed a successful year in 1960, with deposits reaching an all-time high of $7,300,000 on October 24, and with outstanding loans in excess of $5,000,000, thus contributing to the economic progress of the Thief River Falls area.

Prospect Is That Only $15,000 Will Be Turned in; Quota Was $21,372

Returns in the United Fund drive for Pennington county are still trickling in, with 65 per cent of the $21,372 goal reached, but it is apparent that the total goal will not be reached without added contributions.

Completion of the residential drive has been reported and about two-thirds of the rural drive has been completed with a good response.

Eggers-Landsverk Speak Vows at McIntosh Dec. 17

Miss Janice Eggers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eggers, and Donald Landsverk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Landsverk, all of Fosston, were united in marriage Saturday evening, December 17, at the Immanuel Lutheran church in McIntosh. Pastor Max L. Schaefer performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 250 guests. Baskets of red poinsettias and white mums, white frosted Christmas trees and spiral candelabra formed the setting for the ceremony.

Miss Ann Quam of Frazer, Montana, presided at the organ for the prelude of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Harold Storhaug who sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," as each bridal attendant entered, and "O Perfect Love," during the ceremony. Clifford Eggers sang "The Lords Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of imported French lace and tulle over layers of net over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a contrail neckline, edged in irridescent sequins and pearls with Mary Stuart sleeves that came to a point over the wrist. Her bouffant skirt was accented by cascading tiers of lace and tulle in the back. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion net was held in place by a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and English holly leaves. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the groom. The traditional "something old, new, borrowed and blue" was carried out.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors with Mrs. Sigward Quam of this city as hostess. Rotary Club Is Given Reports from Former Exchange Students

In an answer to a letter from Roy Barzen in regard to the position of the United States in Latin America, Gilson deSouza, exchange student from Brazil who was in Thief River Falls in 1956, was not encouraging. The Brazilian said that the United States had lost much respect and prestige in recent years and was in danger from communists in South America. He continued with the observation that some European countries had declined in prestige and power with the loss of their colonies and that there was an increase in status for the "newer" countries, including those in South America.

Reports were also heard from local "families" of other former AFS students. Mary Demetrellou of Greece stated that she was enrolling for two years in a college with the sponsorship of Dr. J. W. Ewing to enable her to continue teaching. George Mostue reported that communication with his foreign "son," Mochammed Sjachrani, was very difficult and that some mail was not reaching its destination through regular channels.

He told the Rotarians that they were looking forward to the Bemidji game January 11 and answered questions on game strategy. He also discussed the coming game with Detroit Lakes which will be played preceding the Minnesota-Purdue basketball game Saturday afternoon, January 14, in the field house in Minneapolis.

Roy Oen, who returned from California Sunday evening, gave a brief report on his trip. He told the Rotarians that he saw a beautiful parade, heard great bands and saw a good second-half football game between Minnesota and Washington in the Rose Bowl.

Stephen Man Held on Bigamy Charges

Marvin Maurstad Held Here for N.D. Authorities

A Stephen man who was apprehended here Friday on charges of furnishing beer to a minor and having an open bottle of intoxicants in a car has confessed to seven burglaries in northwestern Minnesota, South Dakota and Washington, and will be released to North Dakota officials on charges of bigamy.

Marvin R. Maurstad was arrested Friday by officers Bren and Liden of the city police, after Marshall county Sheriff Oscar Erickson requested via radio that area officers be on the lookout for two men driving a car with North Dakota license had exchanged four rolls of dimes for bills at a Grygla service station.

The service station operator alerted Erickson at noon Friday and Bren and Liden arrested Maurstad and his companion, David Mergenthal, Hillsboro, N. Dak. at 2 p.m. Mergenthal forfeited bonds on charges of driving after license suspension and having an open bottle in a car, and was released to Hillsboro officials.

Lawmen from South Dakota and the Kittson county sheriff also were interested in the case and Maurstad was also questioned by Max Graham, state crime bureau agent here. Maurstad admitted burglaries in Kittson county, Milbank, S. Dak. and in Washington.

The most serious charge against Maurstad, however, is that he married a North Dakota girl last year despite the fact he had a wife and family in New York state. He will be released to Hillsboro, N. Dak. authorities and will be returned there to face bigamy charges.

Airlines Favored by U.S., Is Charge

Labor Newspaper Cites Examples of Favoritism

The contrast between the federal government's treatment of airlines and railroads was underscored by two stories on a recent front page of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, says the newspaper, "Labor."

One dealt with air service maintained for small communities under subsidies provided with taxpayers' money. On the other side was an article revealing plans of the Soo Line to abandon two passenger trains on the St. Paul-Duluth-Superior run because, among other things, the postoffice department has taken away mail hauled by the trains and given it to trucks.

Loss of the mail contract, resulting from establishment by the postoffice department of the "metro plan" of mail distribution, cost the carrier about $40,000 a year in revenue, the article pointed out.

The other story quoted a letter from the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington to the mayors of Mankato, Thief River Falls, Albert Lea and Austin, Minn. It urged greater use of "feeder" air service, financed in part by "substantial subsidy payments by the federal government" to the airlines involved.

Money does "grow on trees" for tree farmers, reports the January Reader's Digest. Today 46 states, aided by the federal government, offer the small woodland owner free technical advice and assistance in forest management. The United States Forest Service estimates that there are about 48 million acres in need of replanting — and much of this land is good for nothing but trees.
